EMPEROR PAYS VISIT TO POPE

William of Germany, in Magnificent Pomp, Received at Vatican.

PRINCES ATTEND HIM

With Cardinals Rampolla, Gotti and Agliardi He Dines At Prussian Embassy.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

Rome, May 3.—Emperor William was received by the pope today. He had a conference with the pontiff of 40 minutes' duration and then returned to the residence of the Prussian minister to the holy see.

The day was bright, and as the emperor and his suite traversed the streets of Rome he was enthusiastically acclaimed. His majesty presented Prince Frederick William and Prince Eitel to the pontiff. At the vatican the emperor was received with military honors by the Palatine guard and a platoon of gendarmes, and he was welcomed by the high dignitaries of the pontifical court.

The visit of Emperor William was returned by Cardinal Rampolla, papal secretary of state, at the Prussian legation.

Emperor William arose early this morning and was greeted by the bright and sunny weather, in contrast to the clouds of yesterday.

His majesty held a long conference with Chancellor von Buelow. He looked over the dispatches concerning the situation in Macedonia, expressed his views thereon and gave instructions to be sent to Berlin and Constantinople.

At 9:30 o'clock the emperor and the princes, accompanied by the imperial suite and escorted by cuirassiers, drove to the Cafferelli palace, the residence of the German ambassador. The palace is on top of the capitol hill and commands a view of the whole of Rome. On his way to the residence of the ambassador Emperor William was cheered most heartily.

Outside the embassy his majesty was met by the German residents of Rome, among whom were the pupils of the German schools, who brought flowers to the emperor. These his majesty graciously accepted, saluting at the enthusiastic "hoch" of his subjects.

At 10 o'clock, surrounded by the personnel of the German embassy and of the Prussian legation to the holy see, his majesty attended divine service. Prominent members of the German colony were admitted to the place of worship.

INSPECTED THE THRONE ROOM.

Throughout the service the emperor remained standing by the gilded throne which had been prepared purposely for him. Among the musical pieces rendered at the service was a Dutch hymn of the sixteenth century. This hymn was popular in Holland during the war with Spain. It is a great favorite of his majesty, and it was given today at his especial request.

After the congregation had departed Emperor William and Count von Buelow remained behind to visit the magnificent throne room of the Caffarelli palace. The windows of the throne room were closed and the electric lights were turned on in order to permit his majesty better to see the gorgeous frescoes of the room, which represent allegorical German events.

After this inspection his majesty, clad in the blue uniform of a general of the guards, drove to the Odescalchi palace, the official residence of the Prussian minister to the holy see. Here his majesty had luncheon with Cardinals Rampolla, Gotti and Agliardi. This legation lunch is quite an unusual occurrence. Cardinal Rampolla is called the vice pope, as he now conducts the entire machinery of the church; Cardinal Gotti is prefect of the congregation of the propaganda, and Cardinal Agliardi is the most liberal and prominent member of the sacred college.

WORE FULL REGALIA.

Rome seldom sees cardinals driving through the streets and being received in state, and the people were much interested in the arrival of Cardinals Rampolla, Gotti and Agliardi. They wore their full cardinal robes of scarlet moire and red hats. Each was followed by his own

CLEVELAND, O., May 3.—Nearly 50 policemen were required to keep back the crowds that visited the scene of yesterday's terrible explosion at the Thor Manufacturing Company. The explosion is one of the most disastrous that ever occurred in the city. Nearly all the houses in the immediate vicinity are vacant because of their greatly damaged condition, and those still further away will require material rebuilding. The Cohen family of No. 630 Orange street is the hardest hit of those killed and injured, it being cut in two, three of its members having been killed. The mother and two sons were the victims. In all the houses within a radius of a quarter of a mile new window glass is required in many houses. A number of those who were taken to hospitals were sufficiently recovered today to be able to go home; others must remain longer, however. No more deaths are expected.

ANGRY WIVES COMPEL MEN TO RETREAT

POLICE BRING PEACE

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

Joliet, Ill., May 3.—A pitched battle, in which prayer books and broken furniture were the missiles, took place in the Slavonic Roman Catholic church here today, and when the police arrived to quell the disturbance the belligerents turned from each other and united their forces against the officers.

The fight, which grew out of old factional differences, resulted in no serious bodily harm to any of the 2,000 men, women and children who were in the church when it began, but the panic among the affrighted women and children was the cause of severe bruises. Bloody and lacerated faces and hands were evidence of the fierceness of the contest, and the protests of Father Kellar and others did not restore peace.

The men had been penned in by a mob of angry women, who pelted the stronger sex with whatever they could lay their hands on. The men fled or jumped from the windows, and when the police arrived they returned to the assistance of the women.

It was not until the police had drawn their revolvers and threatened to use them that peace was restored and arrests were made.

CLEVELAND HAPPY OVER RECEPTION

IN RECEPTIVE MOOD

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

Princeton, N. J., May 3.—Former President Grover Cleveland reached his home this evening somewhat fatigued by his journey from St. Louis but highly pleased with the demonstrative welcome accorded him in the west. After he had dined he received a reporter for The Gazette in the reception room of the comfortable old-fashioned house in which he is living happily here.

In the course of the pleasant conversation which followed, Mr. Cleveland was given half a dozen opportunities to declare his attitude toward the presidential nomination of 1904, but he skillfully parried all questions bearing directly upon his own political future or that of his party.

If he regards himself as permanently out of the field of available presidential candidates he studiously refrained from saying so or even from hinting that he prefers the classic retirement of his Princeton home to a re-entrance into the activities of public life.

If one judges by the expansive smile with which Mr. Cleveland greeted the Gazette reporter's frank reference to the words of former Senator Smith of New Jersey and Norman Mack of Buffalo as fairly placing him in the field as the hope of the new Democracy, then it is a fair inference that Mr. Cleveland regards himself—to use the time worn phrase of politicians—as in the hands of his friends.

Mr. Cleveland spoke with sincere warmth of the magnitude of the St. Louis exposition that is to be and of the hearty spontaneity of the ovation tendered him there last Thursday.

FRICK JOINS POOL TO BUY COAL LANDS

INDIANS TO BENEFIT

South McAlester, I. T., May 3.—H. C. Frick of Pittsburgh, John W. Gates of Chicago and George Gould of New York have formed a pool for securing control of the coal lands in the Choctaw nation. The survey recently completed by Col. Taft of the geological survey shows that there are 440,000 acres of this coal land, and the pool has agreed to pay $25 an acre for the entire area.

At present all the coal mines in the nation are being worked under lease, but now that the allotment is to be completed, Secretary Hitchcock has decided it will be to the interest of the Indians to sell the lands outright rather than to continue the lease system under individual ownership, which would mean that the Indians would receive little benefit from the coal area. The lands, therefore, have been segregated and are to be sold at auction within a few months. In order to insure that there shall be no opposition to its plans the pool has arranged with the companies now mining under leases to permit them to buy the lands they have leased. If any companies are not in position to buy their lands the pool will buy them and continue the leases at the present royalty of 8 cents a ton.

The pool is not to buy the lands in common, but will divide them up. Frick taking the lands along the Ft. Smith & Western road, Gates a tract in the eastern part of the nation which bears good cooking coal, and Gould is to get the land around South McAlester. Representatives of these men have been in the nation for weeks looking the lands over.

Frick predicts that within a few years the entire western country will be dependent on the Choctaw nation for coal, and he wants to be in on the ground floor.

COUNCILMEN ARE AFRAID OF THE CROWD

EXTRA MEN DETAILED

Fearful of unfriendly demonstrations and possible violence on the part of the large crowd expected to gather at the City hall tonight to witness the proceedings in the technical school fight, the Bigelow councilmen have appealed to Supt. John P. McTighe for police protection.

Supt. McTighe stated last night that he would send an extra force of men to the City hall tonight to preserve order and to meet any emergency that may arise. Supt. McTighe likely will send 12 or 15 men in uniforms and citizens' clothes, and several detectives probably will be detailed to the scene.

Bigelow members assert that Councilman J. C. Wasson of the Twentieth ward is the cause of their fears. Mr. Wasson has made an appeal to the public to go to the meeting tonight and to take possession of the council chamber if the councilmen refuse to do their duty.

From all indications a large crowd will respond to Councilman Wasson's invitation and will march on city hall tonight to give vent to their approval or disapproval of the actions of their representatives. Councilman Wasson stated last night that a large number of people would be present from the East End.

The fear that the spectators might make some demonstration if they voted for the condemnation ordinance made some of the members nervous. It is customary to send two policemen to council meetings. They are supposed to act as sergeants-at-arms, but their presence is seldom needed. The extra force will be distributed tonight in the corridors to prevent any disorder and to clear the city hall after the lobby of the council chamber is filled.

Detroit Excursionists Crowd Across Track at Approach of Engine and Get in Front of Pan American Flyer.

SEVEN ARE KILLED; SCORES HURT

Bodies of Victims Are Strewn Along Track for Two Squares, and Police With Lanterns Search for Dead and Dying.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

Detroit, May 3.—A day of merry-making and celebrating by 1,500 Polish excursionists from Toledo was brought to a close by a frightful catastrophe at the corner of Canfield and Dequindre streets at 8:30 o'clock this evening, in which at least seven excursionists were killed and a score injured.

While more than 1,000 people were swarming on the railroad tracks to take a Lake Shore train back to Toledo the Pan-American flyer on the Grand Trunk plowed through the mass of humanity, hurling them in maimed heaps on both sides of the track.

THE DEAD.

MRS. HELEN PALICKI, 45 Bronson street, Toledo.

FRANK ROSINSKI, 1435 Vance street, Toledo.

WATSON LUDWICK, 208 Henry street, Toledo.

The excursion was given by the Polish citizens of Toledo over the Lake Shore road. The excursionists left the train at the corner of Canfield and De Quindre streets this morning and were met by a number of local Poles and Polish societies who escorted the visitors to St. Joseph's church. An entertainment was held later at Harmonie hall.

"About 8 o'clock the visitors began to gather again at the corner of Canfield and De Quindre streets, to take the train back to Toledo. Both the Lake Shore and Grand Trunk trains run out from the Brush Street station to De Quindre street. Four policemen stood at the corner of Canfield and endeavored to

LONDON STARTLED BY TALE OF KING'S ASSASSINATION

British Monarch Mingles in Churchgoing Throng in French Capital and Participates in Social Functions.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

London, May 3.—A rumor that King Edward had been assassinated gained circulation here. It caused a feeling of uneasiness until it was ascertained that the report was absolutely unfounded and that the Sunday program of the royal visit was being carried out in Paris without a hitch.

The rumor that King Edward had been assassinated caused great alarm in London official and court circles. Anxious inquiries concerning the truth of the report were made and from Buckingham palace telegrams were immediately sent to Paris. The replies that there was no truth in the rumor brought intense relief to all classes of society.

PARIS, May 3.—The picturesque features of King Edward's visit to Paris are practically over. The incidents of today were comparatively quiet, but they were still expressive of the renewal of Anglo-French good will.

This morning the king took a short stroll on his way to church. He seemed to enjoy mingling in the throng of churchgoers. He walked briskly with Sir Edmund J. Monson, the British ambassador. Crowds of people gathered at the British embassy and along the thoroughfares where he passed and gave mild demonstrations of good will.

At noon today Foreign Minister Delcasse gave a breakfast at the foreign office to his majesty. Among the hundred guests present were many notable figures in official and diplomatic life as well as persons famous in the salons. At King Edward's right hand sat Madame Delcasse and at his left was seated M. Fallieres, president of the senate. Opposite the king sat M. Delcasse, the papal nuncio and Count von Wolkenstein, the Austrian ambassador, who is dean of the diplomatic corps. Admiral Cotton, U. S. N., Commander Harber, the naval attache at the American embassy, and Lieut. Charles L. Hussey of the U. S. S. Chicago, were present in recognition of the courtesies extended President Loubet by the American squadron at Marseilles. Ambassador Porter was unable to attend the breakfast on account of the recent death of his wife. The breakfast gave occasion for other expressions of the firmer friendship between France and Great Britain which the visit of King Edward has brought out.

This afternoon King Edward planted a chestnut tree in the garden of the British embassy in commemoration of his visit and received the orphaned pensioners of the British institution, the corner stone of which he laid when he was prince of Wales.

Tonight a gala dinner was given at the British embassy to President Loubet. This was followed by a concert by the leading artists of the opera.

King Edward continues to manifest satisfaction with the cordiality of his reception here. A member of his entourage said that the king personally was not aware of a single unfriendly demonstration.

The decoration of a number of French officials by King Edward is announced. The members of the king's party have received the decoration of the order of the Legion of Honor.

CARNEGIE WOULD NOT TALK BUSINESS UPON THE HOLY SABBATH DAY

(Copyright, 1903, by New York Herald Co.)

London, May 3.—J. Pierpont Morgan and Andrew Carnegie arrived in London today, having landed in Liverpool this morning. The latter was accompanied by Mrs. and Miss Carnegie.

Mr. Morgan, who looked in the best of health and full of vitality, was so unusual in such a tremendous hurry that he did not have time to reply to any questions put to him by newspapermen.

"I have nothing whatever to say," was his answer when asked regarding the financial outlook in America.

Mr. Carnegie, who looked quite ill, said he was too tired to talk and asked to be excused. When his opinion on the industrial outlook in the United States was requested he said:

"I am not going to talk business on the holy Sabbath," he remarked, "but I think the Irish land bill one of the best things the present government has done."

Mr. Carnegie proposes returning to America in the autumn.

DANISH RAILROADERS THREATEN STRIKE

COPENHAGEN, DENMARK, May 3.—There is a prospect of a serious strike on part of the employes of the state railroads. For several years past these employes have been agitating for an increase in pay. There is now a bill before the rigsdag which revises the scale of pay, but, in the case of two-thirds of the employes this bill practically reduces salaries. The president of the employes' union says that if the bill is adopted a general strike will be called.

CLARKSBURG, W. VA., May 3.—(Special.)—The Gem grain mill caught fire from incendiary origin Sunday morning and was totally destroyed. The loss is $20,000.

PRESIDENT SHARES HYMN BOOK AT CHURCH WITH TWO LITTLE GIRLS

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

Sharon Springs, Kan., May 3.—President Roosevelt attended the little Methodist church at this place today and listened to a most instructive sermon by a Presbyterian minister, the Rev. William Carter of Kansas City, who came here for that purpose. A number of pastors from this neighborhood also participated.

A pleasing incident occurred as the services began. Two little girls were standing in the aisle near the president's pew. As soon as the president saw them he drew them into his pew and during the singing the three shared the same hymn book.

At the conclusion of the services, the president shook hands with a large number of people. In the afternoon he went for a long horseback ride, accompanied by Senators Burton and Long and President Butler of Columbia college.

Senator Warren of Wyoming, and Civil Service Commissioner Foulke joined the president here.

There are many strangers here who came to see the president, some of them riding 50 miles.

At Sharon Springs admirers of the president presented to him a two-weeks old badger. The little animal is as friendly as can be and will be taken to Washington to join the growing menagerie of the Roosevelt children.

SECOND BRIGADE COLONELS TO MEET

FRANKLIN, PA., May 3.—(Special.)—Gen. Wiley has issued an order from brigade headquarters requesting all of the colonels in his brigade to meet with him on Monday at Somerset and go from there to Erie, to inspect the sites offered at these points for the encampment of the Second brigade this year.

DR. M'EWAN PREACHES TO PRINCETON MEN

PRINCETON, N. J., May 3.—The 31st annual commencement of the Theological seminary began today with services in Miller chapel. The Rev. William L. McEwan, D. D., of the third Presbyterian church, Pittsburgh, preached the annual baccalaureate sermon.

Railroad Man Kills Himself.

ALTOONA, PA., May 3.—(Special.)—William Carothers, a Pennsylvania railroad lineman, committed suicide at Bellwood, near this city, this morning by blowing out his brains with a rifle at his home. Carothers had been sitting in the house reading a paper, and about 8 o'clock put down the paper, went up stairs, and getting his rifle, put the muzzle under his chin and discharged the weapon. He leaves a wife and six children.

STRIKE IS CAUSE OF RECEIVERSHIP

TOM L. JOHNSON ACTS

ALLENTOWN, May 3.—A bill in equity has been filed in the United States circuit court of Philadelphia by Tom L. Johnson, executor of Albert L. Johnson, deceased; Alexis I. Dupont of Delaware and John B. Hoefgen of New York, as creditors of the Lehigh Valley Traction Company, asking the court for the appointment of receivers. The application will probably be heard in the United States court at Philadelphia on Wednesday.

Among other things the petition sets forth that the company suffered severely last year from floods, fire and coal strikes; that under ordinary circumstances the receipts will be sufficient to meet all current expenses and fixed charges as well as to provide a basis for funding the floating debt; that some of the creditors are now pressing for immediate payment of their claims; that suits are threatened which will interfere with the operation of the road; and that in order to prevent the seizure of the property in such suits, and to hold and protect it, a receivership is necessary.

Robert E. Wright, president of the company, made the following statement: "The filing of a petition in the United States court for the appointment of receivers for the Lehigh Valley Traction Company was a great surprise to me—it was filed without any consultation with me and without my knowledge by the Hon. Tom L. Johnson, representing some of the principal unsecured creditors of the company, joined by a few other creditors. I heard of it only last night from Mr. Johnson when he reached Allentown.

"My personal opinion was that no such proceeding was necessary, and that the plans for the rehabilitation of the company would have been carried out without resort to a receivership. Mr. Johnson thought differently, and that a receivership had better be resorted to for the protection of the company from possible attack by some impatient creditor. Perhaps he was right. I don't desire to controvert the wisdom of this course, as there was ample room for difference of opinion on a mere question of the manner of reaching the same end, namely a reorganization of the company on a basis looking first for security to all creditors and next to the interests of stockholders.

"The administration of the receivership in my judgment should be a short one, and as satisfactory reorganization by stockholders and creditors should be brought about in a few months. There is no reason why any creditor of the company should lose a dollar. The property is very valuable, in good physical condition and can easily earn the interest on all its indebtedness. The chapter of disasters that came upon the company last year—floods, fire, coal famine—involving the loss of $2,500,000, could hardly recur in a single year in a lifetime.

"The gross receipts of the Lehigh Valley Traction Company, excluding the Philadelphia line, in the past three months are 23 per cent greater than in the best corresponding three months in the road's history, while the same months on the Philadelphia line shows an increase over last year of over 100 per cent, with, of course, some increased mileage on the latter line. This indicates a total increase of receipts this year over last of not less than $250,000. On the other hand, the expense of operation will be very much less than last year.

"Perhaps, on the whole, the receivership will prove to be a wise move, as it will at least insure the steady operation of the road and the formulation of reorganization plans uninterrupted by pressing creditors. It is fair to say, however, that the great body of creditors understood the situation and were patient under it."

SCENE OF BRITISH COLUMBIA DISASTER

TACOMA, WASH., May 3.—(Special.)—British Columbia mine operators who are interested in fields adjacent to Crows Nest Pass are not surprised at the sliding of Turtle mountain, carrying disaster to the town of Frank. They have looked for such an occurrence and predict that more mountain slides will come down in the same region, probably on other towns, as soon as a sufficient amount of coal has been taken out to loosen the foundations on which the hills rest. G. T. Goss, who has coal property near Nelson, B. C., says the mountains where the coal is found are different in formation from any mountains he has ever seen. In the Crows Nest section there are places in the heart of the mountains where the coal lies that are hollow.

The formation of the upper part of the mountain is mostly of coal or lime. Either of them slacking, from contact with air, will cause heavy falls and the weakening of supports. Mr. Goss thinks some mining towns will have to be moved back to prevent a repetition of the Frank disaster.

escort were mounted on white horses and wore horsehair tassels in their helmets, as did the ancient legionaries of Rome. The Corso is always gay on Sunday, and it was more animated than ever when the imperial cortege appeared. The people welcomed the German emperor with a roar that could be heard for blocks, and his majesty acknowledged the salutation with smiling amiability.

The luncheon lasted an hour. Among the ecclesiastics present were Monsignor Delli Chiesa, Monsignor Cagliano Azevede, the pope's major domo, and Monsuite. At the legation they were met by the staff attendants, who wore knee breeches and whose hair was powdered.

The trumpets of the cuirassiers announced the coming of the emperor. His signor Bisleti, master of the chamber. The room was decorated with flowers and palms, silver plate and old Meisen china. The table decorations consisted of silver bowls filled with pink roses and maiden hair fern.

START FOR THE VATICAN.

Emperor William was most affable, especially to the three cardinals. He especially recalled his three visits to the vatican and spoke of his pleasant recollections of the pontiff. In speaking to Cardinal Agliardi he recalled the fact that in 1888 he had lunched with him while he was still a monsigner.

The sun was shining brightly when Emperor William left the legation to drive to the vatican. Fifteen carriages were required for the use of his majesty and his suite. The horses, carriages and servants were all brought from Berlin, as the emperor was determined to give his visit to the pope especial official importance.

Yesterday the imperial coachmen held a dress rehearsal of today's drive to the vatican, much to the delight of the small boys of Rome. Today when his majesty left the legation the balcony of the Doria palace, opposite the Odelschi palace, was filled with members of the diplomatic corps who had gathered to witness the spectacle. Among those present were the count of Turin, cousin of the king of Italy; Ambassador and Mrs. Meyer, Sir Francis Bertie, the British ambassador, and Prince Colonna.

When his majesty appeared he was greeted with frantic applause; he looked up to the balcony opposite and smiled. He was in full uniform and accompanied by Prince Frederick William and Prince Eitel. The imperial carriage was attended by the imperial outriders and postillions. The long cortege was preceded by the German cuirassiers on their white horses. They are magnificent, big men, and as they rode down the streets they made almost as great a sensation as did the emperor himself. The cordon along the thoroughfare was formed of Italian soldiers.

CHEERED BY "LITTLE CARDINALS."

Emperor William has always declared that he enjoys going to the vatican from an artistic and spectacular point of view. The moment he arrived at the Piazz of St. Peter he was alert and animated, pointing out objects of interest to his sons. In fact the spectacular part of the visit began there as the great square, densely crowded, was most imposing. As his majesty passed, the students of the German ecclesiastical college called "Little Cardinals" because of their red gloves, raised a formidable "hoch," "hoch." On the far side of the plaza there were assembled 1,000 pilgrims from Cologne, carrying flags and bouquets of flowers. They received their emperor with tremendous applause, presented the flowers to him and made impressive demonstrations of loyalty.

Picked Swiss guards assumed the duty of guarding the imperial carriage at the entrance to the vatican. Passing the Borgia tower, his majesty and his suite entered the famous court of San Damaso. Here the emperor and his sons were received with military honors by the palatine guards and a platoon of gendarmes while the papal colors, yellow, and white floated in the light breeze. The entrance of his majesty was accompanied by a resounding drum tattoo. The imperial carriage stopped at the noble staircase where Monsigner Cagnaco de Azevdo, the major domo, helped the emperor to ascend.

He presented the German papal chamberlains, Count Pecci, nephew of the pope; Prince Rospiglio, commandant of the noble guard and other high dignitaries of the pontifical court.

When asked if he desired to use the elevator, the emperor replied that he preferred to mount the stairs. At the first landing his majesty was met by the famous servants of the ante chamber in rich red brocade, flanked by members of the Swiss guard in breast-plates and helmets with red plumes, the new uniform inaugurated at the jubilee. The young princes were especially struck with the uniforms of the Noble Guard. Upon arriving at the Salle Clementina his majesty was received by the major domo and other personages of the private ante chamber. Before reaching the ante chamber his majesty received homage from a group of seven German bishops who are now in Rome.

When Pope Leo was advised of the arrival of his guest the door was thrown open and the pontiff appeared. He was dressed in white, with the exception of a small cape of red velvet trimmed with ermine. The emperor advanced alone, making a profound bow. The pontiff inquired in French as to the emperor's health. Emperor William then presented his two sons. His majesty and the pontiff then retired to the latter's private study. The audience lasted 40 minutes. At the end of this time the princes were summoned and spoke to the pontiff.

EMPEROR CHANGES HIS CUSTOM.

The imperial party then paid a brief visit to Cardinal Rampolla.

Upon his three previous visits to the vatican Emperor William returned direct to the quirinal. This was not liked by the vatican, as it was thought he should first return to neutral ground. It was appreciated, however, by the quirinal, as to do so is considered somewhat of a slight upon the pope. King Edward followed this course. Today Emperor William returned from the vatican to the Prussian legation, accredited to the holy see, where he changed carriages, his cuirassiers remaining at the legation. This course is supposed to imply that his majesty wished to pay particular deference to the feelings of the vatican.

There was another new departure during this visit of the emperor. Previously Cardinal Rampolla had returned the imperial visit to the vatican at the Prussian legation, and had found only the Prussian minister. Today, however, Emperor William waited at the legation and received the cardinal most cordially, and had a long conference with him.

Emperor William presented to the pope a large photograph of the Metz cathedral. The pope expressed his thanks for this gift and remarked that the Metz cathedral greatly resembled that at Reims. Emperor William was surprised at the quickness of the pontiff in remarking that the one cathedral was a reproduction of the other.

The vatican is delighted at the importance given by Emperor William to his visit to the pope and the authorities consider this visit an answer to what they call the present persecution of the church in France.

Pope Leo speaks highly of Emperor William and has several times said that his conversation with the German emperor was very interesting. During the interview Emperor William brought up the subject of biblical studies and historical works. The pope remarked that he had opened the vatican library to German scholars, because, he said, "science is what unites Rome and Germany in brotherly relationship."

The conversation then turned to the work of German missionaries, who number about 1,200 in addition to 300 nuns. Emperor William said these missionaries would always find the protection of their country wherever they might wander, and the pontiff declared that the work of missionaries increased the influence and prestige of Germany.

A state dinner was given tonight at the quirinal. There were present 100 guests from among the most prominent people of Rome. The ball room was used as a dining room. The tables were in a semi-circle and exquisitely decorated with flowers.

KINGS TOAST EACH OTHER.

When King Victor Emmanuel arose to propose his toast the band played the German anthem and when Emperor William delivered his felicitation the Italian royal march was played, all the guests standing meanwhile.

A gala performance was given at the theater tonight. The audience was a brilliant one. Emperor William received an ovation from the crowd on his way to the theater. The royal party was met in the foyer by Prince Colonna and the mayor of Rome, who welcomed the emperor in the name of the city. Upon the entrance of the royal personages the entire house rose to the strains of the German anthem and cries of "hoch" and "viva." Emperor William sat between King Victor Emmanuel and Queen Helena, the German and the Italian princes behind them. Queen Helena spoke often and with animation to Emperor William, who seemed to have a word to say to everybody.

Its Illustrations Make Sunday Gazette famous

That The Sunday Gazette is one of the best-printed Sunday newspapers in the country is a fact undisputed. More than this, the letter text and the illustrations of The Sunday Gazette are of the highest standard, its news features and special articles leading all its local contemporaries and giving it a first place among the great metropolitan journals of the world.

Splendid illustrations in half-tone engravings and in color made yesterday's issue of The Sunday Gazette a distinctive pictorial number. Across the front page was an 18-inch panorama snapshot photograph of the busy afternoon throngs passing Fifth avenue and Wood street made by Emil Klose, staff photographer of The Gazette. This is the largest instantaneous photograph ever reproduced in a Pittsburgh newspaper, and marks an epoch in the triumph of the camera in journalistic work.

The full page drawings of Edwin P. Polster were especial objects of admiration in the colored pages. Henning's Mother Goose pictures showed all the funny people in the rhyme of Jack Sprat. Payne's Coon Hollow folks had a new and exciting venture.

The magazine sections of The Sunday Gazette were filled with special articles of perennial interest. A story by James Whitcomb Riley, Edith Melbank's account of the growing fad for canoeing among women, Mrs. Janey Coard Smith's article on women's automobiling and a host of similar articles won a warm place for the magazine in the hearts of women readers. The regular departments, including its correspondence and news columns, teemed with bright, breezy reading.

PASSENGER TRAIN RAN INTO OPEN SWITCH

A wreck which might have been serious occurred on the Pennsylvania railroad shortly after 5 o'clock last evening. Train No. 18, one of the fast mail trains east bound, ran into a siding at the east end of the Pitcairn yards, crashing into a shifting engine and derailing both engines and an empty postal car. The two engines and the car were thrown across tracks Nos 3 and 4, obstructing them for several hours. Engineer Thomas Masterson and Fireman Bauers, both on the passenger train, jumped to save themselves, but sustained several cuts and bruises.

The train was going nearly 40 miles an hour when the engineer saw that the switchman had turned the wrong switch. He applied the safety brakes, but it was impossible to stop in time to prevent the collision. The shifting engine, No. 2199, was standing in the siding waiting for the passenger train to pass, and when the mail train whirled around the curve the crew paid no attention to it, until the engineer blew the danger whistle. They then hurried to a place of safety. The engine was turned half way round and the postal car was smashed beyond repair. Few passengers ride on this train, and none was injured, although they were given a good shaking up.

This being the fourth Sunday on which freight trains do not run, the freight tracks were used for passenger service while the wreckage was being cleared away.

FOUR HOUSES RAIDED BY PITTSBURGH POLICE

Thirty-Four Men Captured in a Gambling Place—Opium Joint Visited.

Several houses were raided by the Pittsburgh police early yesterday morning. Thirty-four men, charged with being visitors to a gambling house, were given hearings. Eight were discharged and the rest had to pay $5 and costs or serve 10 days in jail. The raid was made about 3 a. m. at a house at Penn avenue and Main street. It is not known who the proprietor is, as all the men captured denied being anything but visitors.

Arthur Allen and Charles Perry, negroes, were fined $50 and costs each for keeping an opium joint at No. 134 Fulton street. Two women found there were fined $25 and costs each and two men visitors were discharged.

Mary Lane was arrested on a charge of keeping a disorderly house at No. 14 Dante alley. Four men found in the house were also locked up.

PLAN TO HURRY BUSINESS.

Innovation for Railroaders' Convention—Elks Planning a Big Reception.

The Order of Railway Conductors of the United States, Canada and Mexico, when it meets in this city May 12 will limit the convention to one week, by a new plan of taking up the business. Heretofore all business was left unconsidered until the meetings opened. At the last gathering at St. Paul three committees were appointed to meet one week in advance of the convention this year and go over all the business and put it in such shape that it can be considered and acted upon quickly and intelligently by the delegates when they come together.

The Pittsburgh and Allegheny Elks are making great preparations for a reception for brother members who also belong to the Order of Railway Conductors. The Elks' reception will be held on Friday, May 15, and will be one of the features of the convention.

TALKED TOTAL ABSTINENCE.

Enthusiastic Meeting Held in St. Joseph's Church, Sharpsburg.

Pretty little St. Joseph's church at Sharpsburg was crowded last night at the meeting of the Diocesan Union of the Catholic Total Abstinence society. Father Rosensteel, pastor of the church, welcomed the delegates and urged his congregation to join the total abstinence ranks. An interesting feature was a brief address by Alexander MacBride of Lawrenceville. Mr. McBride is 70 years old.

In 1842 he took the pledge from Father Mathew in Ireland and he has kept it ever since.

Stephen Madden spoke on "Is Total Abstinence Good for the Workingman?" and P. R. Condron on "Total Abstinence From a Business Standpoint." The Rev. John G. Beane, President of the Diocesan union, made the closing address, talking about the lovers of drink and the beauties of a sober life.

TRAIN LEAVES GHASTLY TRAIL

keep the excursionists from crowding through the gates on the track. Despite their efforts, hundreds crawled under or over the gates and walked down the dark tracks to await the arrival of their train, which could be seen coming slowly up from the station.

Probably 1,000 persons were scattered along the tracks for two blocks, waiting to board the Lake Shore excursion train and secure seats. It was only a few blocks down the track creeping carefully along.

GROUND UNDER WHEELS.

Suddenly, from out of the darkness, came the Grand Trunk Chicago and New York express, known as the Fast American flyer. It plowed through the mass of people, throwing them to both sides of the track bruised and maimed, and grinding a number of them under the wheels.

Patrolman Fred T. Schultz, John Zynda, a prominent local Pole, and numbers of others who were at the crossing assert that the flyer's whistle was not blown, nor was the bell rung.

The flyer was stopped as quickly as possible and backed to the scene of the catastrophe, where for two blocks the track was covered with mangled and dying people. Four of the dead were killed outright by the train, and the others died after being taken to the hospitals.

The tracks are very dark below Canfield street, and lanterns had to be brought into use to find all the victims. A neighboring coal office, several neighboring houses and the gateman's shanty at the crossing were made temporary hospitals and the wounded were carried into them until the ambulances arrived. Every ambulance in the city was called to the scene, and the injured were very soon under the care of surgeons in the hospitals.

POLES CRY FOR VENGEANCE.

A cry for vengeance went up from the Poles as soon as they realized what slaughter the Grand Trunk train had done.

A rush was made down the track for the cab of the engine. The police had forestalled them, however, and an officer guarded each door of the cab.

PROMENADERS WARMED BY BURNING TIMBER

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

ATLANTIC CITY, May 3.—Forest fires may be dangerous and disastrous for those who own property with a lot of surrounding timber, but they have some good attached to them, as they certainly throw their heat a great distance. Today it threatened to be cold, but the warmth from the forest fires and the hot air from the hotel proprietors made the climate quite comfortable, and many guests paraded the boardwalk.

The officers of the horse show association met last night and re-elected their officers, who decided to offer the equine beauties over $10,000 in awards. This enormous prize list should entice the best horse owners in the country to Atlantic City. The horses, however, are, of course, a secondary consideration as far as a horse show goes. It is really a gown show at which they do not offer any premiums.

FOUR-LEGGED ACTORS ARRIVE.

Animals Have Green Room on Stage of the Empire Theater.

It was a strange troupe of actors that arrived at the Empire theater last night. All were stars and there was a great row as to which member of the aggregation should be given the green room. There were vocalists, gymnasts, "sightning charge artists," equilibrists, heavy comedians and long-haired exponents of tragedy. Since all could not have the star's dressing room, a compromise was effected by allowing them all to have cages on the stage, for they are four-legged thespians—members of Carl Hackenbeck's trained animal show.

The youngsters in the East End sat up until midnight to see the troupe arrive, and when 14 express wagons drove up to the stage entrance with the animals on board they were given a great reception. Ernest Tretow, keeper at the Highland park zoo, was in the crowd and greeted the animals in their familiar German tongues. All seemed to understand him, while they stood dumb to every word of flattery given in English.

HIGHWAYMAN OPENS FIRE THEN ASKS FOR MONEY

John Ryan of Washington, Pa., Probably Fatally Shot, Charles Ryan Injured.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, PA., May 3.—John M. Ryan, a bricklayer, is in a precarious condition of his home as a result of a bullet wound in his side inflicted by an unknown highwayman early this morning. The robber escaped.

Ryan and two companions were returning home along the Panhandle railroad when they were accosted by a stranger, who asked for a match. The three stopped, when the man suddenly drew a revolver and began shooting, at the same time demanding the money and valuables of the men.

Charles Ryan grappled with him, but the robber, releasing himself, turned his revolver upon John Ryan, who was coming to his brother's assistance, and sent a bullet into his side. He then turned quickly and struck Charles Ryan in the face with his weapon, knocking him to the ground unconscious. The highwayman then fled down the railroad tracks.

John Ryan was given medical attention and the police were notified, but they have but little clue, with the exception of the revolver, which the highwayman dropped in his flight.

MADMAN PREVENTS CHURCH SERVICES

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

LOCKPORT, N. Y., May 3.—The village of Pekin, near Ransomville, was terrorized this morning by a man who gave his name as Joseph King of Scranton, Pa. He ran through the streets armed with two coupling pins, threatening all whom he met. Women were thrown into hysterics and no man was found to stand before him. Overseer of the Poor Frank Williams tried to arrest him when he charged through a crowd of people on the way to church and dashed into the Methodist church door. He fortified himself in the church belfry and defied the men to come and take him.

Williams then advised Sheriff Reardon of the situation. Church could not be held on account of the madman and the sheriff was urged to send assistance. Deputies Spalding and Rickert drove rapidly for Pekin, arriving about 11 o'clock. The madman still held the church steeple. Deputy Spalding went up the tower steps and dragged his man down by one leg and disarmed him. The officer was narrowly missed by a coupling pin thrown at him.

Justice McCuen sent King to Lockport jail for ten days to determine whether he is insane or merely suffering from whisky.

JOHN H. WALLACE DEAD.

Former Prominent Horseman and Publisher Expired in New York.

WASHINGTON, PA., May 3.—(Special.)—Word was received at Washington today that John H. Wallace had died at New York yesterday of a complication of diseases, aged 81 years. The deceased was one of the most prominent horsemen in the United States, and for years, between 1875 and 1891, he published Wallace's Monthly, devoted to the interests of horsemen.

He was of Scotch-Irish ancestry and was born in Allegheny county, near the Monongahela river, in 1822. The family afterwards was located in the southern part of Allegheny county, near McDonald, and Wallace moved there, receiving his early education and growing to manhood there. Wallace moved to Iowa while a young man and became interested in the breeding of blooded horses. He was made secretary of the Iowa State Trotting association and was actively identified in Democratic politics in that state.

In the latter '80s he moved to New York, and in 1875 he established his magazine, from which he realized a fortune. In 1845 he was united in marriage to Miss Ellen J. Ewing, daughter of the Hon. Nathaniel Ewing of Uniontown, for many years a judge in Fayette county. She died in 1891 and in 1893 Wallace was again married, to Miss Ellen Wallace Veech, daughter of the Hon. James Veech of Pittsburgh.

Mr. Wallace was a philanthropist, being especially interested in the development of forensic or pulpit oratory in the colleges of the United States. At the centennial of Washington and Jefferson college last fall he set aside a large sum of money, the interest from which was to be devoted to the establishment of a chair of oratory in Washington and Jefferson college. In his will Wallace has made this institution his residuary legatee and as a result about $100,000 has been given to W. and J. for the permanent endowment of a chair in oratory and public speaking. He had no children.

FOUND CANFUL OF BURIED GOLD COIN

FULTON, IND., May 3.—(Special.)—Henry Cook and Ed. Gangwer, while excavating for a cellar under the old Ranells block, came upon a rusted tin can, which contained 138 50-cent gold pieces issued in California in 1848. As the coins are rare their value is far in excess of their face.

A CIRCUS IN TOWN.

Pawnee Bill's Wild West Show Will Give a Street Parade This Morning.

Pawnee Bill's wild west show will be exhibited in a free street parade in Pittsburgh and Allegheny this morning. The route is planned so as to take in the most desirable streets in both cities and was arranged by Sam Dawson, the former well-known Pittsburgh theatrical man, now connected with the show. The route of the parade follows:

At 9 a. m. leave River avenue, Allegheny; thence to Allegheny avenue; to Western avenue, to Ohio street, to Federal street, to North avenue, to Madison street, to Ohio street, to Federal street, to Robinson street, to Anderson street, across Ninth street bridge to Ninth and Liberty streets, to Wood street, to First avenue, to Smithfield street, to Fifth avenue, to Market street, to Sixth street, across Sixth street bridge, to Federal street, to Robinson street, to River avenue, back to Exposition park.

Dawson, in company with three full-blood Sioux Indians connected with the show, made a tour of Pittsburgh yesterday. The braves were at once mystified and delighted with the strange sights they saw—the tall buildings, the automobiles and the electric cars. In the party was Iron Shell, a 70-year-old Indian, a Sioux chief. This is his first visit this far east since a few years after the civil war, when he visited Washington to arrange for settlement of land for the Sioux Indians during Gen. Grant's first term as president.

TO BOOM ANNEXATION.

Non-Property Holders in Wilkinsburg May Organize for Greater Pittsburgh.

Dissatisfied with the burden of occupation tax which they have been compelled to pay, the non-property holders of Wilkinsburg will probably organize this week for the purpose of securing annexation to Pittsburgh under the provisions of the Greater Pittsburgh bill. There is in existence in the borough a committee on annexation, and, according to well-founded reports, there will be a meeting of the committee this week to prepare a call to the citizens for organization.

The annexation question is the most discussed topic in Wilkinsburg these days and some definite action is certain to be taken soon. The plan at present is said to be to effect an organization to present the non-property holders' grievances before council when that body meets on May 11. The tax levy for the present fiscal year has not been made by council, but it is expected that it will determine on the millage at the next meeting. The non-property holders demand that the occupation tax, which now averages from $2 22 to $10 per year, be either abolished altogether or reduced to almost nothing. If this is not done the citizens say they will continue their move for annexation, and they appear confident of accomplishing it.

WESTINGHOUSE'S REACH.

South African Dignitary Advertises for Objectors to Patents Asked.

Two advertisements in The Gazette today tell of George Westinghouse's application for patents on steam turbines and on improvements in spring and frictional resistance devices. It is nothing for Mr. Westinghouse to take out patents in Orange River colony or anywhere else in the civilized world, but the advertisements are interesting nevertheless. They are inserted by H. F. Blaine, attorney general of Orange River colony.

Mr. Blaine tells in legal phraseology that George Westinghouse, "by occupation a manufacturer, of the Westinghouse building, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, United States of America," deposited at Blaine's office an application for a patent right on the things mentioned. It is supposed here that Westinghouse has already taken out the patents in this country and that he intends to protect them in Orange River colony. It is a long voyage and journey to Bloemfontein, and therefore Blaine gives possible objectors to the patents until August 4 to send him their objections.

Mother, Father and Son Slain.

ENNIS, TEX., May 3.—News reached here today of a triple tragedy this morning at Bristol, an inland town ten miles north of Ennis. Mrs. Hamberger and her son were found dead, both having been chopped to pieces with an axe. The husband and father, W. C. Hamberger, was subsequently found on his farm four miles north of Bristol, his brains blown out with a shotgun.

GUARDSMEN FROM ALL STATES GATHERING

Pennsylvania Delegation Went to Columbus to Attend the Convention.

A three days' convention of the Interstate National Guards will be held in Columbus, commencing today. A delegation from each state in the Union will be present and discuss matters pertaining to the several state militias. The principal subject that will be deliberated upon at the convention will be the provisions of the Dick law, which was passed at the last session of congress. This bill virtually makes the state militia part of the United States army. Inasmuch as the president is given power to compel the members of the state militia to serve nine months in the service of the regular army should they be needed. The state militia members appreciate the passage of the bill. It means the government will provide them with equipment and ranks them equal to the regular army. Many other subjects will be considered.

The Dick bill stipulates that officers of the regular army must inspect the various state militia. Capt. M. M. Stewart of the Eighth United States infantry has been detailed to inspect the Second brigade, and will fill that duty on May 18.

CHURCH DEDICATED.

Handsome New Methodist Episcopal Edifice at Crafton Now Ready.

The handsome edifice of the new Methodist Episcopal church at West Pittsburgh was dedicated at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The dedicatory sermon was delivered by the Rev. C. V. Wilson, D. D., pastor of the Amos Methodist Episcopal church, Hazelwood. In the evening the address was made by the Rev. Arthur Staples, president of Beaver college. The music, which was in charge of Mr. Sloan of Crafton terrace, was in accordance with the dedicatory services, and was rendered by the local choir.

Many prominent Methodist ministers were present, among them being the presiding elder of the Pittsburgh district, the Rev. T. N. Boyle, D. D. The church was crowded at both services, and a large sum was contributed. The congregation was organized about a year ago by the Rev. Charles T. Murdock, and a contribution of $2,000 from the Pittsburgh Methodist Episcopal Church union gave the impetus toward the erection of a suitable building for worship, which was begun last August. The cost of the present structure is about $8,000, which was almost paid at the dedication.

CHAPTER CELEBRATED.

The chapter of the Trinity Reformed church, Wilkinsburg, of the Brotherhood of Andrew and Philip, last night celebrated the seventh anniversary of the organization of the chapter and the fifteenth anniversary of the organization of the brotherhood. Almost every member of the chapter was present, and they were well entertained by prominent speakers. The principal address of the evening was made by John A. Keys. He was followed by R. K. C. Covell, Esq.

The pastor, Rev. Ernest R. Leinbach, and several members of the chapter made speeches. A special musical program was rendered. Trinity chapter is one of the strongest in Pennsylvania, and ever since its organization has been prominent in the work of the brotherhood. The Rev. Mr. Leinbach is an enthusiastic member of the brotherhood, and much of the success it has attained is due to his efforts.

Eruptions

Dry, moist, scaly tetter, all forms of eczema or salt rheum, pimples and other cutaneous eruptions proceed from humors, either inherited, or acquired through defective digestion and assimilation.

The thing to do is to help the system discharge the humors, and strengthen it against their return.

Hood's Sarsaparilla permanently cured J. G. Hines, Franks, Ill., of eczema, from which he had suffered for some time; and Miss Alvina Wolter, Box 322, Algona, Wis., of pimples on her face and back and dusted skin on her body, by which she had been greatly troubled. There are more testimonials in favor of this great medicine than can be published.

RED HOT FIGHT TONIGHT

Flinn-Magee Site Could Not Be Acquired by Force Before October, 1905--Only Property Contiguous to Schenley to Be Had.

With the aid of public sentiment, of the chamber of commerce and prominent citizens, and a written opinion from the city solicitor, together with votes gained from the old organization, the advocates of the purchase of the Flinn-Magee site for the technical school expect to achieve a triumph in common council tonight and put to rout the supporters of Director E. M. Bigelow's scheme to acquire the property by condemnation proceedings.

Director Bigelow is sparing no effort to win. He is in the fight so deep that he cannot afford to withdraw at this stage and admit himself beaten. Therefore, a bitter fight is scheduled to take place. The prospects of the purchase ordinance being reconsidered and passed on second reading are good, but the necessary two-thirds vote to pass the purchase ordinance finally by a suspension of the rules is lacking.

City Solicitor W. B. Rodgers stated yesterday that he would have a written opinion on the advisability of condemnation proceedings ready to present to common council tonight. Mr. Rodgers is counted upon as opposing condemnation proceedings, and his opinion tonight is expected to advise strongly against such a move owing to the long delay which it would involve by litigation in the courts.

The meeting this afternoon by the chamber of commerce is also expected to have some weight with councils. A number of addresses will be made by Prof. John A. Brashear, Capt. L. T. Woods and other prominent citizens.

A surprising amount of interest in the fight over the technical school has been aroused within the past week. The extent of this interest will probably be shown by an unusually large attendance at the council proceedings tonight.

Councilman J. C. Wasson of the Twentieth ward has asked that every person who has an interest in the technical school go to city hall tonight and demand prompt action by their representatives in councils. Mr. Wasson said last night that there would be a large delegation from the East End, and from all accounts other sections of the city would be well represented.

BRASHEAR HAS AN OPTION.

Prof. John A. Brashear, acting chancellor of the Western university, stated yesterday that the university trustees had secured an option on a piece of ground in the Squirrel Hill district, which has a larger acreage than the Flinn-Magee tract, and the price is less than that asked for the Flinn-Magee property.

"We looked at the Flinn-Magee tract first," said Mr. Brashear, "but we could not afford to pay $350,000 for it."

Councilman W. H. Stevenson said he was acquainted with the property optioned by the Western university trustees. He said it was not contiguous to Schenley park, and, therefore, could not be purchased by the city for the technical school because the 1890 bond fund cannot be used except for the extension of Schenley park.

"That is a point which many people overlook," said Mr. Stevenson. "We cannot buy any ground with the park bond fund, unless it is property fronting on Schenley park. Even if the property was very near the park, but not contiguous to it, we could not purchase it with the Schenley park extension appropriation.

"That is the reason we are forced to buy a site that costs more money than would property which does not front on the park. If we would attempt to buy a site for the technical school not contiguous to Schenley park we would have to have another bond issue."

Councilman J. C. Wasson figures that if the city institutes condemnation proceedings it could not acquire the Flinn-Magee site and obtain a title before October, 1905, in view of the litigation which would ensue, even if the city should win at every point.

"As soon as condemnation proceedings were started," said Mr. Wasson, the owners would file a bill in equity to enjoin the city from condemning the property on the grounds that the condemnation ordinance is irregular. This would raise the question of the constitutionality of the Woods bill passed by the recent legislature. The city would have 15 days to make an answer and the case would be put on the trial list.

"Under ordinary circumstances considerable time would elapse before the case could come up for a hearing in the county court. Suppose it were taken up immediately and the city won. The owners of the property have 20 days to take an appeal to the supreme court. Granting that the matter was put through with all possible speed, it is hardly probable that the case would come up for a hearing before the supreme court before the October session in Pittsburgh. The supreme court would not hand a decision down before January and probably not for a year, as many decisions are delayed a year.

NO START FOR OVER TWO YEARS.

"Supposing that a decision is handed down the first of next year on the question of the right of the city to take the property under the Woods act. If the decision is in favor of the owners that would be the end of the condemnation proceedings.

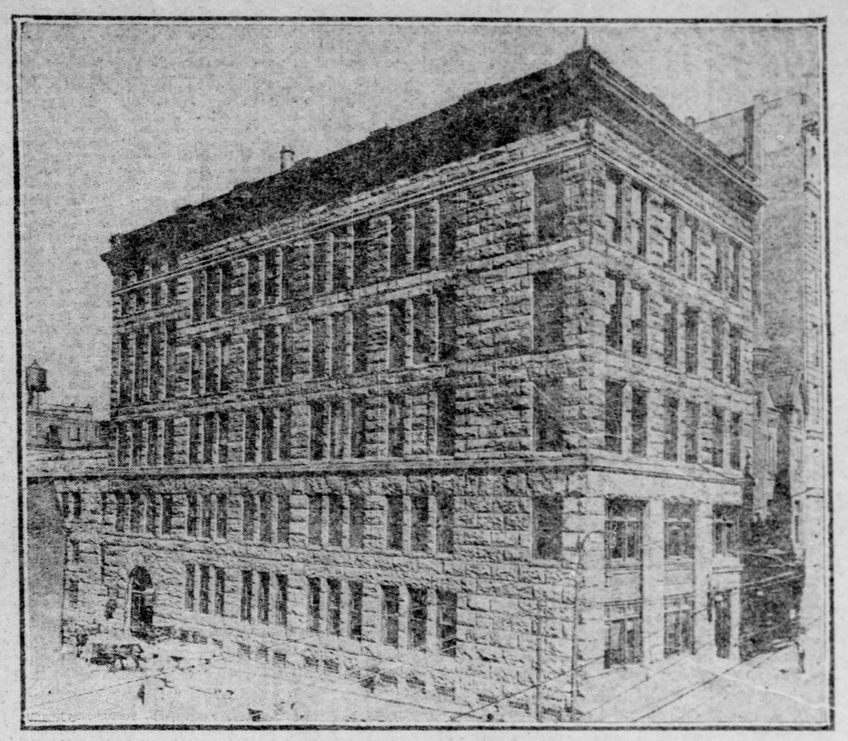
"If the city would win in the supreme court, then it could proceed to condemn the property. A petition would be filed in the courts asking for a board of viewers and the court would have a week to appoint the viewers. The viewers would then sit and take testimony from both sides and the hearing could be strung out for two or three months. After the viewers make their report the owners have 30 days in which to take an appeal and the city has 15 days after that in which to file a statement of its claim.

"Then the case goes on the trial list of common pleas court and comes up for trial in the regular term. Under usual conditions it would take about a week for a jury trial and after the verdict either side has four days to ask for a new trial. Then the motion for a new trial goes on the argument list and a month or two passes before the motion is argued. One or two months usually elapse before a decision is handed down and then either party has 20 days to apeal to the supreme court.

"The owners have the privilege of asking for a hearing at the October term in Pittsburgh and they would take advantage of this to prolong the case as much as possible for the value of their property steadily enhances all the time. The decision of the supreme court would be handed down in three months or a year and should the supreme court reverse the verdict of the lower court then the entire proceedings would have to be gone over again."

Councilman Stevenson said last night that no person disputed the fact that the city could obtain immediate possession of the property if condemned by filing a bond, but he emphasized the fact that Mr. Carnegie or the board of trustees would not erect any buildings until they had the site with a clear title.

LAST FULL VIEW OF THE MAGNIFICENCE OF THE SAFETY PALACE CAN NOW BE HAD



The Gazette presents herewith an interesting picture of Pittsburgh's public safety building. The razing of the Second United Presbyterian church and the Young Men's Tariff and Columbus clubs to make way for the new Nixon theater gives an unobstructed view of the western wall of the "safety palace" as it extends along Cherry alley, a narrow thoroughfare. When the theater is erected this side of the building will be shut out from view and future pictures will show only the narrow frontage in Sixth avenue.

THREE HUNDRED CITIZENS, AIDED BY FIRE DEPARTMENT, ROUT AN ARMY OF LABORERS

FIRE-ALARM WIRES WERE CUT

Three hundred citizens of Aspinwall, led by Borough Solicitor Frank Agnew, and aided by the volunteer fire department, routed 150 railroad laborers between 1 and 2 o'clock yesterday morning.

Unknown persons, presumably to prevent warning being given to the townspeople, had cut the telephone and fire alarm wires and severed the rope attached to the steam whistle at the waterworks, near where the trouble occurred.

The Pennsylvania railroad desires to lay a track from the West Penn to the river bank to deliver material to be transported across the Allegheny for use in the construction of the Brilliant cut-off. No ordinance giving right of way across the street has been introduced into the borough council.

On Saturday rails and ties were taken to the spot. The rails were nailed to ties and laid alongside the old tracks to the edge of the street.

CITIZENS PREPARED FOR TROUBLE.

The citizens expected that the railroad company would try to lay the tracks across the street and arrangements were made to blow the fire alarm whistle at the water works pumping station, in case the railroad attempted to try the trick.

About 1 a. m. Thomas Carlin, the superintendent of the water works, saw a work train come up the track and about 150 laborers swarm from the cars. They were placed alongside the new temporary track, and in an instant were "pinching" it down toward the street.

Carlin tried to telephone uptown to give the alarm, for it had been agreed that the hose was to be turned on the laborers, but the telephone wire had been cut. Then he tried to start the whistle to blowing, but some one had cut the rope, and he had to climb to the roof and pull down the whistle lever with his hands. He blew the fire signal, and in a few minutes the volunteer fire department began to arrive, some of the members half dressed.

ARRIVAL OF REINFORCEMENTS.

They manned the hose, and in a few minutes water was pouring out of the nozzle into the gang of laborers. The whistle kept blowing, and presently the citizens began to arrive until 300 of them were on hand, some armed with clubs and axes.

The laborers were Italians and Slavs, led by a negro foreman. The foreman threw a stone, narrowly missing one of the three firemen at the nozzle. Soon the stream of water struck him in the face and he fled, followed by his men.

About that time Burgess H. W. Hastings arrived, highly indignant.

"In the name of the commonwealth I command you to disperse," he said to the townspeople, who jeered him and advised him to go home, accusing him of protecting the railroad company in its lawless proceedings.

In the crowd were Frank Agnew, borough solicitor; Charles Weiderich, chairman of the councilmanic committee on streets, and James Shaner, president of council.

Charles J. Anderson, the night policeman, had been busy. Some laborers started to cut down the poplar trees that line the street, and Anderson marked a few of the laborers with his club, but they succeeded in cutting down several trees.

Later in the day the citizens erected a fence between the street and the railroad right of way, so that the track cannot be laid without destroying the fence.

The whole borough is very indignant. The wires being cut, no alarm could have been sent in in case of fire. The cutting down of the trees is declared to have been a lawless proceeding, and it is hinted that if the railroad company or the contractor, whoever may be responsible, tries again to lay the track somebody will get hurt.

Burgess Hastings was seen yesterday. "It is true that I ordered the crowd to disperse, for they were creating a riot and giving our town unpleasant notoriety.

LED BY AN OFFICIAL.

"They were led by the borough solicitor, Frank Agnew. A year ago they drove the traction company's workmen off its own property. I am not in favor of the railroad company seizing a street, but there was another way than by a riot to stop the work. The policeman could have arrested the laborers, and there were enough citizens to aid him in making the arrests. The contractor made a fair proposition to council about a month ago. He wanted permission to lay a temporary track over a street that is not used by a wagon more than once a day, and he offered to give bond to take up the track at a stipulated time. I'll admit, however, that he failed to appear on two occasions when arrangements had been made for him to meet council."

Some few of the residents of the borough did not know what all the trouble was about. One of them was George Pearson. He was awakened by the blasts of the whistle and heard the shouts of the citizens, and when a half dozen roughly clad men, evidently laborers, ran past his house he called to them to halt, threatening to shoot. He feared that they might have committed some depredation. The wife of a member of the fire department was much frightened at seeing several men crawl across her lawn on their stomachs, evidently fearing observation.

After the laborers had been routed Justice of the Peace J. P. Lowry swore in W. R. Heerlein, William Barrett, Joseph Lytle and Samuel Tussey as special constables. They were on guard last night.

Pike Street Wife Beater Punished.

Patrick McDermitt of Pike street was given a hearing yesterday on a charge of disorderly conduct. He was accused of beating his wife while drunk. In default of his fine $25 and costs, he will serve 30 days in the workhouse.

Started a Race War.

Frankie Reed, white, and Thomas Payton, a negro, were each fined $25 and costs yesterday. They were fighting at No. 17 Shingiss street when arrested. Payton accused a woman of robbing him of $25.

NATIONAL GUARD TO BE INSPECTED HERE

Captain Stewart to Look Over Local Troops Before They Get New Rifles.

Captain J. M. Stewart of the Eighth United States infantry is in Pittsburgh to inspect the companies of the national guard here previous to their being equipped with the new United States magazine rifle, and to being entered in the service of the United States according to the new national guard law, which goes into effect August 15, 1903.

Captain Stewart will inspect Company I, Fourteenth regiment, at Wilkinsburg, this evening. The schedule of dates arranged by Col. F. I. Rutledge for the companies of the Eighteenth regiment was changed by Capt. Stewart. He will inspect two companies in an evening, as follows: Companies D and E, May 18; K and A, 19th; C and I, 20th; F and G 21st; B and L 22nd; H and M, 26th.

An election for captain will be held in Company G, Eighteenth regiment, soon. Charles Davis, sergeant major of the Second battalion, is the only candidate. Major Rush, who was elected some time ago, refused to accept the commission. Company G has no officers, all having resigned.

The Special Sales Today.

You probably know, by this time, what's going on here today, and we are not going into any detailed reiteration.

It may not come amiss, however, to refer casually to some of the more important sales. For instance:

Men's Silk Four-In-Hand Ties for 25c each. Did you ever know of anything like that? All pure silk, happy combinations of colors, the same grade of Four-In-Hands that are usually sold for 75c and $1. But these happen to be what manufacturers call "throw-outs." A little defect here and there—hardly noticeable.

Another great bargain today, one that will appeal strongly to women, is $1 a yard for handsome Embroidered Swisses, some of them having sold for as much as $2 and $2.50 a yard.

Then there's another good item—a woman's item—Tuxedo Net Veilings, for 15c a yard—regular 25c, 35c and 50c grades.

And again, women will be interested in the Linen Robes that will be sold for $10—the former prices $22.50 and $25. Nothing quite so natty as an embroidered and appliqued Linen Robe.

Then there are the Silks for greatly reduced prices, especially the Shantungs and the Liberty Satins—78c to $1 qualities of Shantungs, and 68c a yard for $1 and $1.25 grades of Liberty Satin.

And one of the greatest places today, for women who like to practice economy, will be among the Tailored Suits on the second floor—$10 for Suits that sold for $20 and $25. Another lot for $13.50 each that sold for $25.

Altogether the special sales today are intensely interesting—as you would have them and as we intend they shall be.

RUPTURE

No Cutting, No Pain, No Danger, No Detention from work.

It is impossible for any rupture sufferer to disbelieve in my ELECTRO-PLASTIC TREATMENT after thoroughly investigating the cures which I have effected. These cures are not mere talk, but facts. I can show you letters or introduce you to persons whom I have cured of the most difficult forms of rupture. Some of these people will tell you that they did not believe a cure possible when I took hold of their cases. They will also tell you that I administered this remarkable treatment without inflicting pain. My treatment is not dangerous, but cutting operations are, and trusses are at best torture machines. Many people are deceived into believing that trusses will cure rupture. This is a mistake. Trusses are made to hold a rupture in place, not to cure it. Trusses never effected a cure of rupture.

It will pay every man, woman and child who is ruptured to call upon me during my office of Monday, May 4, 1903.

Today and this evening there will be some warm discussions and proceedings in connection with the technical school site. We hope, however, that all concerned will keep cool, make their arguments in a dignified way and eschew personalities. There is no personal issue. The matter is simply one providing a site for an institution which Mr. Carnegie has generously proposed to build, equip and endow. The only question is to get a site that is suitable to the purpose and satisfactory to Mr. Carnegie. The acute controversy is whether it is better to close an option obtained by a respected citizen and member of councils, or to resort to condemnation proceedings. Stick to the text, gentlemen, and don't indulge unpleasant personalities. They will not help any.

While the Strapholders' league is a move in the right direction it may as well be recognized that the wearing of buttons, merely, will not suffice to secure relief from the conditions complained of. The street car service is inefficient for reasons that are quite well understood. Franchises granted in perpetuity without compensation by Pittsburgh and Allegheny were capitalized at their full value in millions of stocks. Various consolidations have been effected, each time with an increase of capitalization for the free franchises. The only means by which dividends can be paid on the mass of capital is by running as few cars and as grossly overloaded as possible. To be effective the straphangers' organization must look to practical measures for compelling better service, or to reducing the fare for a strap ride to one-half the price of a seat.

By the throwing into use of the Pennsylvania system's elevated tracks in Allegheny yesterday one of the greatest improvements of recent years was made effective. The new tracks abolish the crossings at grade over Federal, Sandusky, Anderson and several less important streets, where life has been menaced daily for so many years. The work has cost the Fort Wayne and West Penn roads considerable money and the city of Allegheny has made concessions, but the improvement is worth more than the expense. Federal street is one of the busy thoroughfares of this country. Up and down there is a continuous procession of pedestrians, vehicles and street cars. The Fort Wayne and West Penn are busy railroads. Thus the interruptions to traffic alone aggregated a tremendous loss of time every week. Moreover, the grade of the street is such that there was constant danger of street cars or wagons, out of control, plunging into moving trains.

From an engineering point of view, the work is only less important than is its safety and economic relations. The greater part of the elevated tracks are laid upon a solid wall of concrete and cement. This material has but recently come into favor as a building material. It is said to even surpass masonry in solidity and durability when once set. The work in Allegheny will be an excellent test of it for the purpose of supporting roadbeds, subject to almost continuous jarring. The whole work has been carried on with very slight interruption to traffic either on the railroad or streets. The work is not completed, as trains are not run over the upper deck of the new bridge yet, but that part which is of most interest to the public because it frees the streets from danger was put in commission yesterday. The Pennsylvania lines and the community are to be congratulated upon this achievement, as it makes for a better city and a better railroad. Railroads were not built a half-century ago as they are now.

It is not important at this late day to point out to the Johnstown Democrat and the Pittsburgh Post that the Legislative Record, while published under the authority of the legislature and paid for by the state, is not an authoritative official record of the proceedings of the general assembly. But it is an interesting fact and worth remembering. When the Johnstown Democrat finds that the Legislative Record shows that but 102 votes (less, it is pointed out, than a constitutional majority) were cast for the bill providing for an additional judge for Cambria county, it may have discovered "fatal testimony" that "Gov. Pennypacker can hardly overlook," or it may have merely let in light on the negligence of the publisher of the Record or some of his employes. What the Legislative Record contains is not the final word. The official record of the proceedings of the house of representatives is the journal of the house, kept by its journal clerk. However, it is a little late in the day to discuss the bearings of the Legislative Record's contents on this judgeship measure, and for the Democrat and the Post to agree that the "actual veto of the house should be affirmed by the executive 'no,'" inasmuch as the ink has been dry for some time on the executive disapproval. The governor vetoed the bill because he believes Cambria county doesn't need another judge.

Director Bigelow during his previous term of office saved the city large sums by his timely foresight in securing options upon land needed for contemplated improvements. He is undoubtedly an expert in real estate values and his emphatic opinion that condemnation proceedings will obtain the technical school site at a less price than the present option calls for carries with it much weight of authority. But he stands almost alone in this opinion and the circumstances are such as to indicate that he is opposed to the site itself, and has in mind some other tract. It would be entirely unlike Mr. Bigelow to go it blind in such a matter, and he has in all probability some well considered plan. It would be a gratification to the public to be taken into his confidence. The people want the technical school and are disgusted with the delays which have ensued.

Kentucky Justice.

The third trial and conviction of James Howard for the murder of Gov. Goebel of Kentucky does not end the matter any more than did the first trial. The unfairness of Judge Cantrill, which was rebuked by the Kentucky court of appeals, has been evidence to the people that the machinery of the law was being used not in the interest of justice, but to bring about a conviction to serve certain political ends or to satisfy the prejudices of the court. It was manifestly improper for Cantrill to sit after a rebuke from the highest state court, and the granting of a new trial for reasons that reflected on him, but in defiance of the rebuke, of public opinion and of the admitted proprieties, he insisted on having the case retried before him. The third trial ended last week, with another verdict of guilty, virtually forced by Judge Cantrill, who, when the jury reported that it could not agree, insisted that it again retire to the jury room and find a verdict. While the verdict found the accused guilty, it recommended a sentence of imprisonment for life instead of a death sentence, thus admitting a reasonable doubt in the minds of at least some of the jurors that compelled the concession. Such a verdict, rendered practically under duress, is one that ought not to stand, and it is doubtful whether the court of appeals would permit it to stand. But pending an appeal there is another matter to be disposed of, in an application for a new trial. In three affidavits in support of an application for a fourth trial the attorneys for Howard charge that prior to the recent trial "jurors Renshaw and Neil said they were convinced Howard was guilty and that if accepted as jurors they would vote to hang him." If the charge is proven Judge Cantrill must grant another trial. If there is even a reasonable presumption of the truth of the charge he cannot properly refuse it. But if there is to be a fourth trial there ought to be a change of venue. In the interest of justice the next trial of Howard ought to be before another judge and away from all the local influences that have caused so much scandal and brought Kentucky justice into national disrepute.

A Failure After All.

An isthmian canal projected two milleniums before America was discovered was completed ten years ago and the result is a remarkable anti-climax to the confident expectations of thousands of years. The gulf of Athens on the east and the gulf of Corinth on the west cut Greece nearly in two in the middle. So long ago as 600 years before the Christian era a ruler of Corinth proposed to cut through the narrow isthmus, but superstitious fears as to the risk of thus wounding mother earth stood in the way. Julius Caesar revived the canal scheme and at a later period the Emperor Caligula took an interest in it. When Venice was in the height of her power and held southern Greece the old scheme was again taken up, but nothing was really done until 1881, when a canal company organized in Paris began work. After spending $10,000,000 the company failed in 1890. A Greek syndicate took over the concern and finished the work in 1893 at an additional cost of a million dollars. The canal is only four miles long, and the deepest cut is only 260 feet, but part of it had to be cut through the hardest kind of solid rock.

And now, although the canal has been opened for years and makes a saving of 136 miles in the trade routes, bringing the two centers of Greek export and import trade within 12 hours of each other, the canal is not used. Wind and tide scour so violently through the cut that vessels prefer to go around Greece just as they used to do instead of going through Greece by the canal. The canal company is trying in various ways to attract commerce, with some hopes of future success, but it is a curious instance of the extent to which anticipation may be deceived when a work that has been an object of desire for over 2,000 years turns out to be of little practical utility.

Chentung's Cure.

The opinion of the Chinese minister that it would be much better all round if the Chinese in this country all understood the English language and if Americans in China understood the Chinese language and people is one that can be indorsed without going very deeply into the subject. Undoubtedly, the circumstance that Chinamen are a class apart in this country adds much to the prejudice that has been and will be felt against an alien race, and Americans of all classes will take an interest in schools that Sir Chentung Liang Chen intends to establish here to in a measure Americanize his resident countrymen. There has been considerable effort on the part of Americans in all our cities to teach Chinamen our language and customs, but always in association with an effort to Christianize them. These efforts have been naturally handicapped by having proselytism of the pupils for their confessed primary purpose, but in spite of this they have been crowned with much success as mere educative agencies, and harvested some religious fruits. The schools to be established by the Chinese minister will, of course, be different, devoted wholly, as they will be, to the furtherance of the material well being of subjects of the Chinese empire, bringing them into closer touch with the people among whom they live and work by acquainting them with the language and customs of the country. Under such distinguished auspices only good can come of the endeavor, and the confidence inspired by the example of the founder and patrons of the schools (while Chinamen may be in the first instance withdrawn from the religious influences of Americans) may in the end prepare the soil for more enduring results in a religious way among Americanized Chinese and in China itself. For that reason Minister Chentung's effort ought to have the commendation of religious as it will have of secular bodies.

The exclusiveness of Chinese life has prevented many Americans learning much of China's people and tongue. Strangers have not been welcome among the people of the flowery kingdom. Even the Chinese minister and his predecessor are pioneers in the better acquaintance of the eastern and western civilizations with each other. It is China's fault if the races do not know more of each other, and it is only by the persistence and superior force of the west that China has been led to seek knowledge and yield it. Sir Chentung's criticism of conditions has a somewhat amusing side coming from a Chinaman, but his conclusions that the conditions ought to be cured will be approved, as will be his efforts to help the cure and the means he employs.

Issues and Trouble.

In joining his esteemed contemporary, St. Clair McKelway, in an effort to put wind enough into a Cleveland boom to give it buoyancy, Norman E. Mack of Buffalo and the United States of America declares that the paramount issues of the last two campaigns—free silver in both and free silver and anti-imperialism in the second—will have to be laid aside by reorganized Democracy in favor of the issue that was paramount before free silver became paramount. In short, "a strong plank for tariff for revenue only" is to be the main reliance of the party of Bryan, reorganized to suit the anti-Bryanites. So far as the Democratic party is concerned the attempted substitution will probably be the signal for the hair pulling. So far as the Republican party is concerned it really doesn't matter which issue is paramount among the Democrats next year. From the standpoint of a majority of the people of the United States each issue is a little worse than the other. Both are finger boards pointing to hard times. Free silver spells ruin and tariff for revenue only spells the wreck of prosperity. Consequently, the McKelways and the Macks and the Hills and the Gormans and the Bryanites are given full liberty by the advocates and beneficiaries of prosperity to enter the arena and have it out among themselves to their heart's content and the satisfaction of their souls and feelings, until the cows come home and the milking is done. When it is all over with them there may be two Democratic parties instead of one to add to the gayety of nations. And if it is to be so, let it be so. The Democratic rose will break few bones and won't hurt the country a bit. Therefore, more power to the discussion.

Bitterness Lingers.

Often the nation flatters itself that all of the bitterness of the secession era has passed. Unfortunately, it is not yet. Gradually it is dying, but in parts of the south the flame is kept alive by leading journals that ought to be busy quenching the lingering embers. The old feeling is particularly in evidence in New Orleans and is vented upon all occasions. Thus the injudicious and out-of-date report of Gen. Miles provokes the New Orleans Picayune to say: "The extermination of the Indians has been progressing without causing any sympathetic distress to the American people, and the same outrages with the same results can be perpetrated on the brown, yellow and black inhabitants of our Philippine dominion, without exciting as much indignation among the white people of the United States as would and does the lynching of a single negro ravisher and murderer in the southern states of the union."

It is a far cry from cruelties in the Philippines, largely imaginary, to the lynchings in the south, which a few southern newspapers indorse and encourage. But the Picayune does not hesitate to bridge the chasm with bitter reflection. It is willing to assume that the woes of the Filipinos are real, though nearly everybody is aware they are notorious romances, and its animus is made more apparent by the following: "The alleged woes of the negro slaves in the southern states of the union brought on a war in which 600,000 white men lost their lives, and many more suffered injuries from which they were more or less disabled to the ends of their lives. And yet this alleged sympathy for the imaginary woes of these negroes, no longer slaves, but fellow citizens, still keeps a great number of the white people of the United States in a ferment of excitement."

This is astonishingly unreconstructed opinion at this late day. It contains an intimation that the terrible civil war had its beginnings in the north and that this section was wholly responsible for the terrible carnage. The act of secession is left wholly out of the account as a thing sacred and not to be impugned. Only the alleged sympathy of the north for the negro slaves had to do with bringing on the conflict. Fortunately, there are but few left so blind to fault on their own side and so unforgiving toward possible fault on the other side, and so the bitterness is gradually wearing out of the national life and sectionalism is giving way to united effort for a greater nationality.

Now that St. Clair McKelway of the Brooklyn Eagle and Norman E. Mack of the Buffalo Times and of the Democratic national committee have declared for Cleveland for president, it will be recalled by many persons that David Bennett Hill is a Democrat still. But how still will he keep now?

Straphangers' league buttons are in such demand that it is expected that within a month at least 10,000 people will be able to respond to the inquiry, "Button, button, who's got the button?" And when enough people have touched the button it will be up to the officers of the organization to do the rest.

Democratic National Committeeman Mack's declaration that in the event of Grover Cleveland's nomination for president "Bryan would certainly abide by the decision of the national convention" is another of those things intended for publication rather than as a guarantee of good faith.

Now that Tom L. Johnson has decided to make a state issue campaign this year in Ohio he ought to take warning from what occurred to Pattison in Pennsylvania last year and have his explanations of just how it happened well thought out in advance.

The way the Democratic editors of New York state are lining up for the sage of Princeton makes it look as if the recent cold snap had done something to the Judge Parker boom.

J. P. Morgan says he enjoyed his voyage from New York to Queenstown. He wasn't out of sight of plenty of water for even a minute after leaving Wall street, you know.

IN THE EYE OF FAME.

Prof. Frank Carter Mills, professor of classics in the faculty of arts of McGill university, has tendered his resignation to accept a post in Winchester college, England.

J. C. Perkins, an ex-slave, who fought on the union side in many of the bloodiest battles of the civil war, was recently elected to the office of judge in the town of Sheldon, Wis.

It has just been discovered, through the records of the Nebraska state university, that more than a decade ago an invitation to become its chancellor had been extended to Theodore Roosevelt.

The first woman to be admitted to the practice of law by the Dutch bar is Mrs. Adolphine Kok of Amsterdam. She and her husband passed the necessary examinations at the same time.

Prof. Laborde, who died recently in Paris, was one of the most active workers in the campaign against alcoholism. At the time of his death he was being sued by a Parisian distillery for 200,000 francs damages because he declared that there was not a liquor in existence which could be called "absinthe hygienique."

Gen. John Coalter Bates, who has taken up his residence in Chicago as commander of the department of the lakes, has been in the army since 1861, when he joined the Eleventh infantry as lieutenant. He served on Gen. Meade's staff until the close of the war, and for 30 years was stationed west of the Mississippi river, chiefly in the Indian country. He also served in the Philippines.

Steer at Second-Story Window.

From the Winchester (Ky.) Sun-Sentinel.

A party of telephone linemen working along the Two-mile road discovered a two-year-old steer in the second story of a deserted building on Arch Piersall's farm. The steer stood gazing wistfully out at a window, and thus appealed to the boys went over to help him down. Climbing a narrow, winding stairway, they reached the boudoir of his steership, which, from appearances, the high-minded animal had occupied for several days, and offered their assistance. Brax. Ecton and Will Ragland took hold of the horns, while Jim Ogdon and Hamp Ecton seized the tail, and the steer, being weak from long fasting, was carried almost bodily down the steps and turned out to grass.

An Explanation.

From the Providence Journal.

Only one thing seems adequate to explain why Gen. Miles can never agree with more than a few other officers at a time; his militant spirit craves controversy and discord. He would prefer, we may all be sure, to satisfy these cravings in struggling on the plains for supremacy with the redskins; but that being impossible, he must "take it out" in wars of words with his associates in the war department. It is a pity, because a brave soldier thus places himself in the position of one who rejoices to dig up and uncover every pettiest fault of that splendidly efficient army of which, for a little longer, he is to remain the military head.

The Governor and the Libel Bill.

From the Philadelphia Record.

It is inconceivable that the governor should hesitate about vetoing the Salus-Grady libel bill. In view of the record he has made in vetoing other bills for informalities, defective grammatical construction, obscurity of meaning and invasion of private rights, there is but one logical course for him to take in relation to this particular measure. It offends more grossly in respect of these things than any or all the bills he has vetoed.

An Emphatic Editor.

The Bethany (Mo.) Owl is an independent paper, but the editor must have political preferences, for thus he speaks of a resident: "There is a gander-eyed, yank-jawed, long-nosed, hatchet-faced man in the Pleasant Valley neighborhood that wants to always keep up a fuss in his neighborhood. He is running for office now."

The Merry Month of May.

From the New York Tribune.

There is a classical saying that the present month is so named because it May rain, May snow, May freeze, May anything. To which we May add that men May work or May go on strike.

In the Moonlight.

Of, in the solemn stillness of the night
I start and waken from a sleep profound,
And deem I hear a footfall soft and light
Beside my couch—a stealthy rustling sound
As of a woman's garment, and I lie
And listen, and indeed I seem to know
Full well that step unto me drawing nigh,
Oh, how it stirred my heart long, long ago!

And as, with breathing stilled and straining ear,
I wait, some straggling moonbeam shows to me
With raven hair unbound and flowing free.
I see a face I loved and still must love,
All pallid in the moonlight's ghastly ray,
And bending my recumbent form above

It moves me not to terror; I am sure
That apparition meditates no harm;
No awful apprehensions I endure,
I've not the slightest feeling of alarm,
For next there comes of minted coin the clink,
And to myself I say: "It will be strange
If I'm not shy tomorrow, for I think
My wife has just relieved me of some change."

Why butt in, boy, butt in;
The man who hesitates is lost,
So butt in, boy, butt in.
Don't show an overflow of gall,
For that will seldom work at all,
But don't my boy, get down and crawl,
But butt in, boy, butt in.

Somebody has been kind enough to paste this choice selection on a sheet of paper and lay it where it would be most likely to be seen, and being seen, to be written upon.

If that was somebody's notion, it was just right, for a clean sheet of paper with a chunk of "copy" attached to it is very tempting, especially on a spring day when a fellow has a spring feeling in his bones and a desire to get out and watch the leaves as they grow and the fishing worms as they crawl forth to get a breath of fresh air.

Have you ever seen daisies peeping up between grass roots—peeping with one eye, not exactly because they are afraid to peep, but because they only have one?

Poets can see them, all right. At least they say they can, and we have to take poets at their word? Or, on suspicion, as one might say, if one dare. The peeping daisy of the poet must be a cute little posy, if all is true that has been told us about it, and it would be exceedingly interesting if it were bold enough to peep at all of us as it does at the poet, and at the sweet lady who goes out into the daisy patch to think, perchance to weep—to chew gum, maybe.

Charge that last surmise to the office boy, for he is plenty horrid enough to do it.

But what is an office without an office boy? This sentiment is worthy of being framed and hung up somewhere. It may now become as popular as some sentiments or mottoes we meet in homes and other places, even in unlooked-for places.

You may have noticed mottoes, sentiments or inscriptions in places where they seemed sadly out of place, if you have ever been in places where a soulful sentiment, a pure thought or a sacred inscription would be sadly out of place.

An office boy, however, is always in place except when wanted in a hurry. But, then, it is a satisfaction to know that he is some place, alive and kicking, if not asleep, and attending strictly to business if there is anything to eat.

But, then, he is built that way, and that is the way he manages to live, otherwise he would starve to death; at least he thinks he would.

Speaking of office boys brings to mind the fact that this is the time of year for snake stories to peep. Just why the office boy suggests snake stories is neither here nor there, unless you choose to take the trouble to figure it out yourself.

Snake stories are not always reliable. Nor are snakes themselves altogether dependable; and yet you may usually depend upon finding them in unexpected places, rather than in places where you would think they might be, or ought to be.

You may not like snakes very well, or have no taste for snake stories—make you sick, maybe, or give you a chill. If so, you are unfortunate, for you are liable to meet with them more or less on your travels through this vale of tears, and over the mountains and foothills of sin and sorrow. Better far it is to take a kindlier view of them, make up to them in a cold, distant sort of way, but don't butt into them; they don't like it.

A true snake story is just as true as gospel or anything else, particularly if it has a preacher to back it up. Here is one from Dr. Miller, the Presbyterian freedmen's advocate, who knows all about things in the southern mountains. It is about a mountaineer, very violent and ungodly, who was bitten by a rattlesnake and thought himself dying. He sent for the minister, and under the stress of prayers and exhortations was really converted. The preacher was a very zealous man, and when he saw his spiritual client safe from his state of sin he bethought him of the mountaineer's brother, a six-footer, uncouth and uncontrolled, whose profanity and wicked ways were even more pronounced than the other's had been.

Then the minister prayed in earnest: "O, Lord, I thank thee for this rattlesnake, which has caused our brother to turn from sin. But, Lord, send a bigger rattlesnake, the biggest rattlesnake in the mountains, with the longest fangs and the loudest rattles; send it to bite his brother Jim."

* * * * *

Whether you like snake stories, or find some interest in snakes, depends largely on the way you were raised, as do many of your tastes. In fact, the difference in people the world over are mainly differences in taste, and these are determined by training and environment.

You may have had no taste for olives when you first sampled them. Very few people have. But you may like them now, even hunger for them. And no one, probably, has a natural taste for tobacco, yet how many have grown so fond of it that they will not allow it to be separated from them. And you may recall other tastes which you have developed by cultivation, or which have been forced upon you by circumstances.

Some say you may even learn to love one whom you couldn't endure at first. This is possible, no doubt, if your dislike is purely a matter of taste; but love is not a mere taste. It is more, far more, and it cannot be changed as you change the fashion of your dress, the food you eat or the books you read.

It is a well-established fact that a very plain-featured girl may so cultivate a taste for the beautiful as to become quite handsome, which is preferable to being beautiful in the sense of being pretty.

Were it not for their taste for beauty and their admiration for that which is handsome and becoming, the pretty Parisian girls, of whom we hear so much from those who go abroad, would be positively ugly.

And then, you know, the "real pretty" girl is fore-ordained to be ugly when she gets old. The reason of this is that she is satisfied to be pretty and neglects to cultivate the tastes and habits which will render her handsome. A pretty face rarely outlasts young womanhood, and the prettier and more baby-like, the sooner it loses its charms. You know what desperate efforts are made to retain these charms, but it can't be done, and the balms and blooms and lotions and skin foods used so lavishly only help to make the wreck and ruin more complete.

But when handsome features take the place of youthful beauty as she matures, the woman does not become less interesting, but even more charming.

In order to become handsome one must cultivate a taste for the beautiful, the true, and the pure, not forgetting politeness, dignity and a kindly feeling for your fellow beings.

The question of culture is fast taking its place beside that of education—not the trashy stuff that so many call culture, and boast that they were loaded with it at school. The culture that counts for more than beauty, or smartness, or gold, is begun in infancy and continued through life.

Count Tolstoi, in his philosophy of life, contends that we can only educate others by educating ourselves, and to know how to live is to know how to educate. In the opening chapter on education he says:

"There are two fundamental truths to be set down as rules for education. Live properly, and continue to perfect yourself, and hide nothing from the children. It is better that children should know the weak side of their parents than that they should feel that their parents have two lives—one an open life, the other a secret one. The trouble is that parents without making any attempt at correcting their own shortcomings, try to prevent similar faults in their offspring. Hence a struggle. Children are more penetrating than adults, and they see and realize the faults of their parents, especially the greatest fault of all, hypocrisy, and consequently lose respect for them and interest in their moral precepts.

"Parents who lead an immoral life, an intemperate life, a selfish one, nevertheless demand of their children moderation, temperance, industry, respect for the right of others. But the language of practice, example, is heard and felt by the big and the little, by strangers and by neighbors.

"Be honest and truthful; conceal nothing from children, and live so as to have no reason for concealing anything—this is the essence of education."

Talked of in New York

(By Private Wire to The Gazette.)

NEW YORK, May 3.—It seems as if the main object of a large portion of New York's population is to provide entertainment and comfort for the children. Not for the wealthy youngsters of Fifth avenue and Riverside drive—if there are any—but for the little ones of the east and west sides down town, in the close Harlem flats and over in the Ghetto. There are recreation piers along the rivers, parks in many out-of-the-way corners of Manhattan and the menagerie in Central park. All these are appreciated, but the real treat of all is the May Day party, which is permitted on the green award of Central park on the first day of the month of flowers and on other days thereafter as his august majesty, the commissioner of parks, may decide. The crowds in Central park on Friday, cold as it was, were almost as great as on any May Day. The first opportunity of the spring to run about the grass at will was something not to be neglected, and although some of the little girls in their white dresses looked cold, in most cases they were clad more warmly than they seemed to be. The day was an entire success, according to the opinions of those that took part in the celebration. There was quite as large an attendance at the park today, however, notwithstanding that the "Keep Off the Grass" signs were uncomfortably conspicuous. This was a lovely Sunday, and it was not too cold to walk about the paths, with the occasional diversions to the menagerie that are so dear to youngsters. It is probable that today's was the largest attendance at Central park since last summer. The same may be said of Prospect park, in Brooklyn, which is allowed to be one of the most beautiful pleasure gardens in all this wide world. It is one of the possessions of Brooklyn that induces people to live there.

Sailed on the Campania.

The Cunard liner Campania sailed from New York yesterday with a large list of passengers. Among them were W. J. A. London and Miles Walker of Pittsburgh.

Voyage Improves Carnegie's Health.

When the news that the Cedric had reached Queenstown yesterday afternoon was received in this city the first question was as to the welfare of Andrew Carnegie and J. P. Morgan. It is not often that two men of such vast wealth are tossed about together on the ocean with only a plank between them and eternity, and the fact that the Cedric had been gone from this port for nearly nine days made people a little anxious. However, it has never been claimed that the Cedric is exceptionally fast, and her officers are not straining her just now. Mr. Carnegie and Mr. Morgan both are reported to have enjoyed the voyage, and private advices are that the former is to much better health than he was when he left New York.

Bill Posters Decorate Sturtevant House.

The poor old Sturtevant house, in Broadway, presents a pitiful appearance today. It has been plastered with show bills over its entire front, and the result is a crazy-quilt of half-sheets, one-sheet, three-sheets, streamers, snipes and other vagaries of the bill posters' art, which is enough to make one's head ache. Whether this confused mass of pictures and big-typed hyperbole helps the entertainments it is supposed to advertise is a question. The bill poster does not discuss that, however, neither does he care. All he wants is to get his "paper" up to the exclusion of some business rival. The rest of the affair concerns the manager only. Pittsburgh has had many a billboard war, especially early on Sunday mornings, and can understand what excitement this Sturtevant opportunity caused among the brush and pail brigades.

The Escalator a Failure.

It looks as if the escalator attachment to "L" stations were not the success it was hoped they would be. At all events, that at Twenty-third street and Sixth avenue has not been running for some time, and weary Harlem matrons who have been spending several bustling hours shopping grumble pantingly as they climb the stairs in the old fatiguing fashion. In fact, it is harder to walk up a stationary escalator than ordinary stairs, for each step is about twice as wide as those of the common or garden staircase, and climbing an escalator is a great deal like performing a series of what are known in athletics as "broad jumps."

Jefferson Opens Tonight.

Joseph Jefferson will begin his annual engagement in New York tomorrow evening, appearing at the Harlem opera house. The veteran was seen in Fifth avenue this afternoon looking for all the world like an old-fashioned parish clerk who sings "Amen" at the proper moments and gives out the hymns. There was a pleasant smile on Mr. Jefferson's face, as there is usually, but a stranger would never think him an actor.

Silence Along the Subway.

Not for two years has there been such quietude along the line of the rapid transit tunnel as there was yesterday. With 4,000 of the men on strike and only a few casual laborers watching things at long intervals, it seemed as if the underground city which has been so busy since first George S. McDonald began to add another story to New York below had suddenly been paralyzed. It was actually awe-inspiring. On Sunday work always stops in the subway, to all intents and purposes, so that it looked today about the same as usual. Unfortunately the probability is that it will be just as quiet tomorrow for the strike may last.

Country Draws Many from the City.

One of the inducements subtly put forth to possible "commuters" by country real estate agents is that it is always possible to enjoy a good game of whist on the train coming and going, so that one never notices the length of the railroad ride. Whist would be impossible amid the howling, crowding mob on the "L," but on suburban trains there is a comparatively peaceful atmosphere, and a quiet game of cards is a recognized means of passing the time for regular riders. It seems as if this inducement, with others, had proved very strong, for the rush of New Yorkers to the country in the last few weeks has been record-breaking.

Tomato Crop Damaged.

The peach crop in Jersey is not destroyed yet, so far as is known, but the truck farmers of that state and of Long Island declare that thousands of tomato plants have been ruined by the frost of yesterday morning and that a new planting of the precious love-apples must be made at once. Even a New Yorker can see for himself that this is true, if he will take the trouble to go a few miles into the country. Blackened leaves and stumps mark where only two days ago were green plants looking as healthy as even a farmer or gardener could desire. That one May frost will be an expensive thing for many a thrifty vegetable farmer in this vicinity.

Political Drift.

"Now that the franchise tax has been sustained," says the Baltimore News (Ind.), "the example of New York is almost certain to exercise a powerful and widespread influence."

\+ \+ \+ \+

Commenting upon the third term talk about Mr. Cleveland, the Philadelphia Record (Dem.) revives the old objection to a second term. It says: "The talk about nominating ex-President Cleveland for a third term we are satisfied made no encouragement at his hands; but it will do no harm if it shall serve to compel a first-class selection. Two terms to the presidency are one term too many, and three terms are barred by precedent of such weight as to amount to positive interdiction. It would be an improvement if the presidential term could be extended to eight years and re-election prohibited. As it is, the first four years of the presidency are usually devoted to clearing the path for a second term, and the interests of the country are thus made secondary to personal interests and ambitions."

\+ \+ \+ \+

"That part of the state administration not directly involved in boodling has not performed its duty toward the people of Missouri," says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat (Rep.) "Its first care invariably has been to prevent the exposure of the evils that have sprung up like poisonous weeds during the continuous rule of one party, or rather of a party ring, for 30 years. In judging the Missouri scandals, whose foul odors fill the country, it is necessary to remember that the 150,000 Democrats in the state are not boodlers or in favor of boodling. But they are certainly more open to deception in this respect, more ready to listen to demagogues, more obstinate in shutting their eyes to the truth, than is usual or rational."

\+ \+ \+ \+

Of the new ballot law signed by Gov. Pennypacker, the Philadelphia Inquirer (Rep.) says: "There is no radical change, but what change there is is decidedly for the better. Not all that might have been done has been done, but there is a greater simplicity about the new act which is acceptable. There will be no more blanket sheets. All candidates will be grouped under the title of the office for which they are running and properly designated as to politics. The circle disappears, but in its place is a square, and a cross within will vote a straight ticket. The ballot reformers have contended for the grouping that has been adopted, but they have opposed the circle or square. They have always wished to make straight party voting impossible by a single stroke."

\+ \+ \+ \+

In the course of a consideration of the Democratic party confusion, leading up to a suggestion that an Illinois man should be chosen as a compromise, the Chicago Journal (Ind.) says: "If there is to be any semblance of harmony in the Democratic convention it would seem as though it must come through a candidate from some northern state between the Mississippi and the Alleghanies. Even then the harmony would be of the species which always has a knife in the immediate vicinity, but no other course seems open to the party in its present plight."

\+ \+ \+ \+

"If Mr. Hill can realize that his own case is hopeless he will unquestionably urge Judge Parker, with a view of becoming secretary of state and boss," says the Philadelphia Press (Rep.). "But he has not got to that point yet. Mr. Hill, however, is less of a force in the Democratic party now than formerly. Some western man may get the nomination, though there is apparently a realization of the hopeless task any Democrat will assume who runs for president next year."

\+ \+ \+ \+

Referring to Congressman Sibley's suggestion that the president ought not to be worried by officeseekers, but be free to devote his time to national policies, the Minneapolis Journal (Rep.) says: "In this way the president would get rid of the importunities of officeseekers and their friends of congress on patronage bent. It would, soon come to be understood, if the president were a man of will, that it would be useless to see him regarding appointments, and presently the cabinet officials and such other important officials as the president might choose to give the appointing power would have to bear the brunt of the attack of the officeseekers. We can see no reason why this could not be done, and it is quite possible that President Roosevelt will try it in his second term."

\+ \+ \+ \+

"Certainly it would be a dramatic episode," says the Portland Oregonian (Rep.), "if Miss Democracy should appear on the ballroom floor leaning on the arm of Mr. Wall Street. Certainly it would be a fight for your money if Grover Cleveland should be the Democratic nominee against Theodore Roosevelt; if the plutocrats so sedulously alienated from the Democracy by the joint efforts of Col. Bryan and Chairman Hanna should come back to sit at the head of the feast."

Legislation Against Cocaine.

From the Baltimore Herald.

Among measures passed by the recent session which were signed by Gov. Pennypacker was one fixing a penalty of $100 or six months' imprisonment for the sale of cocaine, or any patent or proprietary remedy containing cocaine without a physician's prescription, or to a habitual user of cocaine. This is an excellent law and one which will probably be duplicated in many other states in which legislation restricting the sale of cocaine has not yet been enacted. Recently there has been complaint in Baltimore and in other parts of Maryland with regard to the growth of the cocaine habit. While there is a law upon the statute books which provides for the dispensing of all poisons by physician's prescription, this law is not enforced as it should be.

Gen. Miles' Report.

From the Kansas City Journal.

Gen. Miles was allowed to go to the Philippines largely as a riddance from him. He assumes to make a report of conditions there. After the war has ended, and among people whose language he does not know, he claims to have gathered certain facts which, according to Gen. Chaffee, are stale, and as the secretary of war says, have already been a Citizens Leader Has Immense Amount of Work to Perform.

DEMOCRATS WANT MUCH

Demanding More Places If There Is to Be a Continuance of Fusion—Break in Common Council Alarms the Leaders.

Thomas S. Bigelow expects to devote considerable time each day this week to politics. His friends expect that he will be down town for several hours today, and a number of the important appointments are to be passed upon finally.

It is the desire of Bigelow to clean up all of the appointments this week, and smooth out as many rough spots as possible before he returns to New York the latter part of the week. Some preliminary work on the fusion plan for this fall will probably be done. The demand of the Democrats are annoying the Citizens. They not only want two of the best places on the county ticket, but insist upon securing an increased number of clerks in the city government. This latter demand is causing trouble, as there are few jobs left.

The superintendents of the bureaus of parks, construction and highways and sewers in the department of public works will probably be announced today by Director E. M. Bigelow. He is desirous of getting all of his appointments out of the way, so that he can leave town for a rest of a few days. The superintendency of Marshalsea is to be discussed by the leaders today, and may be announced. Mayor W. B. Hays has not decided on a man to succeed John Bradley as oil inspector, but some names will be considered today. Mr. Bradley will make the mayor's appointee prove his legal right to the place.

In the public safety department the chief plumbing inspector, the captains and lieutenants of police and the new men on the detective force are to be chosen. Director Harry Moore expects to make them public not later than tomorrow. The captains and lieutenants will be selected from men now on the force.

Another important question to be considered by Bigelow and his lieutenants is the city clerkships. Unless the program is changed the courts will be asked Wednesday to issue a mandamus compelling select council to meet with common to elect two city clerks.

The split among the Citizens members of common council is alarming the leaders. At present Messrs. Wolfe of the Twenty-second ward, Stevenson of the Fourteenth, Reitz of the Thirty-fifth, Brown of the Twentieth, McNeil and Wymard of the Twenty-first, M. E. O'Brien of the Twenty-fourth and Barker of the Twenty-third ward are refusing to take orders on the technological school site legislation. The Citizens are without whips in either branch.

GEN. FRED GRANT VISITS OLD DENT HOMESTEAD

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

ST. LOUIS, May 3.—The old Dent homestead in St. Louis county, where Gen. U. S. Grant, then an obscure young army officer, wooed and won Julia Dent, his chum's sister, was visited today for the first time since his boyhood by Gen. Frederick Dent Grant, who was deeply affected by a sight of the familiar scenes.

Mrs. Grant and a party of friends accompanied the general, who pointed out where he learned to swim in Gravers creek, where his father had cut timbers for a new farm building; where his boyhood sweetheart lived, and a thousand other places endeared to him through happy associations.

The party was entertained by Capt. and Mrs. Conn, the present owners of the place, who have made as few changes in the historic place as possible. Not until falling darkness warned the general of the near approach of night did he start on the return to St. Louis.

TAKEN TO SUPREME COURT

CINCINNATI, May 3.—The superior court here last week, held to be unconstitutional the Ohio law, known as the Rogers act, under which the Cincinnati street railway held a franchise for 50 years. All the lines in this city recently had been taken over by the Cincinnati Traction company, one of the Widener-Elkins properties.

Theodore Horstman, representing the taxpayers, by whom the suit was brought in the superior court, sent a request today to Attorney General Sheets at Columbus to commence an action in quo warranto in the Ohio supreme court, to oust the Cincinnati Street Railway Company.

The decision in the court of last resort will affect the franchises of street railways all over Ohio. It is stated that a new franchise will be granted by the Cincinnati councils, but not for so long a period.

CRAP GAME AND A BATTLE.

Wabash Camp Adds Another Interesting Incident to Current History.

While a crap game was in progress yesterday morning at Wabash camp No. 7, on Mt. Washington, a fight was started and Hugh Armstead of Vanderbilt, Pa., was struck on the head with a beer bottle. A telephone message was sent in to the West End police station and Inspector P. F. Kelly with Officers Esplen and Pemberton hurried to the scene. They arrested King Webster, charged with striking Armstead, and Nelson Hughes, a stranger at the camp, who was found to have his pockets full of poker chips and cards. Armstead was carried to the office of Dr. Charles Gangiaff, in Virginia avenue, in an unconscious condition. His face was covered with blood from a severe scalp wound where the bottle had broken and cut him. All the men were charged with being suspicious persons. They are negro laborers.

Inspector Kelly said last night that most of the trouble in the camp was started by strange men who went into the place on Sundays to gamble. He issued orders that hereafter all strangers found in the camp should be arrested.

ORGANIZATION IS COMPLETE.

West Pittsburgh Silk Manufacturing Company Not Delaying.

NEW CASTLE, PA., May 3.—(Special.)—The West Pittsburgh Silk Manufacturing Company, which has been organized here by local and Pittsburgh capitalists, has applied for a charter and is erecting a plant at West Pittsburgh, the new industrial town five miles south of this city. The concern is capitalized at $50,000, and the directors are: John W. Garland and Robert Garland, of Pittsburgh, H. D. Euwer, W. A. Hodkinson, C. M. Hodkinson and Capt. Milton S. Marquis of this city. The main offices of the company will be in the Erick building, Pittsburgh, and the plant at West Pittsburgh is now under roof and will be ready for occupancy within a short time.

PERMANENT NAVAL RECRUITING STATION MAY BE LOCATED HERE

A permanent naval recruiting station may be established in Pittsburgh. An office for receiving recruits for Uncle Sam's new navy will be opened this week in the Dixon building, No. 435 Fourth avenue, under command of Lieut. D. E. Theleen. Several hundred new men are likely to be enlisted and if a good return of well-qualified men is received the government probably will establish a regular detail here, Pittsburgh men being especially well equipped to man the new battleships and cruisers which will soon go into commission.

Recruits between the ages of 15 and 35 years will be taken. Those under 18 will be sent to the apprentice school at Newport, R. I., while those enlisted as landsmen for training will be sent to the navy yards in Philadelphia and Brooklyn. With Lieut. Theleen's party are Assistant Surgeon R. A. Campbell and the following detail: J. H. Molloy, boatswain's mate; F. S. Beurke, hospital apprentice, first class; A. N. Williams, yeoman of the third class, who will act as stenographer and typewriter, and H. B. Meyers, apprentice of the first class.

CONSTABLE AND PRISONER SLAIN

ONE VICTIM IS PREACHER

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CARUTHERSVILLE, MO., May 3.—Constable Mooneyhon and his prisoner, "the Reverend" D. M. Malone, living at Wardell, 12 miles west of here, were murdered last night by an armed mob in disguise.

Malone is one of the so-called "sanctified" preachers, who have located nearby recently. He was about 50 years old and married. Recently he became enamored with Mrs. Mary Frill, a widow, whom he converted to his faith. The two traveled and preached together. Over this the legal wife, Mrs. Alice Malone, became greatly troubled, and the preacher, it is said, decided to get rid of her by claiming that she was crazy. Accordingly she was brought to this city and placed in jail.

Later a warrant was issued for Malone and the woman, Mary Frill, and Constable Mooneyhon went to arrest them last Wednesday. Malone came to the door with a Winchester and revolver and defied the officer, saying:

"I live under the laws of Grace, not men, and will not be taken alive."

Constable Mooneyhon went away, but returned and arrested them on Saturday. It was too late to bring them to this city, and the constable carried the man and woman to his residence to be brought here today.

At 11 o'clock last night some one called at the officer's door, and when he went to the door to see what was wanted he was shot without warning. The mob then swarmed into the house and seized the preacher, dragged him into the hall and shot him dead. They then dragged the body of the preacher into the woods. They left the body of Mooneyhon where it had fallen.

Mooneyhon's wife and several neighbors were in the room at the time, but none of them were molested. A mob had been trying to find Malone for several days. No reason is given for shooting the officer who had him in charge.

Mrs. Frill was brought in this evening and placed in jail. She denies guilty relations with the parson and says that she herself is a preacher; that the two did missionary work together. She is 26 years old.

CHINESE EXCLUSION ACT IS HURTING CALIFORNIA

Representative Is Sent East to Secure Labor to Harvest Fruit Crop.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

ST. PAUL, MINN., May 3.—W. H. Murray, representing the California promotion committee of the commercial organizations of San Francisco and California, arrived here today in search of laborers to assist in harvesting the fruit crop.

Mr. Murray says that the labor situation in the fruit districts is a very serious one. The cause of the labor shortage, Mr. Murray states, is the Chinese exclusion act. Chinese being excluded from the United States, California fruit growers have had to seek elsewhere for labor, and are turning to the eastern states.

Mr. Murray will go from here to Duluth and then east as far as New England on the same mission.

Traction Car Hit a Wagon.

Highland park car No. 105 crashed into one of the Ward-Mackey company's bakery wagons at Twenty-ninth street and Liberty avenue last night, completely wrecking the wagon and slightly injuring two men. John Hanlon of No. 3504 Penn avenue had his wrist badly hurt and Harry Suttelmyer of No. 3820 Mulberry alley had his leg injured. Both men were able to go home. The car was slightly damaged.

FOUND HIS WIFE AND WAS BEATEN

Finnell Stanfield Attacked Her Escort and Was Stabbed Several Times.

FATHER-IN-LAW WAS IN IT

If Enoch Arden had possessed the vigorous temper of Finnell Stanfield, that sentimental poem had never been written. Up to date, however, Finnell is not so much of a winner, but then Enoch did not have so quick-tempered a father-in-law as Stanfield found awaiting him.

Stanfield, who is 36 years old and lives in Sixth street, North Braddock, left his wife a year ago, alleging that she flirted too much. He has kept a close watch on her since.

While Mrs. Stanfield and Caleb Brooker were returning from a church social Saturday night, the husband jumped out from concealment in Lobingier avenue and demanded to know by what right Booker was accompanying his wife. Booker retorted that as Stanfield had deserted his wife he had no right to know, and this so frenzied Stanfield that he attacked his man. They both fell in a clinch and rolled on the ground. Booker drew a dirk from his pocket and stabbed Stanfield several times in the fleshy part of the arm.

The woman, who was on the way to her father's house in Roy street, where she has been staying since the desertion, rushed home and informed her father, Robert Jackson, of what was occurring. Jackson returned to the scene and found the men still locked in each other's grip. He picked up a brick and laid it vigorously over the head, neck and shoulders of Stanfield. He cut several severe wounds on his victim's face, and a deep gash on the neck near the jugular vein, which it was thought for a time, would be the cause of the injured man's bleeding to death. Stanfield was taken into the office of Dr. William Stewart in Library street, in an unconscious condition, afterwards being conveyed to his home.

Yesterday morning, before Burgess Albert T. Reid, Booker was given a hearing on the charge of disorderly conduct, Stanfield not being in condition then to enter charges against him, and was fined $10 and costs. A short time afterwards a warrant was issued for his arrest through Justice Joseph L. Campbell, charging Booker with assault and battery with intent to kill. He will be given a hearing this morning.

ROOT IN COLUMBUS

Secretary of War Arrives for Meeting of National Guard Association.

COLUMBUS, O., May 3.—Elihu Root, secretary of war, arrived here this evening to attend the meeting of the National Guard association, which will be held here this week. Many distinguished military men are expected to attend.

The convention will begin with a public meeting at the Auditorium tomorrow afternoon, at which addresses will be made by Secretary Root, Gen. H. C. Corbin, Gen. Charles C. Davis, judge advocate general United States army; and William Carey Sanger, assistant secretary of war.

At the close of the meeting a reception will be tendered the secretary of war by citizens.

Ohio Traction Line Is Sold.

CLEVELAND, May 3.—The Tuscarawas Traction Company has been sold to the Tucker-Anthony Company of Boston, Mass. The road runs from Canal Dover through New Philadelphia to Uhrichsville, O. The road was a Mandelbaum-Pomeroy property. The purchasers have assumed the bonded indebtedness of the road, amounting to $250,000 of 5 per cent 20-year bonds.

May Be Victim of Wreck.

CORRY, PA., May 3.—Leo Nominger of this city may prove another victim of the Erie railroad horror at Red House. He has been missing since that night. Just before the train left he was seen by several persons at the station.

Boys don't care. They only think of today. It's the parents who must watch and worry. They know what exposure to the wet and cold means—tender throats, sore lungs, hard coughs. That's why so many homes keep on hand

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

Just a single dose, when the cold first comes on, is often sufficient. Your own doctor will explain why this medicine is so good for coughs of all kinds, for bronchitis, and even for consumption. Three sizes: 25c., 50c., $1.00. J. C. AYER CO., Lowell, Mass.

"In the winter, when the children take cold so easily, I always keep Ayer's Cherry Pectoral on hand. It is a wonderful medicine for throat and lung troubles."

THE ELEVATED TRACKS IN USE

NEW METHOD WAS TRIED

Workmen Were Put at Tearing Up the Old Rails That Were Used for So Many Years on the North Side.

Dangerous grade crossings in Allegheny are now things of history. Yesterday morning train No. 22, which runs from Erie to Pittsburgh, ran over the new elevated railroad, being the first train to use the new line. It passed the Federal street station at 9:15 a. m.

As soon as the elevated road was thrown open to traffic a force of men began tearing up the old track running through the city at grade. The first rails to be removed were alongside the Fort Wayne station at Federal street. These were torn up so that a suitable passage could be built from the station to the elevated tracks. A temporary platform will be erected leading to the elevated tracks, which will be used until the new passenger station is built.

Another force of men went to work building a trestle leading from the West Penn tracks at Chestnut street to the elevated line. Since the passenger station of this road at Federal street was torn down the trains were run only as far as Chestnut street. The object of the trestle is to permit trains to be run to the Fort Wayne station at Federal street. This work is expected to be completed within two days, when all the dangerous crossings in the city will be eliminated.

The Federal street crossing has for years been one of the most dangerous in the city, and accidents, many of them serious, were of frequent occurrence. Within the last two weeks a traction car crashed through the safety gates into a moving train, and the escape of the passengers from death was miraculous.

The improvements recently made in connection with the elevation of its tracks cost the railroad company approximately $3,000,000. The city of Allegheny takes care of the property damages and some of the street work.

This work would in all likelihood have been carried through long ago had it not been for a disagreement between the city of Allegheny and the railroad company, but these differences were adjusted and the benefit to the public is inestimable.

The way has at last been provided—to have what would have been advantageous years ago.

Taxes—as to that, it would be remarkable if taxes would be any higher than they are now.

Taxes are necessary and right, and a good investment when the money is judiciously expended for betterments and improvements, just as anything else is that you pay for, when you get value for your money.

You can't progress and have improvements without taxes.

Parks—when Allegheny Park was arranged for, objections were made on account of the Park Tax.

Is there any one living now who regrets paying that tax?

Riverview Park—which was bought, paid for and donated by the citizens to Allegheny—that nature has done so much for—if twice the money or more had been expended there to improve and beautify it, than has been, great pleasure for the people and increased value would result therefrom.

Practical demonstrations of increased property value and pleasure are Highland and Schenley Parks.

With Greater Pittsburgh, needed improvements of which many could be mentioned, will bring great and satisfactory results.

We venture the assertion that had Greater Pittsburgh come 25 years ago, there is not a piece of real estate in Allegheny that would not be worth Two Dollars for one it is today.

Let us have consolidation as soon as possible—the sooner the better.

OCCUPIED HER HUSBAND'S PULPIT.

MRS. MARGARET D. BIGELOW,
Wife of the Rev. Herbert S. Bigelow, Pastor of the Vine Street Congregational Church, Cincinnati.

WOMAN PREACHES TWICE TO LARGE AUDIENCES

Mrs. Bigelow Tells Her Hearers of Duties to Children and Discusses Courtship from a Browning Poem Text.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CINCINNATI, O., May 3.—In the presence of audiences that packed the large Vine Street Congregational church at morning and evening service, Mrs. Margaret D. Bigelow, wife of the Rev. Herbert S. Bigelow, occupied the pulpit of her husband today. The unusual event was caused by the offer of Mrs. Bigelow to deliver two sermons in place of her husband, who is conducting a revival at Johnstown, Pa., and the acceptance gladly by the congregation, who know Mrs. Bigelow as a woman of rare intellectual attainments and unusual mental training and education.

The subjects were, for the morning service, "Our Duty to Children," and for the evening service, "The Ideal Courtship." At the morning service Mrs. Bigelow first read Elizabeth Barrett Browning's "Cry of the Children," and then took as her text the sentence, "Do unto the children as you would have been done by." She spoke of the necessity of entering into the child's mind and seeing things from a child's point of view.

Among other things the speaker said children are not taught ethical creeds by being taken to church, where there is disposition to fall asleep, but one should develop them from their own experience. Children make mistakes, it was stated, through ignorance, seldom through maliciousness, and are anxious to rectify them if not antagonized by being punished by parents, who fail to understand the child's motive in his conduct.

In the evening for a scripture lesson Mrs. Bigelow read a Browning poem, and on her subject, "The Ideal Courtship," read selections from the letters during the courtship of Elizabeth Barrett and Robert Browning. In other respects the church services were just as if the Rev. Herbert S. Bigelow or some other man minister had occupied the pulpit.

PERSONALS

Martin Dodge, director of public road inquiries of the United States department of agriculture, passed through the city last night on his way to Washington from St. Louis. He had been attending the convention of the National Good Roads association. Mr. Dodge has been an advocate of the improvement of roads for several years. He said last night that more good was done at the St. Louis convention than at any public meeting ever held to further good roads. Speaking of the meeting he said: "After several years' battling for the improvement of the roads I am convinced that something will be done in the near future to bring about the required legislation. All the states were represented at the meeting by governors, senators, congressmen and many other prominent men. Several propositions were made as to what method to pursue to have the roads improved. The proposition that received the most support was made by the Hon. John Latimore of Tennessee. His method is to divide the cost of improvement into four parts, the United States to pay one, the state to pay another, the county to pay the third and the place in which the improvements are made to pay the fourth. By this method a township can have its roads improved at one-fourth the cost for such work. It is the intention of Senator Latimore to present a bill at the next senate containing this proposition, and no doubt it will meet with the support of all senators. The National Good Roads association will hold another convention in St. Louis next year."

Herbert Smith, formerly representative of the Hostetter estate, but now in New York in business for himself, arrived in Pittsburgh last night. He is representing a syndicate that contemplates purchasing a stone quarry. The members of this syndicate comprise men of Pittsburgh and New York, and Mr. Smith is here to confer with the Pittsburgh contingent.

The Rev. Dr. John H. Prugh, pastor of the Grace Reformed church, East End, will go to Philadelphia tomorrow morning, where in the evening he will deliver the commencement sermon to the graduates of the Ursinus School of Divinity.

Seized in Street With Pneumonia.

Frank Monaska of No. 13 Ravine street became ill in the street yesterday at Fifth and Liberty avenues and was sent to the Homeopathic hospital. It was said there he has pneumonia.

The nearest thing to a certain Cough Cure is Dr. D. Jayne's Expectorant; and it is deceptively cheap; it takes so little of it to do the work.

The Death Roll.

William Charles Macrum.

William Charles Macrum, aged 76 years, of Oakmont, Pa., died yesterday afternoon at 4:20 o'clock. The primary cause of death was heart disease, although Mr. Macrum had been ill about six weeks. In spite of his advanced age Mr. Macrum was active in business until taken ill. He was born in County Armagh, Ireland, and came to this country when about 21 years of age, coming direct to Pittsburgh. He entered the employ of Hallman, Rahm & Co., iron manufacturers, and later became a member of the firm. He retired from the firm about 35 years ago and assisted in the organization of the Commercial Banking Company, afterward the Marine National bank. He retired from this institution over 10 years ago, and in recent years has been secretary of the Monongahela inclined plane, South Side. Mr. Macrum is survived by two brothers, E. A. Macrum of Herma, Mont., and D. G. Macrum, East Liverpool, O.; three sisters, Mrs. Hugh Newell, Wilkinsburg, and Mrs. W. H. Everson and Miss Charlotte Macrum of East Liverpool, O.; two sons, George S. and Howard Macrum of Oakmont, Pa., and four daughters, Misses Ida and Katherine Macrum of Oakmont, Mrs. W. R. Harris of Norfolk, Va., and Mrs. C. A. Cubbage of New York city.

Miss Rose Curran.

Miss Rose Curran died yesterday at her home, No. 717 Arch street, Allegheny. Although ailing since January, Miss Curran had not been confined to her room until two weeks ago. She was 51 years old. Miss Curran was the daughter of John Curran. She was born in County Tyrone, Ireland, and went to Allegheny with her parents when she was 4 years old. Her father died 29 years ago, and two years later Miss Curran and her brothers went to live in the house in which she died. She was prominent among the church workers of St. Peter's Catholic church in Ohio street, and was in comfortable circumstances. She is survived by her brother, James, of Marion avenue, Allegheny, and a sister, Sister Ambrose, at the orphan asylum in Idlewood. The funeral party will leave the house at 8 a. m. tomorrow and a requiem high mass will be solemnized at 9:30 at St. Peter's church.

Robert H. Gibson.

Robert H. Gibson, a prominent resident of Bellevue, died at 8 o'clock yesterday morning at his residence, Kendall and River avenues, Bellevue. He was born at McKeesport, October 25, 1843, and spent the greater part of his life on a farm near Tarentum. From there Mr. Gibson removed to Allegheny and engaged with his brother in the wholesale feed business, the firm doing business under the name of J. A. Gibson & Co. He was in this business for about 20 years until three years ago, when he retired. At that time he moved to Avalon and subsequently to Bellevue. Mr. Gibson is survived by his widow, a sister, Mrs. Campbell of Independence, Col., and the following brothers: J. A., at present in the real estate business in Allegheny; J. E. and J. W. Gibson. The funeral services will be held from the family residence tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Religious services will be conducted at the Bellevue Presbyterian church, of which Mr. Gibson was a member, by the Rev. Mr. Glass, the pastor.

Funeral of Col. Cain.

At 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon funeral services in memory of Col. John H. Cain, a prominent oil producer, who dropped dead at Franklin Wednesday morning while dismounting from his horse, were held in the Presbyterian church at Franklin. The funeral was in charge of the May's post, No. 220, G. A. R., and the services were conducted by the Rev. Robert B. Beattie, pastor of the church. At the grave in the Franklin cemetery the services were conducted by the chaplain of the post. The body lay in state at the church an hour prior to the funeral. A number of Col. Cain's old comrades in Company C, One Hundred and Fifty-fifth Pennsylvania Volunteers, of Pittsburgh, were present.

Funeral of Capt. Ford.

The funeral of the late Capt. Ford, the glass magnate, was held at Tarentum yesterday afternoon. The services were conducted by the Rev. J. B. Naylor of McKeesport, formerly of the Presbyterian church of Tarentum, assisted by the Rev. R. M. Montgomery, the Rev. J. H. Kandell and the T., M. & A. quartet of Tarentum rendered some appropriate selections. Those relatives were present: Edward of Tarentum, Mrs. Emma Ford of Allegheny, Mr. and Mrs. McNichols of Toledo, O.; Mr. and Mrs. Bacon of Wyandotte, Mich.; John and George Ford of Wyandotte, Mich., and Mrs. Laura Vallentine. The funeral train will leave Tarentum at 10:15 today. The interment will be in the family vault in the Allegheny cemetery.

Mrs. Agnes Sloan.

Mrs. Agnes Sloan, widow of John Sloan, died from paralysis on Saturday at her home in East Liverpool, O., in her 94th year. Mrs. Sloan was born in Pittsburgh and had lived all her life in the East End, until two years ago, when she moved to East Liverpool. Her husband died here several years ago. Mrs. Sloan is survived by one son, Dr. John Sloan of Pittsburgh, and the following grandchildren: Mrs. John Barclay of Sheraden, Mrs. William Catte of Homewood and William John Sloan of Allegheny. She will be buried from the residence of the latter, No. 10 North avenue, East Allegheny, this afternoon at 3 o'clock, and the interment will be made in the Allegheny cemetery.

Horace M. Pfoulke.

Horace M. Pfoulke of Washington, D. C., son of Charles M. Pfoulke, and a member of the stock brokerage firm of Bloomer, Pfoulke & Co., died in Silver City, N. M., yesterday of tuberculosis. Mr. Pfoulke went to the southwest a year ago with his mother in the hope of regaining his health. He was 26 years old. He was graduated from Harvard college in the class of 1898 and went into business with his father. He was a member of the New York stock exchange. He was a member of the Metropolitan and Chevy Chase clubs, was an enthusiastic horseman and golf player. The funeral will take place at Washington as soon as his body arrives.

Hampton T. Arbogast.

Hampton T. Arbogast, aged 15 years, a son of ex-Deputy Sheriff William A. Arbogast, of No. 513 East Diamond street, Allegheny, died at his home at 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon of tuberculosis. He was taken ill of typhoid fever about five months ago, and the disease developed into typhoid pneumonia and later into tuberculosis. He was named after Capt. Robert Hampton of Hampton's battery, and the association which is named in honor of Capt. Hampton will attend the funeral, which will take place on Wednesday. No other arrangements have been made for the funeral.

Mrs. David K. Shaw.

Mrs. David K. Shaw died yesterday afternoon at her home, No. 5500 Margaretta street, after an illness of three months. Mrs. Shaw's maiden name was Margaret Rector, and she was born in Pine township nearly 60 years ago. She married Mr. Shaw in 1864 and until a year ago had resided in McKees Rocks. She was a lifelong member of the McKees Rocks Presbyterian church. She is survived by her husband, who was a member of the steel manufacturing firm of Anderson, DuPuy & Co.

John F. J. Sensenderfer.

John F. J. Sensenderfer, a well-known Democratic politician and famous as a baseball player a quarter of a century ago, died at his home in Philadelphia Sunday. He was 55 years of age. Mr. Sensenderfer was three times elected city commissioner of Philadelphia, and took a prominent part in state politics. From 1876 to 1876 he played centre field on the famous Athletic club of those years, and accompanied the team when the Athletic and Boston teams toured Europe.

Capt. E. W. Brady.

Capt. E. W. Brady, for many years a well-known newspaper correspondent in Washington, died there yesterday of Bright's disease, aged 54 years. Capt. Brady was a native of Indiana, served in the civil war and later graduated from the West Point military academy, resigning from the army to enter politics in Texas during reconstruction days.

Mrs. Harriet Mason Benton.

Mrs. Harriet Mason Benton, relict of Alfred Benton, died at 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon of paralysis. Mrs. Benton was the daughter of David and Anna Moorhead of Westmoreland county. Since her marriage she had resided at No. 407 Frankstown avenue.

BEAUTY SPOTS OF AMERICA.

Interesting Lecture to Be Given Before the Academy of Science and Arts.

George A. Lincoln of Springfield, Mass., will lecture on the "Beauty Spots of America" before the Academy of Science and Arts in Carnegie institute hall next Thursday evening. The views will include scenes from Niagara, the Yosemite, Yellowstone and the grand canon of Colorado. In addition there will be moving pictures of the durbar festivities in India, the eruption of Mt. Pelee. Mr. Lincoln lectured on "Alaska" before the academy two years ago and made an excellent impression.

Prof. Edward Rynearson, secretary of the academy, has issued a report covering the work of the year, including April 30. During the year forty-four persons joined the academy. There were fifteen lectures before the academy proper. The Pedagogical section met on the first Tuesday of each month and had three extra lectures. The photographic sections met on the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month and had five lectures. From 1,200 to 1,500 interchange slides have been shown and a display of 220 mounted photographs was given.

J. I. Berchman presented the academy with a stereopticon with microphic attachment and all the latest accessions.

Fell and Cut His Head.

Jacob Och, aged 46 years, of No. 202 Pike street, Allegheny, is at the Allegheny General hospital with a severe scalp wound, caused at 9 o'clock last night by falling in Spring Garden avenue.

In Woman's Realm.

The Elaborate Hats.

Hats of lace, tulle, and chiffon almost defy description. A novelty is black mousseline overlaid with escurial lace and on these foundations are arranged trimmings of flowers or feathers as preferred. Never, within our recollection, at least, has it been possible to evolve such charming hats so simply. While it always is inconsistently true that the expert touch means peculiar smartness, these lace chiffon, and many finer straw hats require so little trimming that it becomes possible to create a really acceptable head covering by merely adding some one of the many garnitures that are offered ready for use. Imported hats, however, possess a peculiar cachet of their own and are delightful in color, as well as form. A most bewitching creation, from a well known Paris house, is of ecru in its least aggressive shade, combined with black. The crown is made of plaits of a soft round straw braid laid over chiffon. The brim is of chiffon, while a fall of black Chantilly lace and choux of this last make the trimming. Black lace is to have great vogue, and is greatly enhanced by the chiffon or mousselite beneath. This combination with ecru is smart and economical in one, inasmuch as it is quite possible to wear the one hat with many costumes. An exceedingly handsome black model is of the same soft lace over plisse chiffon, and is trimmed with a bunch of white roses and green foliage. Many of the straws show under brims of the lace over chiffon or of plisse chiffon alone, and are rendered far more becoming because of the fact. Straw against the face is inevitably somewhat hard. These softening materials go far to redeem it and give us far pleasanter results.

Buying Her Spring Hat.

These are trying and trying-on times in the millinery stores just at present. The warm sunny days make one feel that hats seem so heavy and uncomfortable, and the velvet toque looks worn and shabby after its winter's wear. So there is a mad rush for the pretty, fresh straws millinery saleswomen feel that their salaries ought to be raised, so trying are the vicissitudes of their lives. There are dozens of women who go from store to store, trying on hat after hat with no intention of buying. It is a pleasant diversion, but is not particularly exhilarating to the tired saleswoman, when the number of hats brought out for inspection mounts up in the dozens and the hoped-for customer says airily: "Well, I don't want to decide right now, but I will be in again."

Certainly it seems that the hats were never prettier, and particularly noticeable are the number of smart styles in ready-to-wear hats. Quills and wings and a twist of silk trim the most of them and some of them are all straw with big straw bows and buckles. And among the dress hats the styles are so bewildering in their profusion that when the happy woman who is to buy, tries on, each seems lovelier than the last, and she finally selects at random, sure to be pleased.

* * *

The Wearing of Necklaces.

As a rule a lovely neck and shoulders should be left to speak for themselves. Oddly enough, women with really fine necks have the idea that by ornaments or trinkets they increase, or, at least, call attention to their beauty.

This is a mistake. The gracious lines of the shoulders and the sweep from the nape of the neck down the back are broken and have their value lessened by a necklace.

However, if one must be worn, let it be of pearls for a neck of alabaster whiteness. One less clear in color should have rubies or sapphires as the most becoming stones.

A swan throat is improved by a necklace, but let it be a broad one. Consuelo, Duchess of Marlborough, brought long or swan throats into fashionable favor in London with her famous pearl necklace of seven strings buttoned at the back with seven big diamonds, set on a band of gold exactly four and one-fourth inches wide. So lovely did her grace appear that every smart woman in Mayfair longed to possess a throat like hers.

It was the broad necklace that gave grace and an aristocratic bearing to the long throat. If a narrow jeweled band had been worn, the effect would have been quite different.

Moist Hands.

Through no fault of their own, many people suffer constitutionally from a perpetual moisture of the palms of their hands, as well as of their feet. For those who are sensitive, it may cause much inconvenience and mental worry. Perspiration of the hands should be treated by much the same means as that of the feet. The hands should be frequently washed and dusted with equal proportions of oxide of zinc and starch. Another good plan is to dry the skin of the palm by rubbing in as often as is considered necessary a solution of tincture of belladonna and eau-de-cologne in the ratio of three parts of the former to 14 parts of the latter. But a water in which has been dissolved a simple astringent, such as alum, will again be found to prevent too free a perspiration.

A Doll's Dressmaker.

Those who read Dickens will remember Jenny Wren, the little "doll's dressmaker" in "Our Mutual Friend." There is at least one woman in the west end of London who obtains a handsome living out of making dresses for beautiful and expensive dolls, such as are sold to the children of very rich people.

She enjoys the recommendation of every principal dealer in expensive dolls in London, and at the very time the present writer waited upon her she had made a complete set of garments, even to the minutest detail and in duplicate, for a doll a yard high that is the property of a little girl, an only child, whose millionaire parents have just returned from South America.

The total cost of this particular doll's trousseau is £140, one dress alone costing nearly £20. All the articles are as to material and cut, of the most expensive and newest to be procured. But, from the statement of this lady, it appears that such an order as the above is by no means an out-of-the-way one. An Austrian lady of title only lately paid a far larger sum for a complete outfit for the doll of one of her little girls, the whole of the garment being made in duplicate, just as though the wax figure were a fashionable young heiress replenishing her stock of clothes.

According to the Boston Globe the women of the country districts of the United States have within the last few months found a new occupation in the government service. Some hundreds of them all over the country have been appointed rural letter carriers, and the reports of the department show that the women have done wonderfully well in their new occupation.

Lady Wilfrid Laurier is the only woman who has ever spoken in the parliament house of Canada. At a reception given in the house by the speaker some one noticed Lady Laurier standing at the foot of the throne, and there arose a demand for a speech from her. The call was only half-meant at first, but at length grew so insistent that Lady Laurier was obliged to comply.

Berlin has few clubs outside of housewives' associations. Lately there has been established there a society for the improvement of the dress of women. It is said that some really beautiful "reformed" gowns have been designed for the society.

Mrs. Grover Cleveland.

It is true that the stork is planning a fifth visit to the Grover Clevelands. At first it seemed only a rumor, but the rumor has now settled into a certainty. Mrs. Cleveland only smiles serenely and says, "Either."

THIN FOLKS MADE FAT.

Good, healthy flesh can only be gained by the use of the proper food, together with the naturalaction of the digestive organs. Nine people out of ten, in order to weigh as much as they ought and be perfectly healthy, should use Mi-o-na, the great flesh-forming food and digestion regulator. Weigh yourself before commencing to use these little tablets and see how your weight increases from week to week. Mi-o-na does not contain a particle of pepsin, the basis of the ordinary dyspepsia remedy, and which never made a cure of dyspepsia. Mi-o-na has valuable flesh-forming properties, tones up and strengthens the digestive organs, helps digest the food eaten, and absolutely and permanently cures the worst forms of dyspepsia.

If you are not perfectly satisfied with the results from Mi-o-na, Schilling Bros. Company, Penn and Frankstown avenues, will return your money without any questions. What other medicine is sold on this plan?

CAMPBELL'S

IMPERIAL CROWN OF AUSTRIA.

A Gorgeous Exhibit of Pomp and Splendor.

ON FREE EXHIBITION FOR A FEW DAYS

Beginning Monday Afternoon, May 4th, on our second floor where there is ample room to accommodate a large crowd—with wide staircase and ample elevator service. An attendant in charge to answer questions. Come Early and Come Often.

Every Crown is an exact fac-simile of the golden emblems which represent so much of the pomp and pageantry of ancient and modern days. You might travel thousands of miles and spend hundreds of dollars and not get as good an idea of the Royal Coronets as can be gained at this exhibition. By rare good fortune we are able to exhibit these crowns for a short time only, beginning Monday, May 4th. You may wonder at so stupendous an art exhibit in a department store, but with our collection of other artistic creations, this further demonstrates that we are an educational center as well as a shopping center.

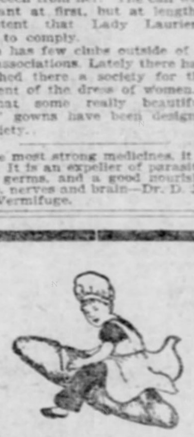
The collection of fac-simile crowns is the only one in existence in the world. Beside being worth thousands of dollars it required more than three years to produce it. Every crown is exactly like the original in size, color of metal, cutting, shade, brilliancy and setting of all the jewels.

The crowns are elegantly displayed in glass cases. Each case is a mass of gleaming gold and scintillating jewels. This exhibit was prepared at an expense of nearly $30,000 to be used at the St. Louis Exposition, but owing to the postponement of this exposition, you get this rare opportunity brought right to your doors.

The exhibition includes the Crown of Great Britain, the Crown of Napoleon and Josephine, the Crown of far-off Siam, Crown of the Emperor of Germany, Crown of Denmark, of Portugal, of Spain, and of Norway and Sweden, and other countries. The Iron Crown of Lombardy and the laurel wreath that distinguished Nero are faithfully produced, also the triple Crown and Sceptre of His Holiness, Pope Leo the Thirteenth.

This exhibition will be especially interesting to all students (in fact we are all students), who are interested in the history of the great nations of the world. Just to give an idea of the tremendous cost of one of these original crowns, the German crown is valued at nearly $1,000,000.

Without doubt the standing room around the cases holding these magnificent crowns will be occupied every moment. We therefore advise every one to come early and come as often as possible. Come in the morning, for at this time the Crown Department is liable to be less overcrowded than during the afternoon hours. You will undoubtedly wish to ask many questions about these crowns, as to the value of each one, the size of the jewels, how these crowns are kept in their various empires, etc., etc. The gentleman in charge of this exhibition being thoroughly conversant with the history of these crowns, will cheerfully give you all the information desired.



It isn't worth while to bake bread; we beat you. Moneyback Mother's.

A WORD IN YOUR EAR.

Our phenomenal success at West Liberty within the past two weeks leads every real estate man to believe this will be the greatest lot-selling year ever known. Thousands of lots will be sold and many THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS will be made by people who get in early in the best plans. WEST LIBERTY has something NO OTHER PROPERTY POSSESSES—the trolley tunnel under Mount Washington, through which high-speed palatial trolley cars—unhampered by vehicle traffic—will enable you to leave your work in down-town Pittsburgh and be home in 10 minutes. You know what that means? Where else can this be done? The cars will be running by June 1, 1904. We own all the property on both sides of the new line for 2½ miles. No matter where you buy in OUR West Liberty property you can't get stuck. In a year from now EVERY LOT will be worth 10 TIMES THE MONEY. GET IN NOW when PRICES are LOW. Chances are any later plans will be sold at double the money asked for No. 3. See the point?

A LOT OF MONEY.

We passed the 600 mark on No. 3 yesterday. The rain kept some people away. THIS IS FORTUNATE for those who have put off buying until this week. It leaves many choice lots to pick from. But we give you FAIR WARNING. DON'T PUT IT OFF any longer. We're going to make a LOT OF MONEY for the people who have bought. We want to make some for you. Look at OUR RECORD at SOUTH SHARON, BELMAR, KISHON and the other places we opened. Those lots we sold for more money than we're asking for West Liberty. Look what they're worth now—more than double what we got for them. History repeats itself. WE'LL DO BETTER at West Liberty. The trolley tunnel and the improvements will do it. Remember we're doing here what has been done for no other plan. No other firm or company would attempt it. We're spending over $1,100,000.00 on improvements. STREETS GRADED, PAVED, CURBED and LIGHTED. Granolithic sidewalks. City water and natural gas. In addition to the regular water supply we are constructing a PRIVATE PLANT to guard against any shortage.

HAVE A LOOK AT THAT TUNNEL.

Walk across the Smithfield street bridge. Have a look at the tunnel. Now in 1,000 feet from this end. Then ride around to the other side of Mount Washington. Have a look in that end of the tunnel. We're in 1,100 feet there. EVERY TUNNEL LOOKER BECOMES A LOT BUYER. Buy before prices advance. The BUILDING BOOM WILL BEGIN this week. Then look out. Some of the home builders who have taken advantage of our magnificent offer of $25,000.00 worth of free lots will begin on the foundations this week. See us about these free lots. Even now via Mt. Lebanon and Castle Shannon cars the property is only 25 minutes' ride from the Pittsburgh Postoffice.

GO OUT TODAY. Take any Mt. Lebanon or Castle Shannon car on Liberty, Smithfield or Carson streets. Get off at CAPE MAY AVENUE. Call at our offices for Free Car Tickets. Salesmen on ground at night until 10 o'clock. We pay railroad fare of all buyers within 100 miles of Pittsburgh. If you can't come, write. Many satisfied people bought lots by mail.

TWICE ESCAPES, KILLED AT LAST

Third Attack on Italian Near Punxsutawney Results in His Death.

YOUNG MAN IS IN JAIL

Aghello Batisto Accused of Stabbing Frank Carfo to Heart. Small Quarrel Ends in Fight That Results Fatally.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

PUNXSUTAWNEY, PA., May 3.—Frank Carfa, an Italian miner at Walston, was stabbed through the heart by a recent arrival from southern Italy, who gave his name as Aghello Batisto, Carfa died instantly. Batisto was captured by Tony Perri and Antony Sinatto, who brought him to Punxsutawney and delivered him to Chief of Police Palmer.

The killing was the result of a fight between two factions at Walston. Angelo Carfa, a cousin of Frank, was accused of giving a boy a chew of tobacco, and was set upon by the boy's father and his friends. Frank ran to his cousin's assistance, and during the fight was stabbed by Batisto.

This is the third attempt made upon the life of Frank Carfa within a year, it is alleged, by the same gang, two of whom are now in the Brookville jail. On the night of April 14, Carfa, with four other Italians, was out serenading a young married couple, when they were fired upon. At that time Fortunatio Perri, a brother of Antony, was instantly killed, Frank Caracio had an eye shot out, Frank Carfa received a No. 6 bird shot in the breast, and two Forstburg miners who were sitting in a buggy listening to the music, were wounded in the legs. Antony Perri, was one of the party, but escaped without injury. This attack was traced to Pietro Folino, Nick Muracco and Paule Dossario. Folino escaped, but the other two are now in the Brookville jail, awaiting trial.

On the Sunday following that attack, Folino, who took to the woods as soon as the shooting was over, returned for a short time, and while in Walston stated that he shot Carfa, who, he said, was his enemy, but charged Muracco and Dossario with shooting Perri. He then made his escape, and has not been heard of since.

Batisto gives his age as 19 years. Documents found on his person show that he left southern Italy less than two months ago. He came to Walston about 10 days ago. The two men who started the quarrel last night died this morning, when the authorities went to Walston to investigate the affair.

Carfa was buried in the Catholic cemetery this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

ELKIN PEOPLE WIN IN MERCER COUNTY

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

MERCER, PA., May 3.—Incomplete returns of the county from last night's primaries indicate the nomination of John Fyffe, the anti-Elkin candidate for pood director, by a good majority. Capt. D. L. Barton of the Mercer Dispatch, who ran independently for state delegate, won by a big vote.

Mr. Barton is a pronounced Elkin man. The other delegates will be J. C. Byers of West Middlesex and J. W. Brown of Greenville, both identified with the Elkin faction. The fight for control of the county committee was bitter throughout the county, and from information at hand the Elkin people will have the organization.

The present chairman, James M. Campbell, who won in his own precinct in a heated contest, will be a candidate for re-election. He will be opposed by ex-Clerk of Courts James L. Greer of Stoneboro.

FOSTER WILL PRESIDE.

Annual Conference on International Arbitration at Lake Mohonk This Month.

LAKE MOHONK, N. Y., May 3.—Arrangements are practically completed for the ninth annual conference on international arbitration, which will open at Lake Mohonk May 27 and continues for three days. John W. Foster, ex-secretary of state and counsel to the Alaska boundary commission, will preside.

Among those who will address the conference are William L. Penfield, who represented our government before The Hague court in the Pius fund case; President Daniel C. Gilman of the Carnegie Institute; Dr. Benjamin F. Trueblood of Boston, and Frederick W. Holls, who was one of the representatives to The Hague peace conference.

The reference of the Venezuela trouble to The Hague court and other events of the past year will make the discussions of the conference at this session unusually interesting.

HELD DIVINE SERVICES.

Graduates of Western Theological Seminary Preparing to Leave.

The senior class of the Western Theological seminary held divine services in the chapel of the seminary yesterday afternoon. It was the farewell service held by the faculty and the graduating students. The Rev. David R. Breed, D. D., conducted the services. At the close communion rites were observed.

There are 19 graduates of the seminary this year, and this week they will leave for their respective homes to await calls for pastorate. The commencement of the institution will be held Thursday evening. Each evening from now on examinations will be held in the various branches taught at the seminary. On Tuesday evening the Presbyterian union will give a banquet to the graduating class and the faculty of the college. This promises to be an elaborate affair, as over 600 invitations have been sent out.

WANTS PROFITS DIVIDED.

W. H. Park of Youngstown Sues His Partner for an Accounting.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., May 3.—(Special)—W. H. Park of the firm of Park & Hamilton, has caused a sensation in the business world by bringing a suit against Hamilton asking for an accounting regarding several big deals, notably the construction of the Youngstown & Sharon, Sharon & Wheatland, and Sharon & New Castle railways.

The roads were built by them, and it is claimed by the plaintiff that Hamilton has failed to account for money received.

He says also that Hamilton secured an electric franchise between this city and Struthers, selling it out to the Mahoning Valley Electric Railway company, and for a steam railroad between this city and Poland, selling it out to the Lake Erie, Youngstown & Southern. He says that he is entitled to half the profits.

This Picture of the Second Marchioness of Hertford, From a Portrait by Sir Joshua Reynolds, Has Just Been Found in a Local Antique Shop.

After being secluded for half a century in the dusty shop of a London art store, a famous picture of the Marchioness of Hertford, who was the great-grandmother of the earl of Yarmouth, has just been brought to light. By a curious coincidence the picture found its way to America about the time that the young Englishman came here to seek his fortune, and followed him as if an omen of good luck, being brought to Pittsburgh on the day of his marriage to Miss Alice Thaw. It was secured by The Gazette and today is published for the first time.

The accompanying half-tone illustration was made from an etching executed 106 years ago by R. Cribb after a celebrated oil portrait of the marchioness by Sir Joshua Reynolds. The original plate of the etching was stored away in Ragley Hall, Warwickshire, England, and has since been lost. The stipple engraving which was brought to America was found by accident in a number of old prints which had been purchased by an antique collector.

The painting of the marchioness is one of the later works of Sir Joshua, having been done at the time he was engaged on his masterpieces—Mrs. Siddons as "The Tragic Muse," and the widely-copied portrait of the duchess of Devonshire and her child. This was about 1784, when the earl of Yarmouth's ancestor was a young matron, a famous beauty and a social leader in Warwick. Soon after this the old artist's eyesight failed and his brush was laid aside forever. The beauty he had reproduced with such grace and charm began to fade, but in Ragley hall still hangs the picture, recalling to the present generation the sweet, demure countenance that beamed in radiance in England's drawing rooms a century ago.

The marchioness, whose features have been preserved for posterity by Sir Joshua's canvas, was Lady Isabella Anne Ingram Shepherd, eldest daughter and co-heir of Charles Ingram, ninth viscount of Irvine. She was the second wife of Francis Seymour, second marquis of Hertford, having been married on May 20, 1772. She died on April 12, 1836, leaving one son, Francis Charles, who succeeded to the estate on June 28, 1822. The portrait was painted shortly after her marriage, and is a splendid example of Reynolds' work at the best period in his career.

After Sir Joshua's death there was a great demand for copies of his works, and etchings were struck off by several London artists. The Seymours, anxious to preserve the likeness of the marchioness, employed Cribb, and he made the plate in 1797, inscribing underneath the picture the coat of arms of the marquis of Hertford and the following in quaint script:

"The Rt. Hon. Marchioness of Hertford; to the Hon. Mrs. Aston this plate is humbly dedicated by her much obliged and very humble servant, R. Cribb. Published July 1, 1797, by R. Cribb, 288 Holborn."

But few etchings were made. The plate passed into the hands of an estate and was lost. The few proofs were scattered among the relatives of the Seymour family, and only one was known to be extant in 1850. This was copied and the picture sold with those of Mrs. Siddons and the duchess of Devonshire, sharing the popularity of those more famous portraits. The copies likewise are very rare.

A New York antique collector bought an old box of etchings in a London art store about six months ago and had them shipped to his New York store. The contents of the box were covered with the accumulated dust of years and were not inspected until a few days ago, when a representative of the Conklin-Stevens Company of No. 541 Smithfield street, Pittsburgh, visited the New York dealer. One of the first treasures brought out of the mouldy heap was the old print of the earl of Yarmouth's great-grandmother. The pictures were shipped to this city, and curiously enough, the package came on an express car on the same train that hauled the private car of the present marquis and marchioness of Hertford and their son.

LODGES AND LIQUOR.

New York Masons Will Consider Question of Its Use by the Organization.

NEW YORK, May 3.—(Special)—Representatives of nearly 700 subordinate lodges of the Masonic fraternity of the state of New York will assemble at the 122nd annual convention of the grand lodge of the Empire state to be formally opened on Tuesday by Elbert Crandall, grand master.

An important matter likely to be taken up is the question of legislation as to the use by lodges of intoxicating liquors. Speaking tonight of the action that had been taken by the grand commandery of Knights Templar of California a few days ago, prohibiting the use of intoxicating drinks in their asylums and at official functions, which action has been followed in several states, Mr. Crandall said:

"The use of liquor at the grand lodge of the state of New York has never been permitted and consequently we need take no action in regard to that."

New officers will be elected at this convention, which will continue until Friday.

WOMAN TAKES POISON IN ST. LOUIS CHURCH

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

ST. LOUIS, May 3.—Mrs. Celia Cuthbertson, 29 years old, employed as a servant at No. 4563 Page avenue, attempted to commit suicide last night while in the Church of the Visitation. Mrs. Cuthbertson drank carbolic acid. She did not take much of the drug and was pronounced out of danger soon after being taken to the home of her sister.

Despondency, brought about by domestic troubles, is assigned as the cause. It is said she is separated from her husband, John Cuthbertson, and this has preyed on her mind.

Relatives of the woman declared last night that she had been suffering from melancholia for several days.

While seated in a pew beside her mother and sister she drank the acid. Her mother and sister led her to the rear of the church and summoned assistance from the other worshipers.

ABOUT INDIAN AFFAIRS.

Government Has Just Published Volume Containing Valuable Information.

WASHINGTON, May 3.—The government printing office has just issued two quarto volumes entitled "Indian Affairs, Law and Treaties," compiled by direction of congress by Charles J. Kapler, clerk to the senate committee on Indian affairs. The volumes contain every treaty made by the United States with the Indians and all laws, executive orders and proclamations relating to the Indians up to December 11, 1902, together with statistics of tribes, trust funds, etc.

The commissioner of Indian affairs in his annual reports has urged for some years that such a compilation be made for the reason that the laws and orders relating to the Indians were scattered through a great number and variety of public documents, making it exceedingly difficult to be sure that one had before him all legislation on any given question relative to the Indians. The present compilation is indexed carefully, and in its general arrangement follows the form of the statutes at large.

BUSINESS MAN FIRES BULLET INTO BREAST

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, PA., May 3.—Lewis F. Hallam, one of the best known business men of Washington, attempted suicide at his home on East Beau street early this morning by sending a bullet from a 32-caliber revolver into his left lung. Physicians state that he cannot recover.

Hallam returned from his office shortly after midnight this morning and went to his home in the heart of the fashionable residence district of Washington. He chatted with his wife for a short time and then prepared for bed. While Mrs. Hallam was in an adjoining room he secured a revolver from a bureau drawer and, pointing the weapon at his breast, sent a bullet crashing into his left lung just above the heart.

His wife, alarmed by the report of the pistol, rushed into the room and found him seated on a bed still holding the revolver clinched in his hand. He soon relapsed into unconsciousness and two physicians were hurriedly summoned. It was found that the bullet had pierced the lung just an inch above the heart. Hallam had evidently attempted to shoot himself through the heart, but his aim was not true.

He recovered consciousness late today, but repeated hemorrhages make his recovery impossible.

Hallam is a member of an old and prominent family and for years has been engaged in the contracting business and also conducted a livery stable. He is reputed to be wealthy. He has a wife and five children.

The deed is attributed to mental depression as a result of illness and the coming marriage of his daughter, to whom he was deeply attached.

MONEY IS PLENTY, SYSTEM IS WRONG

YOUNGSTOWN, O., May 3.—(Special.)—The examiners of the state bureau of supervision and inspection of public offices have found that large overdrafts exist in the special funds which have run over a period of 10 years. This includes special paving, sewers and grading. In some of the other funds more money than has been required has been paid in. This is one of the things that the new council will have to regulate.

JACOB ZIMMERMAN, of Johnstown, Pa.

JOHNSTOWN, PA., May 3.—(Special.)—Jacob Zimmerman, a prominent lawyer of Johnstown, and his brother-in-law, L. A. Clark of Pittsburgh, have bought a great tract of picturesque land in the mountain fastnesses of Somerset county, which they have enclosed as a private hunting and fishing resort.

STRIKE AGAINST RAISE IN RENTS

PUNXSUTAWNEY, PA., May 3.—(Special.)—Four hundred miners at Rossiter went out on a strike yesterday because the coal company had raised their rent 10 per cent, notice of which did not reach them until they received statements on Friday. A meeting of the miners was called in the afternoon, at which officials of the company were present. At a conference which lasted until 4 o'clock, the miners agreed to stand the raise beginning June 1, and the strike was called off.

FOLDING BED CLOSES, CRUSHING OCCUPANT

Prominent Woman at Monessen Found Dead By Son Sunday Morning.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

MONESSEN, PA., May 3.—Mrs. W. E. Scott of this city was the victim of a folding-bed accident some time during the early morning that resulted in her death. Mrs. Scott had been at a restaurant conducted by her son Frank until 12 o'clock last night, and went home at that hour. That was the last seen of her until found dead at 4 o'clock this morning by her son William.

It is supposed that she retired about 12:30 or 1 o'clock, and the accident must have happened shortly after. Instead of the bed closing up from the bottom, the top came over with a crash, crushing her head and mangling both feet. She would have remained in this position until late in the day had it not been necessary for her son William to pass through her room in order to reach his own.

Mrs. Scott was well known in this end of the state. Her husband, William S. Scott, was a veteran of the Philippine war. He was one of the famous "Fighting Tenth" regiment, being a member of Company I. On the return of the regiment he was appointed postmaster at Jeannette, and at the close of his term he came to Monessen and embarked in the hotel business. Mrs. Scott is survived by her husband and four children: Frank, William and Mrs. W. E. Springer of this city and Mrs. C. R. Allen of Washington, Pa.

BUSINESS SECTION OF TOWN DESTROYED

Opera House and Other Buildings at Berlin Burned, Causing $75,000 Loss.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

BERLIN, PA., May 3.—Fire started in the principal business portion of Berlin this morning at 3 o'clock and completely destroyed the Garman Opera building and drug store, the general store of A. R. Cober; restaurant of W. G. Emery; brick residences of John A. Garman and F. R. Collins, the home of W. A. Garman, with all the stables and six horses, buggies and other contents.

The blaze originated in the stable of E. R. Collins and burned so fiercely that nothing was saved. The cause of the fire is unknown.

The loss is $75,000, with the following insurance: A. C. Flotz, $1,500 on store building and contents; F. R. Collins, $6,500 on store building and residence; A. R. Cober, $2,000 on merchandise. The Garman loss is $30,000, with no insurance.

Vigorous work of the bucket brigade kept the fire from spreading further and destroying half of the town.

AMUSING ADVICE TO MULE DRIVERS

WILKESBARRE, PA., May 3.—(Special)—The Delaware & Hudson company has supplied its driver boys with books on the treatment of mules. Unconsciously it is humorous in parts. One sentence which has caused the boys to smile is, drivers must be careful to watch the mule's feet. The boys are told also that mules should be talked to properly and yelling is prohibited because it makes the animals nervous.

Aged Woman Commits Suicide.

YORK, PA., May 3.—(Special.)—Mrs. Sarah A. Wilson, 70 years old, of East Berlin, shocked herself today. She tied a rope about her neck, fastening the one end to a bed post and slipping from a chair, she fell upon her knees, thus strangling herself by the weight of her body.

CHICAGO, ILL., May 3.—It required a strenuous 11th inning rally for the Pittsburgh champions to nose out Sless' recruits today, 3 to 2. It was a heart-breaking finish, which brought the crowd of 17,000 frenzied fans to their feet with cheers and only by the narrowest of margins were the Pirates able to land winners.

With the score remaining 2 to 2 from the time Chicago tied the score in the fourth inning until the 11th not a man was allowed to cross the plate. Phelps opened the final inning for the Pirates with a single to left and went to second on a sacrifice by Kruger. Jimmy Casey ran all the way to the 50-cent bleachers to capture Ritchey's foul fly, making the second out and holding Phelps on second. But then Harry Smith pushed out another single to left and Phelps raced home with Pittsburgh's third score. Kennedy was an easy out, but the one count put the Pirates in the lead.

With only one chance to win the cubs came to bat in the last half of the inning. Tinker flied out to Ritchey and Chance was called out on strikes by Umpire Johnstone, whose nerve is said to be admired by President Pulliam. Then Capt. "Bobby" Lowe drew a pass and "Little" Evers, who had previously made two safe hits, came to the bat. He singled to right, Lowe scampered to third and Wagner's fumble allowed Evers to go to second.

With only a single needed for two runs and victory, Pitcher Jake Weimer was next in the batting list. The latter had made the trip from Pittsburgh short-handed and the best sub for Weimer at the call of Capt. Lowe was "Pop" Williams, another pitcher who has never won many bouquets as a "pinch" hitter.

With Evers anxiously waiting on second and third "Pop" did the best he could, but that was to send an easy roller to Phelps on first, and the game was over.

It was a great game watched by a great crowd. The attendance was not so large as that of a week previous, but all of the bleachers were filled and a fringe of spectators filled the outfield several deep. The crowd was estimated at 17,000, and it looked to be fully that large.

As to the game, it was a contest between Jake Weimer, the cubs' southpaw, and the veteran Kennedy, and but for Weimer's wildness in the opening inning the youngster would probably won out. As the contest was played, however, after the cubs had once tied the score it became a question of staying qualities and the class and nerve of the veteran Pittsburgh team decided the issue. Three passes, a wild pitch and a sacrifice forced in Pittsburgh's first run in the opening inning and Weimer's error and Clarke's two-bagger resulted in the second count in the next inning.

Evers' double and singles by Slagle and Chance gave the cubs one run in the third and Dobbs tied the score in the fourth, being hit by a pitched ball and going the rest of the way around on Tinker's sacrifice, Casey's single and Lowe's outfield fly.

The score then remained at "2 all" until the spectacular finish in the 11th. Score:

REDS' GOOD WORK.

Play Better Game That Donovan's St. Louis Team.

CINCINNATI, May 3.—By timely hitting and good judgment on the bases Cincinnati won an interesting game from St. Louis today. Ewing's pitching was superb and he had the opposing batsmen at his mercy throughout. Currie also pitched good ball, but his support was somewhat ragged. Score:

Western Crack Defeated.

CHICAGO, May 3.—(Special.)—Walter Eckersall, the Hyde park star, who is probably the best known high school athlete in the west, met his defeat in the 100-yard dash at the Butterworth meet at Evanston yesterday. William Hogenson, of the Lewis Institute relay runners, formerly at English High school, was the man who beat "Eckie."

When Eckersall's friends told him it was hard luck he said: "Not at all. I was beaten by a better man." Hogenson ran a hundred yards in :10 1-5, the same time which Eckersall made in his semi-final. This time was one-fifth of a second better than the Cook County High school championship made in various seasons, and last year by Henderson of South Division. It does not equal the Central association interscholastic record of 10 seconds flat, made by Roddick of Racine, Wis., at Madison last year. Roddick was a competitor yesterday, but he did not appear to be in condition, winning his preliminary in the slow time of :11 1-5. Hogenson put Roddick out of the semi-finals in :10 3-5.

Ira Carruthers of the Pontiac High school team broke two of the interscholastic records, beating by two feet the hammer throw of 145 feet, made by Perry of Oskaloosa, Ia., at Chicago, on June 7, 1902, and by 13½ inches the discus record of 104 feet, made by M. Cadin of the West Aurora High school, at Champaign, on May 17 last year.

RECORDS ARE LOWERED AT THE PRINCETON MEET

PRINCETON, May 3.—(Special.)—A large and enthusiastic crowd witnessed the seventh annual interscholastic games of the Princeton Track association yesterday. Eighteen schools were represented by over 150 students and in some events as many as 25 contested.

Mercersburg Academy easily won the pennant with 42 points. Lawrenceville school came second with 19, while Hill school was third with 17½. Temple school scored 15, Haverford Grammar school 8, Berkeley school 7, Penn Charter 5½, Nathan Hale 5, and Brown Preparatory 5.

The one-mile run, 220-yard dash and broad jump resulted in smashing the Princeton interscholastic record. The hottest contested event was the 220-yard dash, in which Jones, of the DeLancey school, broke the Princeton interscholastic record. Magoffin, of Mercersburg, also smashed the one-mile record, doing 4 minutes 43 3-5 seconds.

The crowd was on tiptoes in the 100-yard dash, when Mercersburg scored another victory, though Odell, who covered it in 10 1-5 seconds, equaling the record held by Schick, of Andover. Miller, of the Haverford Grammar school, smashed the broad jump record, clearing 21 feet 3 inches.

The special pennant offered for the one-mile relay race was won by Brown Preparatory school, with the Temple Preparatory second and Perth Amboy high school third. The winners:

Shot put—Won by Andrews, Lawrenceville, with put of 12-pound shot of 46 feet 6 inches.

Quarter mile—Won by Taylor, Brown Preparatory school. Time, :53.

100-yard dash—Finals; won by Odell, Mercersburg; Bonsack, 1-5. This equals record held by Schick, of Andover.

Two-mile run—Won by Cumberland, Temple College preparatory. Time, 10:47 3-5.

120-yard hurdle—Won by Leavitt, Mercersburg. Time, :16 flat. This breaks record by 2-5 second.

High jump—First place a tie between Whitcomb, Mercersburg, and Olmstead, Temple Preparatory, at 5 feet 9 inches; third place a tie between McDonald, Lawrenceville; Moorhead, Penn Charter, and Sheffield, Berkley, at 5 feet 4 3-5 inches.

Half-mile—Won by Parsons, Lawrenceville. Time, 2:07 3-5.

Broad jump—Won by Rulon Miller of Haverford Grammar, with jump of 21 feet 3 inches, which broke the Princeton interscholastic record by 2 inches.

220-yard hurdle—Won by Leavitt, Mercersburg. Time, :26 flat, equaling record.

Pole vault—Won by tie between Moore, Mercersburg, and Roome, Nathan Hale school, at 10 feet 7 inches.

220-yard dash—Won by Bonsack, DeLancey; second, Davis, Hill school; third, Odell, Mercersburg; fourth, Wright, Mercersburg. Time, :22 4-5.

Doesn't Know Jones.

"Barrow has signed a left-hander, and his name is Alex Jones, a Pennsylvania alleged phenom. He is here practicing with the team and will be given a trial."

Jones, who is the old Homestead pitcher, was pitching big league ball before Barrows broke into the business, and was known over the country before the person who wrote the article was out of short clothes. Jones did not go to Detroit for a trial, but was signed by Barrows at a big figure.

KISKI TO PLAY SHADYSIDE TEAM

GOSSIP OF PLAYERS

The Kiskiminetas Springs school team of Saltsburg, the champion interscholastic nine of Western Pennsylvania and Eastern Ohio, will make its first appearance in Pittsburgh this spring by playing the Shadyside academy team this afternoon at Shadyside. This game is really the first for the championship, and from now to the close of the season every game played by Kiskiminetas, Shadyside, Pittsburgh High school and East Liberty will count.

The Shadyside management anticipates a hard game and so has made an effort to get the best local umpire available. Thaxton Bryson of the Homestead team has been selected by Shadyside and he will officiate.

Kiski is not considered as formidable as last year since it lost most of its strong pitching corps. McKallip is at Bucknell and Springer at Washington and Jefferson, leaving Will McLaine the only man who helped so much to bring the championship to Kiski the past two years. McLane pitched Saturday, but it is very likely that Capt. Meade Porterfield will have him on the rubber this afternoon.

Capt. Travis of Shadyside will start the game with Brooks on the rubber, and if he should be bumped or forced to retire, Andy Buerger will be sent in. Clarence Overend will play right field for Shadyside and Tod Sloan will go to left.

SPUHLER HAS KICK.

The Pittsburgh High school returned home late Saturday night from a trip to Greenville and Sharon. Capt. ("Midget") Spuhler was not in the best of humor when he landed home. A few of his men did not play as he thought they should have and the umpiring was the worst he ever saw, he said.

"At Sharon on Saturday, when we played some big athletic team there, we stood no more show than a rabbit to win," he declared. "We hit harder than our big opponents and fielded as well, but we got the worst of every close decision, although I never looked for the best of it, and it seemed that the umpires, especially at Sharon, were out to beat us. At Sharon we had the bases full and Tenney smashed out the ball for three sacks, but, much to our surprise and indignation, he called it foul, when the ball was fair by a mile."

Spuhler will make one or two changes in the team. The Greensburgh High school will play Pittsburgh High school here tomorrow afternoon.

PLAYED IT SAFE.

It seems second nature for baseball players to fan, and one of the feats that a tosser takes delight in relating is the number of stolen bases he or a teammate fellow purloined in a game or a season. Quite a few of the Homestead players had a fanning bee on the other day and the topic soon turned to speed. One player said that Harry McChesney was one of the fastest men in "this league," and related how he ran a race at a picnic a few years ago and beat a field of 10.

McChesney went to Homestead from the East End three seasons ago to play middle field when George Grosser, now dead, left for the Boston National league team. Soon after his advent Manager Rishoff took the team to Idlewild to play a game before the picnickers. The committee on amusements had arranged for sprinting races, free for all. The first prize was $5 and the second $3. The Homestead players were asked to enter. "Joes" Clarke, now with Des Moines, was considered the fastest man on the team, and McChesney had also shown much speed in his recent games. Clarke, the narrator said, was a little afraid of McChesney and before the race said to him: "We'll run this race together; if we run first and second, it means an equal division of the money." McChesney agreed, and when the pistol was fired McChesney got away first and the field trailed behind the entire distance, with Clarke a good second.

The Western University of Pennsylvania team arrived home yesterday morning from Morgantown, where the West Virginia university team was played on Saturday. The game came to a close in the ninth inning because of a dispute when the score was in favor of W. U. P. W. U. P. left for Meadville immediately after reaching home, where Allegheny college will be played today.

CENTRAL LEAGUE GAMES.

Scott's Sensational Catch Against South Bend Saves Day at Terre Haute.

TERRE HAUTE, IND., May 3.—With the bases full and two outs, Scott saved the day's game by making a sensational one-handed catch. Score:

Anderson	0	1	3

Acorns Practice This Evening.

All Acorn players are requested to report for practice this evening at Central park at 6:30 o'clock. The Acorns would like to arrange games with one of the following teams: Rochester, McDonald, Bridgeville, Wilmerding, Swissvale, Mansfield and Cottage A. C. Address Manager Harry Dubnord, 1936 Bedford avenue, Pittsburg.

NATIONAL LEAGUE HAS MANY .300 HITTERS

Joe Tinker of the Chicago club led the National league batters up to yesterday, counting only players that have taken part in seven or more games.

Kittridge leads the catchers, Boyle the first basemen, Ritchey the guardians of the second sack, Strang the third basemen and Tinker and Otto Williams have an even break as leaders at shortstop. A long list of outfielders still show creditless records. Brooklyn has a big lead in team fielding.

BETTER DOG SHOWS ARE PROMISED CHICAGO

Stock Company Will Be Formed and Ten Men Will Subscribe $10,000 Capital Stock.

CHICAGO, May 3.—(Special.)—Dog shows for future years in this city are believed to be assured by a movement that has been taking form among Chicagoans during the last week. A stock company is being formed. Ten men who have been the leaders in the dog shows of the past are at the head of the enterprise and will subscribe the $10,000 capital stock between them.

The idea is along the lines of a reorganization of the Chicago Kennel club, which gave the last show. It is proposed, however, to take the Mascoutah Kennel club and to produce an organization that will put future exhibition of the canines on a firm footing.

Some of the men who are behind the movement are Phil Henrici, Jr., Dr. D. D. Richardson Samuel Summerfield and Charley Essing. The plans are not thoroughly matured as yet, and officers have not yet been selected. Dr. Richardson, however, is slated for the presidency and the subscribers will hold a meeting in the near future to arrange this and other details.

The new organization will, it is believed, be free from many of the annoyances which troubled the promoters in the past. During the last show there was a general mix-up between constables and others in the box office, with enough of gun play to throw the spectators into a panic. The change will mean, too, a casting aside of much dead wood of the old Chicago Kennel club, which had, it is said, about 200 members, of whom possibly 10 paid their dues with regularity.

With these advantages it will be possible to give shows that will eclipse anything in that line ever before known here. The First regiment armory has proven too small for the purpose and the Coliseum will be utilized henceforth.

JACK M'CLELLAND STARTS TRAINING HERE TODAY

Jack McClelland will start training today. James Mason received a letter from Jack O'Brien, asking if McClelland would meet Billy Maynard at Philadelphia in a few weeks. Mason answered that he would bid a little higher to get the bout here, and as the figure he offered was considerably higher the chances are that O'Brien will accept. McClelland will meet some good man here one week from next Saturday.

Bringing Shepard's Remains Home.

CHIHUAHUA, MEX., May 3.—The body of the late Alexander R. Shepard was taken through here from Batopilas on the way to Washington, D. C., in charge of Mrs. Shepard and other members of the family. The remains of the former governor of the District of Columbia are to be interred in Washington, the city he beautified.

TURKS DEFEATED BY INSURGENTS

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]
LONDON, May 4.—A dispatch to the Morning Leader from Sofia describes a battle between Turks and insurgents at Logodasch. The Turks were defeated with a loss of six officers and 200 men killed.

Owing to the existing censorship, it is still impossible to obtain reliable news from Salonica. The reports of a general massacre there probably are exaggerated, but the statements that several hundreds were killed emanate from various points, including Constantinople, where it is alleged also that Turkey has decided to send an ultimatum to Bulgaria. Two Italian warships have arrived at Salonica, and the porte, fearing that foreign troops will be landed, has requested Austria to withdraw her squadron.

It is reported from Uskub, European Turkey, that the Turks are holding meetings in the mosques and discussing a general massacre of the Christian population in the event of dynamite outrages which, according to prisoners arrested in Salonica, have been planned to occur at Constantinople, Uskub and Andripole. Albanians have plundered several villages near Prizren, Turkey. The Turkish troops made no attempt to hinder them.

BISHOP HURST DIES AFTER LONG ILLNESS

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]
WASHINGTON, May 4.—Bishop John Fletcher Hurst of the Methodist Episcopal church died here at 12:40 o'clock this morning.

With the bishop when he died were his daughter Ellen, and a son, Lieut. Paul Hurst of the Third United States infantry, who arrived only a few hours previously. Another son, John L. Hrust, is on his way here from Denver, having been summoned when it was seen the end was near. One other son, Carl Bailey Hurst, is at Vienna, where he is United States consul general.

Bishop Hurst had been in failing health for nearly two years and for more than a year it had been recognized that a fatal termination of his malady was but a question of months. He was stricken with paralysis in London last September a year ago, when attending the ecumenical conference. The news of President McKinley's assassination prostrated him and the shock brought on rapidly the decline that finally ended in his decease at an early hour this morning.

CIVIC FEDERATION CALLS LABOR CONFERENCE

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]
CHICAGO, May 3.—A national industrial conference, to which former President Cleveland, Senator Hanna, President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor, John Mitchell, head of the miners' union, and other leaders in the industrial and political life of the country will be invited, is to be called by the National Civic Federation to meet in Chicago. Secretary Easley made the announcement today. The gathering will be held in the Auditorium.

Among the plans the federation will propose is one that manufacturers of a certain line of goods be induced to agree, where the demand of labor is sufficiently insistent, to a gradual reduction of working hours—a reduction of half an hour each year instead of one and more hours at a time, in return for the agreement by the unions not to restrict production.

ONE NEGRO CONFESSES AND TWO ARE LYNCHED

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]
VICKSBURG, MISS., May 3.—Bob Bryant and Will Morris, the assassins of W. H. Legg, were hanged to the Yazoo bridge at Haynes Bluff, just before daylight this morning.

Bryant had made a confession to officers who arrested him, implicating Morris, whom he accused of firing the fatal shot.

At a point near the Legg place, 200 farmers stopped the officers and took the two blacks into a nearby thicket.

MATOS LANDS AGAIN.

WILLEMSTAD, ISLAND OF CURACAO, Wednesday, April 29.—Gen. Matos, the leader of the Venezuelan revolution, left this island last Saturday and landed the following night of the Venezuelan coast. He proceeded overland to Barquisimeto, where he assumed command of a large revolutionary force.

He will march inland, and in combination with Gen. Rolando from the east he purposes to commence operations against Caracas.

The recent defeat in the Rio Chico district of the government Gens. Gomez and Ferrer at the hands of revolutionists under Gen. Rolando has been fully confirmed. The government forces are said to have been completely annihilated.

Incendiary Sets Barn on Fire.

ALTOONA, PA., May 3.—(Special.)—A large barn on the farm of J. M. Hutchinson, just east of Aitoona, was destroyed by fire this morning, entailing a loss of $7,000. The fire started in a stable nearby, and while an effort was being made to extinguish it, fire was discovered breaking out in half a dozen places in the lower part of the barn, indicating that an incendiary was at work. Nine horses, 11 cows and 11 hogs were burned to death.

PENNSYLVANIA'S SITE LOCATED IN RAVINE

Senator Grady Returns and Talks About St. Louis World's Fair.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]
PHILADELPHIA, May 3.—Senator John C. Grady, chairman of the committee of the Pennsylvania commission to the Louisiana Purchase exposition, arrived home last evening in advance of his colleagues. The remainder of the committee will reach here early tomorrow morning.

Senator Grady is enthusiastic over the plans of the citizens of St. Louis for their great show. He says it is going to be the most stupendous exposition ever given in this country and, possibly, in the world.

"The Pennsylvania commission who attended the dedication ceremonies," said Senator Grady, "have every reason to be pleased with the attention shown them by the citizens of the city, and especially the officers of the exposition. The stories regarding dissatisfaction among the visitors are largely exaggerations, and some, possibly, the result of envy on the part of jealous champions of Chicago, who are chagrined over the bright prospects of St. Louis forging away ahead.

"Personally, I am not satisfied with the site which they have set apart for the Pennsylvania building, although Representative Stulbe and others in our party do not agree with me. The St. Louis commissioners have allotted to Pennsylvania a site which is in a ravine, at a turn of the road running down from a hill on which the Missouri building will be constructed. This building is to be a permanent structure.

"We have been alloted a position next to that of Ohio, which is also in the ravine. Illinois and New York have been given the next tracts, but they are on rising ground."

KIDNAPED DAUGHTER IN AN AUTOMOBILE

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]
NEW YORK, May 3.—Snatching his five-year old daughter almost from the arms of her aunt at Morristown, N. J., this afternoon, John G. Bradley, said to be an official of the steel trust in Philadelphia, dashed down a short walk to the street, climbed into a large high-power automobile, and as another man thrust back the shrieking grandmother, Mr. Bradley clasped his daughter in his arms and shot the great machine through the quiet streets of the Jersey village out into the country.

Mr. Bradley eloped with Miss Kittie Robeson, of Morristown, about seven years ago. She was young and pretty, and despite the fact that her mother, Mrs. Mary Robeson, is well-to-do and lives in a comfortable home, became a stenographer in the office of Judge Pitney.

BLOODHOUNDS TO GO ON TRAIL OF VANDALS

WASHINGTON, PA., May 3.—(Special.)—Bloodhounds have been summoned from Charleroi to run down vandals who were at work at Lone Pine, near here, last night. The stables of Henry C. Slusher were entered last night and all the harness, grain and farming implements destroyed. The harness were cut to shreds, the wagons and vehicles broken to pieces and a large quantity of grain poured out and destroyed.

Bloodhounds will be put on the trail tomorrow.

Playhouse Burned Down.

A playhouse in the rear of the residence of F. J. Einstein, 416 Lincoln avenue, was totally destroyed by fire at 11:30 o'clock last night. The origin of the fire is unknown. The loss is about $100.

Small Suburban Fire.

An alarm was sent in from box No. 191, Allegheny, at 8:30 o'clock yesterday morning for a roof blaze in a house in City View, just out of the city limits. The loss was about $25.

Tired Shoppers

Worse mornings—
Ever feel that way?

Doan's Kidney Pills

do this—don't affect any other organ—just make sick kidneys well—Have been doing it for years here in Pittsburgh—Hundreds of Pittsburgh people say so—People who have been cured—couldn't have better testimony—
Read this statement—

A year or so ago I did a great deal of sewing. The sitting steadily for hours at a time was very hard on me and I soon commenced to have terrible pains in my back. Sometimes I would scarcely be able to get out of bed in the morning. I was greatly distressed. My whole system seemed to be out of order—

I heard about Doan's Kidney Pills and finally decided to try them. I got a box at Fleming's Drug Store and began to feel relief in a day or two. That one box cured me completely—

A few months later my husband was troubled with lame back and he also found almost instant relief in Doan's Kidney Pills. I cannot tell you how much we both appreciate your wonderful remedy. MRS. HENRY GEIS,

DELAY SAVES J. LEVY FROM BURIAL ALIVE

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]
ERIE, PA., May 3.—J. Levy of this city, who was struck by a freight train on the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh railroad, near West Newton, N. Y., Tuesday night, came to life unexpectedly Friday afternoon, according to the story of his brother, Max Levy, who took charge of the injured young man and returned today. He lay unconscious three days, was pronounced dead by persons in attendance, and a wagon had been backed up to the door of the morgue to take the body to the potter's field for burial when his brother arrived.

Delay in finding relatives probably saved the injured man from being buried. The only means of identification when the coroner took charge of the supposed corpse was a paper written with the name J. Levy, Dunkirk, N. Y. From Dunkirk Levy was traced to Erie, where he has lived two years. His brothers were communicated with by telephone and being convinced that the injured man was their brother went to claim the body. The revival of the young man frightened the attendants more than the brothers.

RECEIVES REVELATIONS.

Claim of Columbus Minister in Sermon Causes Congregation to Dismiss Him.

COLUMBUS, O., May 3.—Rev. Paul L. Johnson was dismissed from the pastorate of St. Matthew's Lutheran church by the congregation here today, because of his declaration, made from the pulpit, that he has received some new revelations on the Bible, particularly with regard to the baptism of the Holy Ghost and to faith in Christ.

The doctrine which he preached to his congregation last Sunday for the first time is that after earnest and long praying one may receive a real baptism of the Holy Ghost, and that after that he can heal diseases and perform other miracles by the aid of faith.

He declared that he had by faith cured himself of a certain throat trouble, with which he had been afflicted. Suddenly the trouble returned while he was preaching and he was scarcely able to speak.

He asked his people to pray with him, as "the devil was trying to overcome him," and after 10 minutes he announced a vicory over the devil and his voice returned with its former power.

AFRAID TO GO BACK.

Man Gets Into a Runaway Accident and Is Now Charged With Horse Stealing.

County Detective N. K. Coller of Armstrong county arrested Homer Ramsey of Kittanning at Clairton yesterday and locked him up in Central station several hours while awaiting a train to take him to Kittanning for trial.

Ramsey hired a horse and buggy some months ago. The horse ran away and smashed the rig, and Ramsey was afraid to return the horse and abandoned it some distance out of town. It was discovered by the owner later and a charge of horse stealing was made against Ramsey. He gave bail in $500 for trial last December, but when the trial was called he had jumped his bail. Detective Coller learned a few days ago that he was at Clairton and went there yesterday and arrested him.

Drinks Carbolic Acid.

CANTON, O., May 3.—(Special.)—Miss Minnie Reed died early this morning from the effects of carbolic acid, taken a short time before. Friends, who do not think it was a case of deliberate suicide, say she has been suffering from a serious disease for more than a year, which occasioned many sinking spells. They think the acid was drank unconsciously during an acute attack of the disease. Miss Reed was a prepossessing woman, 20 years of age. She was born in Leechburg, Pa., and came here about six years ago with her parents.

CROWDS TURNED OUT DESPITE THE WEATHER

Despite the condition of the weather during the greater part of yesterday, many persons visited the parks. The flower show at Schenley park was the principal drawing card, and, while the conservatory was at no time uncomfortably crowded, there was a steady stream of people viewing the display. Although there have been no recent additions to the show, the Easter flowers still appear to be as much appreciated as they were on the opening day.

The attendance at the organ recital was one of the smallest of the season at Pittsburgh Carnegie hall, but those who were willing to take a chance with the weather were liberally rewarded by an excellent rendition of an interesting program by Organist Edwin H. Lemare.

Schenley park is still without a superintendent. William Falconer, former superintendent and at present connected with the Allegheny cemetery, has not been to the park since Arbor Day, when he spent some time assisting the children to plant trees. McClain, who was associated with Mr. Falconer during the latter's connection with the city, appears to be in charge.

The zoo at Highland park was fairly well patronized during the afternoon, and a spirited encounter between two of the monkeys created considerable excitement among the young people present and much amusement for their elders.

Most of the visitors at the parks were excursionists. The Low Grade division of the Allegheny Valley railroad ran a floral excursion and two trains of 10 cars each were brought in.

WORLD'S FAIR VISITORS ARE LEAVING ST. LOUIS

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

ST. LOUIS, May 3.—Nearly all the dedication visitors have departed from St. Louis, and those who remain will have gone by tomorrow. President Francis, accompanied by a party of visitors and by officials of the exposition, spent the afternoon inspecting the United States monitor Arkansas, moored in St. Louis harbor during the dedication week.

The Arkansas will depart from St. Louis tomorrow. Whether she will return to the gulf, or extend her pilgrimage to Quincy, Ill., has been left to the discretion of Commander Vreeland, and while he has not determined on her course, it is very probable the monitor will go up the Mississippi to Quincy tomorrow.

Cardinal Gibbons, who will return to Baltimore tomorrow, attended mass today at St. Francis Xavier's Catholic church. He officiated at the high mass, but took no part in the subsequent service, excepting that he was seated on the throne.

William Carmody, a private in Company E, Twentieth United States infantry, who lived at Mount Sterling, Ky., and had been here for the dedication ceremonies, was killed by a street car before daylight today. The body was badly mangled.

Pittsburgh Man Asphyxiated.

TORONTO, ONT., May 3.—Samuel Edwin Guest was found dead today in a room on Peter street. The gas was turned on and it was evidently a case of suicide. Guest has a wife in Pittsburgh, Pa.

NOTICES.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.
To all owners and users of steam boilers in Allegheny county, Pa.: Your attention is called to the following section of the act of assembly, approved June 6, 1873, P. L., 1874, P. 440. Section 14th of act of assembly requires, "That all persons owning or using stationary boilers within the limits of Allegheny county aforesaid, shall report in writing to the office of the inspector, the location of every boiler in use by him or them."

Section 15th provides, "That if any person shall, after the passage of this act, maintain, or keep in use or operation, or shall thereafter put in use or operation any stationary steam engine or boiler within the limits of Allegheny county, without having first received a certificate that the same has been found safe and competent, as provided for in said act, or shall put or keep in use or operation any such stationary steam boiler within the county aforesaid, after notice from the inspector that the same is not competent and safe, he or she so offending shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof, shall be sentenced to pay a fine not exceeding $5,000, and to imprisonment in jail and workhouse with or without labor, as the court may direct, for a term not exceeding two years, and each and every person shall be liable for all damages that accrue either directly or indirectly to any person or persons whatever." Parties using steam boilers without certificate of inspection will please send in name and location of all such boilers, that they may be inspected at once.

FINE MONUMENT WAS UNVEILED

DIED FIVE YEARS AGO

He Was Pastor of Bates Street Reformed Hungarian Church and Was Well Beloved by the Congregation.

The handsome granite monument, erected in Homewood cemetery to the memory of the late Rev. Frank Ferenczi, former pastor of the Bates Street Reformed Hungarian church, was unveiled yesterday morning with impressive services. Prior to the unveiling a religious service was held in the church.

The first service opened at 11 o'clock. The Rev. Alexander Kalassyi of Bridgeport, Conn., a close friend of the dead minister, preached the sermon, paying eloquent tribute to the subject of the services. At 12:30 o'clock, when the church services were concluded, the entire congregation, numbering about 1,000, men, women and children, formed a line for the march to the cemetery.

Many of the men wore uniforms of church organizations, and two brass bands were in attendance. The music was all of somber character, Chopin's "Marche Funebre," Grieg's suite, "Peer Gynt," and the funeral marches of Gounod and Tschaikowsky. The parade reached the cemetery and formed a line about the monument.

An impressive sermon was delivered in English by the Rev. Dr. John H. Prugh, pastor of Grace Reformed church. A sermon in Hungarian was preached by the Rev. Alexander Harssanzi of Chicago. The present pastor of the Bates Street church, the Rev. Paul Konzah, also made a few remarks. The unveiling was performed by members of the congregation.

The monument is of large size, and represents a broken branch of a huge tree. On a projecting limb is an open book. On one of the open pages is the dead preacher's name and the date of his birth and death, 1856 and 1898, in the Hungarian tongue. On the other side is the same inscription in English. The monument is built of light granite.

The Rev. Ferenczi, for whom the monument was erected, became pastor of the Bates Street church in 1893, coming here direct from Hungary, where he had been preaching. He became well beloved by his congregation and was a man of great intelligence and faithfulness. When he died, in the summer of 1898, he left his entire estate to the church. With this money a lot was purchased in Glenwood and soon a new edifice will be erected thereon by the congregation. Their present church building is too small for its needs.

MIRACLE PERFORMED TO IMPRESS THE HEATHEN

The Rev. J. T. McCrory Discusses Joshua's Command to the Sun.

Continuing his series on "The Great Things in Religion," the Rev. J. T. McCrory last night in the Third United Presbyterian church, Pittsburgh, preached a sermon on "Did the Sun and Moon Stand Still on Command of Joshua." The text was from Joshua x:14. Mr. McCrory said in part:

In His doings in Hebrew history, especially the deliverance from bondage and conquest of the promised land, God was revealing Himself. Among other attributes to be revealed was His almightiness. The fact was to be made known to all ages that Jehovah was the supreme Almighty Lord. Deeds must be done for which, therefore, there could be no natural explanation in that time or any time. Such, for example, was the passage of the Jordan and the overthrow of the walls of Jericho. As the magicians of Egypt said in regard to one of the miracles of Moses which they could not imitate—"This is the finger of God."

This was a great occasion and worthy of such a divine intervention. This was the first time, west of the Jordan and since the death of Moses, that the Hebrews had met in open battle a truly formidable host. All the confederate nations of the southern part of Palestine were there and the battle was to be a decisive one. This was like Marathon or Waterloo or Gettysburg.

The form of the miracle was peculiarly adapted to impress these heathens, who were worshipers of the sun and moon. Their very deities, therefore, were turned against them and made to do service for the invaders. The form of many of the miracles, as we know, which were performed in Egypt, was for the purpose of bringing into contempt the gods of Egypt.

The account of the battle requires an extension of time, as an ordinary day would not have given time to complete it. From the time the Hebrews left Gilgal in response to the call of the Gibeonites until they closed the day at Makkedah they had marched more than 30 miles and had fought a battle over 30 miles. This, according to the narrative, was accomplished in a night and a day.

RELIGIOUS NOTES.

St. Coleman's Roman Catholic church at Turtle Creek will be dedicated next Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock by the Rt. Rev R. Phelan, Catholic bishop of Pittsburgh.

The new Covenant mission, No. 333 Forty-second street, will be dedicated tomorrow. There will be three sessions at which several local and out-of-town ministers will participate.

The Rev. John A. Jayne, pastor of the Observatory Hill Christian church, Allegheny, conducted religious services in the county jail at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Solos were rendered by Miss Stella Schulmeyer and Harry Merker.

The Rev. Edwin M. Bowman, pastor of the Calvary Presbyterian church, Sixth street, Braddock, preached his farewell sermon to his congregation last night. About two weeks ago Mr. Bowman accepted a call to the First Presbyterian church, Hollidaysburg, Pa., one of the largest congregations in the Huntingdon presbytery.

Dr. Henry Houck, former state superintendent of schools, will deliver a lecture in the Fourth United Presbyterian church, Friendship and Pacific avenues, tonight, under the auspices of the Young Peoples' society. His subject will be "Bound to Win," one which has attracted widespread interest in education circles where it has been delivered.

Dr. Wilbur F. Crafts, superintendent of the International reform bureau, preached on "Living and Dying Nations," in the Bellefield Presbyterian church, yesterday morning. In the evening he occupied the pulpit in the First United Presbyterian church, Pittsburgh, speaking on "Victories Won and Waiting." Today he will make his annual report to the bureau president, who resides in this city.

KILLED BY BLOW

Charleston, W. Va., Lad Is Dead and Companion Is Placed Under Arrest.

CHARLESTON, W. VA., May 3.—(Special.)—Herbert Jarret, aged 15, died this morning from concussion of the brain, the result of a blow which fractured his skull. Clinton Hudson, a companion of about the same age, is under arrest, charged with killing Jarret.

The two boys with several companions assembled in a vacant lot near the state capitol building last night and was drinking beer when a dispute arose between Jarret and Hudson. It is charged that Hudson struck Jarret with a wooden mallet used in opening a keg of beer. Jarret was taken home where he died several hours later.

Both boys belong to well-known and highly respected families.

SERMON BY THE PASTOR

Dr. W. B. Slutz Outlined Church's History and Dwelt Upon Its Wonderful Growth — Services to Be Held This Week.

The opening services in the week celebration of the 10th anniversary of the Lincoln Avenue Methodist Episcopal church, East End, were held yesterday before a large congregation. The morning service was opened by an address by the Rev. William F. McDowell, D. D., of New York, secretary of the board of missions of the Methodist Episcopal church. The anniversary sermon was preached by the Rev. Worthington B. Slutz, D. D., pastor of the church. His topic was "A Working Church," and he said in part:

From the thrilling bit of history contained in Nehemiah, "the people had a heart to work," the church of God has learned many valuable lessons. Nehemiah and his friends succeeded in restoring the walls about the Holy City because they mixed much prayer with their toil; they sacrificed ease and pleasure and diligently stayed with their task until victory crowned all.

We see in the conduct of these people, under the inspiration of noble leaders, at least three elements of power—devotion, courage and industry. These are indispensable characteristics which bring success in almost any endeavor. Particularly is this true in Christian work in the growth and development of the church of Christ. God will prosper that work characterized by devotion to Himself, supplemented by a lofty type of courage and tireless industry.

The Lincoln Avenue Methodist Episcopal church has made a splendid record during the first ten years of its history. The organization of the church was effected May 9, 1893, by the Rev. J. P. Long, D. D., now of Duluth, Minn. The charter membership was 106. About 70 of these had been identified with the Emory church. Others came to us from Smithfield Street, North Avenue, Trinity and Christ churches. This beautiful corner lot was soon purchased at a cost of $15,000. Soon after this purchase, a new church was planned and in a comparatively short time this splendid edifice was erected, the extreme dimensions of which are 80x100 feet. The Sunday school room is one of the most attractive in the city. The audience room is pleasing and commodious. The property as it now stands, including the fine art windows recently added, together with the parsonage, is valued at $70,000.

Much credit is due the wise leadership of Dr. Long. He founded and organized the church and at the close of a five-year pastorate left a membership of nearly 400. During one of these years the Rev. C. M. Miller, A. M., of this city, was associated with Dr. Long and proved himself an earnest worker and a true yoke-fellow. The pastorate of two and a half years of the Rev. G. H. Humason, Ph. D., now of Camden, N. J., was highly satisfactory. His was the gospel of sunshine and a service of love.

When the present pastor came to this church he found about 480 members, well organized, a model Sunday school and a growing Epworth league. We have had a pleasant, prosperous time from the beginning. God has blessed us in every way. One hundred people have united with the church since last October, making a total membership of 625. Last year our benevolent offering was $2,019. The total amount paid for all purposes during the year was $9,176.

Services were also held yesterday afternoon and evening. Other services will be held tomorrow and Thursday evenings and on next Sunday. Bishop H. W. Warren, LL. D., of Denver, and Bishop John W. Hamilton, LL. D., of San Francisco, will attend the services during the week.

STATE LEGISLATORS WHO WENT TO ST. LOUIS

Only Fault Found Was the Poor Street Car Service to Exposition Grounds.

The state comission appointed by the governor to represent the state of Pennsylvania at the opening of the Louisiana purchase exposition at St. Louis stopped for a few moments at the Union station last evening en route to their homes.

The party was composed of Frank B. McClain, Lancaster; William Wayne, Chester; William B. Kirker, Allegheny; J. A. F. Hoy, Clarion; Albert B. Cooper, Indiana; George J. Hartman, Luzerne; H. H. Gilkyson, Chester; Hiram Young, York, and Theodore B. Stulb, Philadelphia.

The commission left Philadelphia on Tuesday last in the private car Gascony. They are enthusiastic over their reception and treatment while in the Mound City, especially in view of the immense concourse of people which assembled for the dedicatory exercises, when accommodations of any kind were at a premium.

In speaking of the manner of handling the large number of distinguished visitors the only criticism they made was the poor transportation facilities to and from the expostion grounds. On the opening day the governor of Missouri was obliged to use a trolley car and avail himself of a strap until his identity became known.

UNKNOWN ASSAILANT STABS HELPLESS MAN

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, May 3.—With deep stab wounds on his arms and head, Frank Walters of Williamsburg was tonight in a critical condition in St. Catherine's hospital, with the chances against his recovery. He received the wounds at the hands of an unidentified assailant, for whom the police of the Stagg street station were still searching tonight.

Walters and his wife retired late Saturday night and about an hour after midnight he was awakened by a rapping on the kitchen door. When Walters asked who it was he was told to get up quickly, as it was to his interest to do so. The carpenter made all haste to open the door, when he was suddenly set upon by a man who, he is sure, was wearing false whiskers. Before Walters realized his danger his assailant began to slash him and did not desist until Walters fell to the floor. The man then fled, pushing aside Walters' wife, who had come to the assistance of her husband.

Walters is desperately wounded. He says he has no enemies, but thinks the attack may have been made by a strange man who lived in the house and who was recently in trouble with the police. At that time Walters aided the police.

SHOOTS HIS BROTHER THEN KILLS HIMSELF

NELSONVILLE, O., May 3.—At Sand Run, a mining village five miles north of Nelsonville, Charles Dunkle probably fatally wounded his brother, John Dunkle, today. Believing his brother to be dead, Charles shot himself in the head and died almost instantly. The wounded brother is reported tonight to be dying. Both men were miners.

PROMISE OF BETTER DAYS IN THE BIBLE

Clouds of Sorrow That Hover Over Us Are Dispelled by Book Beautiful.

At the Observatory Hill Christian church, Allegheny, last evening, the pastor, the Rev. John A. Jayne, preached upon the theme, "The Book Beautiful." His text was Psalms 199:16. After quoting at length from the statements of great men like Gladstone, Goethe, Locke and Scott, relative to the Bible, Mr. Jayne said:

Over in an old Ohio town there used to live a kindly spirited old man, who dearly loved to play the violin. Every morning he led the public school orchestra, and taught the children correct principles in music. At the noon time hour he played for the cheer of men tired with the burden of the day, in the afternoon he would visit the sick and with the witchery of his music cause them to forget their pain, and in the evening, old songs and new would swell and throb from his old violin.

He played at weddings, funerals, and entertainments, and wherever he went the charm of his music cheered, encouraged and helped. What that old musician with his violin was to the social and musical life of the town, an inspiration and a help, this old Bible is to the world at large, a help, a purifier and a cheer. It is a book for the children, young men and maidens, old men and women, the philosopher and the sage. As a tiny spring in the mountains swells in its progress toward the sea, into a mighty stream bringing bloom and blossom into sterile lands, so this Book with its life giving current passing through the sterile wastes of life, transforms it and makes it blossom as the rose.

As the rainbow hangs in the arching clouds after the storm has passed away, and gives promise of a brighter day on the morrow, so this Book arches the clouds of sorrow that hover around this life and gives promise of a bright and better day to come. As a great bridge thrusts out its strong cables from shore to shore and makes of two cities a mighty metropolis, so this Book reaches from heaven to earth and from earth to heaven, bridging the river of death, makes of both the Father's house, a fit habitation for redeemed spirits.

BATTLE OF CARDENAS WILL BE RECALLED

Society of the Caribbean Will Commemorate Celebrated Naval Engagement.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, May 3.—Members of the Society of the Caribbean, an organization composed of newspaper correspondents, artists and special writers who reported and sketched that part of the war with Spain whose theater was laid around Cuba and in the waters of the Caribbean, have decided to give their annual dinner on the evening of May 11.

It is a rule of the society to commemorate some event of the war. None of those who carried the torpedo boat Winslow into action that day and none who so gallantly fought the revenue cutter Hudson on that May 11 in Cardenas will need to be told what anniversary this dinner will commemorate. Lieutenant Commander Bernadou of the United States navy, who commanded the Winslow in that gallant affair, will be the guest of the society at the dinner which is to be given at the Cafe Martin.

While the society originally included only those who went through the war in the Caribbean, the organization at its last meeting enlarged its membership so as to include the correspondents and artists who were sent to Martinique at the time of the St. Pierre disaster.

Waiters Being Organized.

The waiters' union met yesterday afternoon at No. 952 Penn avenue and a large number of new members were enrolled. There are over 1,000 persons eligible to membership in Pittsburgh and Allegheny and a special effort will be made to get them all in line. When this is done a wage scale will be presented to the proprietors of hotels, cafes and restaurants. The union is affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

Engineers Going to Work.

Practically all of the hoisting and portable engineers who were on strike will resume work this morning, as nearly every employer has signed the scale. Where the contractors have not acceded to the demands of the men the Builders' league will investigate and endeavor to effect a settlement. Less than 50 men will be idle after today.

SPIRITUAL SUCCESS WILL COME IN TIME

Fabian Policy Advised in Spiritual as Well as Worldly Matters.

At the First Congregational church, Franklin and Manhattan streets, Allegheny, last night the pastor, the Rev. Thomas Clayton, preached a sermon entitled "Learning How to Wait." His text was taken from Psalms, xxvii:14, "Wait thou on the Lord." During the course of his sermon Mr. Clayton said in part:

How much is lost in this life because men will not wait. Many think they must realize at once or else turn something else down. Splendid prospects are thrown away because people will not be patient. Young people throw up good positions because promotion comes slowly and they are unwilling to wait for it. They do not seem to believe the old saying, "A rolling stone gathers no moss."

That is why many men remain in the bottom in their profession. They would never wait long enough for the favorable opportunity to rise a step higher. They are like some would-be fishermen, who do not stay long enough in one spot for the fish to become interested in the bait, but go up and down the stream slashing the water with their lines and frightening the fish away. An old colored man we knew in former years would wait in one place for hours to get a bite, yet he was considered the most successful fisherman on the river.

The men and women who know how to wait are the ones who reach success in life. The people who fail in spiritual things, the Bible is full of encouragement to wait on the Lord. To wait for Him as men of old had to wait on the pleasure of their kings. To wait for spiritual graces as the husbandman waits for the harvest. To wait continually in prayer until the Lord answers. Jesus said, "Men ought always to pray and not to faint." We are exhorted to wait for help and relief in the hard circumstances and trials of life. To emulate the patience of Job, who waited for Jehovah to vindicate him, and He did.

We are to wait patiently for the fruit of our faithful service, knowing that in due season we shall reap if we faint not. The scriptures also contain sweet promises for all who learn to wait. "They shall not be ashamed that wait for Me." "They that wait upon the Lord shall know their strength." One might say that in waiting the soul gathers strength by the very exercise of self-control. Those who know how to wait know how to conquer.

McKees Rocks Gospel Tent Opened.

The opening of the Gospel Tabernacle tent at Island avenue and Cutler street, McKees Rocks, was held yesterday. The tent was filled almost to its capacity at both the afternoon and evening services. Many went to the front to seek salvation, being urged by the pleas of the Rev. L. S. Brewster, pastor of the First Christian church of McKees Rocks, and Ralph W. Elliott, the evangelist. Mr. Elliott will conduct services during the summer.

DON'T BE IN A HURRY TO ACCUMULATE RICHES

"Over-Eagerness to Rise" was the topic of a sermon preached by the Rev. S. Edward Young in the Second Presbyterian church, Pittsburgh, last night. His text was taken from First Samuel, iii:10, "Speak, for Thy servant heareth." Mr. Young said in part:

A curse of our time is the excessive hurry to succeed. We forget that 51 years ago a messenger boy resolved to be head of his telegraph company and that only a few months ago, after more than 50 years at it, this same Robert Garrett, president of this same Western Union Telegraph Company. Listening to the late blind Chaplain Milburn's dulcet voice as he lifted appeals to the thousands of rides he took on the front platform of the Washington street cars drilling his tones against the wind and rattle until they were modulated to listlike sweetness.

How many clerks and salary-drawers in Greater Pittsburgh are counting on their nimble, straight-forward income without dabbling at least in some fashion in the speculative enchantment? Ah, me! They cannot wait for slow, certain returns. Let fetch the tweeds Sunday and Saturday night of the same week—there is their dream and their death-trap. See how many newly married couples insist upon beginning wedded life as high up the scale or nearly as high as their parents live in consequence of decades of toil and economy and financial foresight.

Much of our manhood is like much of the fruit brought to our markets, insipid and nutrimentless, though it stood the long transit for spiritual graces sacked for which churches have partially fallen in with the craze and would thrust a stripling into the pulpit ere his talents or spirituality have ripened. A bald spot or a few gray hairs are becoming a taboo to preference in many departments where they ought to be a certificate of recommendation.

GRANT WAGE ADVANCE

GRAND RAPIDS, MICH., May 3.—The strike of the carpenters here has culminated in the issuing by the contractors of a call for a meeting tomorrow morning of all building contractors and manufacturers of and dealers in building materials in the city to form an organization to combat union methods.

The contractors have conceded the advance in wages, but object to other demands by the carpenters. Five hundred building laborers are also on strike.

THE VALUE OF CHURCH-GOING

Dr. Prugh Preached Sermon to Brotherhood of Andrew and Philip.

FOUNDING CELEBRATED

Although Organized in the Reformed Church, Members Can Be Found in All Denominations and in All Christian Countries.

In Grace Reformed church, Duthridge and Bayard streets, yesterday morning, the pastor, the Rev. John H. Prugh, preached a special sermon to men on the value of attending church. The service was in celebration of the 15th anniversary of the organization of the Brotherhood of Andrew and Philip, now numbering 25,000 men, and although started in the Reformed church, is now found in all denominations and in all Christian countries of the world. Dr. Prugh in part said:

Our brotherhood values the church. It believes that church attendance has so much that is glorious and noble and helpful about it that a man cannot afford to do without it, even though he knows some persons may come to church from unworthy motives and even though the church services may not always be uplifting and the sermons as helpful as he might wish. The man who comes to church to criticise the service and find fault with the sermons will find plenty to do.

But the church does not claim that the services and the sermons are above criticism. The church is humble in this matter and is perfectly conscious of her failings and her limitations. But church attendance is to be valued by the busy men of Pittsburgh because it enables them to detach themselves from the awful grind of six long, full work-a-days. Sunday is the one day when most men have freedom and a chance to develop the higher spiritual side of their nature and church attendance is calculated to help them become such men as God meant them to be.

Church attendance gives men the opportunity to worship God, and to worship God is a natural function of all of us. There is an immense impressiveness in the man who does not know the meaning of worship. There is woeful lack of dignity in the man who does not lift his head God-ward. Worship is the true expression of a man's character and the true channel of power. To the man fighting the hard battles of a busy life, bearing the burdens often tempted, often discouraged, church attendance with its opportunity for worship is of priceless value.

More in the house of God the man's eyes, dimmed with the dust of the world, grow clear again as he looks up and sees truth and goodness and purity. The loveliness of the Perfect One, Christ Jesus, is borne upon afresh, and the man goes out of the church under the inspiration of that influence.

BIG MILWAUKEE FIRM CANCELS INSURANCE

Allis-Chalmers Co. Will Not Renew Policies Placed Through Pittsburgh Agents.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

MILWAUKEE, May 3.—By the cancellation of its fire policies carried with local insurance companies, amounting to $2,000,000, and placing the risks with a combination of mutual companies known as the "New England Mutuals," which are not admitted within the state, the Allis-Chalmers Company takes away from Milwaukee agents the $27,000 in premiums paid on the risks and also deprives the state of its tax of 2 per cent of the premiums, the fire patrol of 2 per cent and the firemen's fund of a like amount. Every insurance agency in Milwaukee had a full line of the Allis-Chalmers insurance.

In order to obtain the insurance with the Mutuals it was necessary for the Allis-Chalmers Company to install automatic sprinklers in all its buildings, which will mean an expenditure of over $100,000.

No reason is assigned by local insurance men for the change except that it is probably the result of the influence of members of the Allis-Chalmers Company outside of Milwaukee, who have personal interests in the mutual companies.

The cancellation of the policies was made at short rates by the Allis-Chalmers Company and no opportunity was offered the local agents to submit a bid on the insurance. For the last two years this business, which was formerly placed by a Milwaukee agency, has been in the hands of Marsh, Elmer & Co. of Chicago.

It is understood here that the works at Scranton, which have been insured through Pittsburgh agencies, will also be insured when the present policies expire with the New England companies. The same course will be pursued at Chicago.

Scissors Pierced Child's Head.

While playing with a pair of scissors the 7-year-old son of Peter Meller of No. 17 Chartiers avenue, McKees Rocks, fell and one of the sharp blades pierced the palm of his hand, coming out at the other side. Luckily no artery was cut, and serious results are not feared, unless blood poisoning sets in.

CONSERVATISM THE RULE IN WALL STREET

Market Conditions Render Period of Speculative Inactivity Absolutely Necessary So That Confidence May Be Restored.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, May 3.—The wave of conservatism which is spreading over the length and breadth of the land, imposing caution upon commercial and financial interests alike, found full reflection during the week in the speculative stock market. Wall street has certainly fallen upon dull days, and there seems little likelihood of any pronounced change in this condition for some time to come. The country will be none the worse in the end for the interval of rest and recuperation, of unimpeded digestion, which is in progress and of which an apathetic market is an outward and visible sign. For all that Wall street pauses, the industries of the country do not stand still. The great forces which make for good or ill, for the maintenance of prices unaltered or for their enhancement or depression, are steadily at work. The solution of the problem which vexes the financial district is dependent upon the outcome of the harvests and the augmentation of material resources.

By contrast with the activity of one and two years ago, dullness in Wall street appears accentuated at the present time. Yet inactivity now is more nearly the normal condition than anything which has occurred for a long period. It is true that Wall street has experienced many "May bulges" and spells of bullish activity in the spring of the year. Such spurts as have occurred when "the sap is running up the trees" were not preceded by extreme monetary stringency as that of last winter. Neither can it be recalled that such movements have been sustained in a market glutted with unsold stocks and from which the public have been driven by fear of heavy losses. Wall street attributes its dullness to a lack of aggressive leaders, but ignores two primary essentials of a speculative movement for the advance—a complete restoration of confidence and the willingness of financial institutions to extend unlimited credit to the stock market. Money is working easier, but confidence is a plant of very slow growth and some time must elapse before the public is again thoroughly reassured as to Wall street methods.

The arguments which are used in Wall street by the element which is favorable to the theory that prices should improve in the near future are well known. The money market is easing, business activity continues, with only here and there a check from labor disturbances. Bank clearances show an excellent condition of interior trade, railway earnings are regaining some of their early losses and are showing improvement. All this is unquestionably true, and in addition it is pointed out that security prices have sustained declines of from 5 to 40 points and are enabled to recover. Were conditions as favorable everywhere as above enumerated, few could withhold indorsement of the opinion that the market might be started over again, and particularly so if within the next few days it should be ascertained that the unseasonable weather in the south and west has wrought no serious injury to the crops. As yet there is little authentic information upon this matter, and it is well to reserve opinions until the publication of the weekly weather bulletin of Tuesday and the monthly crop report due on May 10.

ALL LONDON WAITING ON TRANSVAAL LOAN

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

LONDON, May 3.—Business on the stock exchange was so slight last week as to be hardly worth mentioning. The week was marked by inertia, everyone, public and professional alike, awaiting the announcement of the terms of the Transvaal loan, which is expected this week.

The successful flotation of this popular loan, it is believed, will afford the stimulus necessary to inaugugate improvement in the tone and volume of business. Americans, following Wall street, were intermittent. In fact, with the exception of Argentines, which showed some activity, the whole list was stagnant. The fact that the bank rate was not lowered was a disappointment. Money has been in strong demand.

BERLIN, May 3.—The boerse was dull last week and trading was light in all departments. Values were nearly stationary. With the exception of Turks and Portuguese, domestic and foreign loans attracted little interest. Portuguese were strong upon the flotation of the Banguele railroad stock in England, and the advantages Portugal is expected to reap from England's financial banking.

The industrial market was lifeless, the feeling being that quotations already are as high as the business recuperation warrants. Irons weakened upon the ironmongers' report that the American market, representing the demand for steel, was weakening.

Monday's payment of the German loan, in connection with the monthly settlement, caused an unusual demand for money and high rates on short loans. The statement of the Reichsbank shows an unusual expansion of discounts through raising money for loans subscriptions. With the exception of Amsterdam foreign rates of exchange are tending downward.

EMPEROR'S RELATIVE RESIGNS COMMISSION

BERLIN, May 3.—The heriditary prince of Saxe-Meiningen, commander of the Sixth army corps at Breslau, and brother-in-law of Emperor William, whose recent orders against the maltreatment of soldiers and drunkenness in the army created a sensation, has resigned.

Orange Cost $7.45.

Harry St. Clair of Bellevue has the distinction of paying more for an orange than any other person. He thought he would get one for nothing, but was mistaken. On Saturday evening he took an orange from a stand at the Allegheny market without paying for it. He was caught in the act and Market Constable A. Deitrick placed him under arrest. He was fined $5 and costs, amounting to $7.45.

WEEKLY REVIEW OF MARKET PRICES

There has been an increase of strength in the corn situation which has put quotations forward 2 cents a bushel for yellow shelled and 1 cent for ear since the beginning of last week, and the market is firm at the advance. Shippers and buyers have both been holding off for so long, on account of fear of heated corn, that receipts have been light and stocks in the hands of consumers have become very much reduced. Now the demand has quickened and there is a hustle to secure such offerings as are available, with the result that sellers have stiffened up in the matter of price. Oats are easy at lower quotations, arrivals having been so liberal as to allow accumulations and selling figures had to come down. Best grades of hay are steady at prices slightly lower than those which prevailed a week ago, while No. 2 timothy is very weak and can be purchased at buyer's price. Straw is cheaper owing to larger receipts. Middlings are unchanged, while bran is higher with a falling off in consignments.

Flour opens today at the same figures as ruled last Monday and the market is firm. Production at milling centers shows a falling off for the week just past and this has had some effect upon the market. Coffee continues dull in primary markets, though locally unchanged. Sugar continues to be quoted at the advance of last Monday and the market is in very satisfactory condition from the point of view of jobbers, nearly all houses maintaining the equality plan. Navy beans are steady at last week's figures. Oils have declined. Oatmeal and rolled oats are higher. Canned goods are unchanged, with tomatoes still very weak, while peas, which were slow, are doing better, jobbers reporting more active request. A sharp advance has occurred in clover seed.

Home-grown asparagus, spinach, spring onions and lettuce are in the market and are moving readily at prices quoted. Florida rose potatoes are in good supply at reduced figures. Bermuda potatoes and onions are both lower. Celery is scarce and high prices prevail. Fancy Florida potatoes command top quotations, while choice are only moderately in demand. String beans are not so plentiful and quotations have moved forward. Asparagus is now coming from New Jersey and the range of prices to take in all grades is much wider. Strawberries are a little lower than they were a week ago, but the market has been well sustained all week, and receipts found quick sale, eight cars arriving on Saturday, which were cleaned up early in the day. Oranges and lemons show little change, while bananas are slightly higher and pineapples have advanced.

Demand for poultry has slackened and quotations for chickens, turkeys and ducks are lower. Receipts have been only moderate, not nearly so heavy as expected.

Butter went off 2½ cents a pound last Monday, since which time there has been a more active market and dealers do not look for much change in price today. Cheese is arriving in fairly large quantities, but stocks are not yet large enough to warrant any material decline in prices, although there has been a slight easing in figures. Eggs have come in slowly and quotations are virtually unchanged.

IN THE OIL FIELDS.

The ushering in of the month of May, the time of all times in the year when the oil operator wants to be busy, found the eastern talent in as much of a quandary for new territory as at any time in more than a year past. If operators are idle it is not for lack of energy or a disposition to remain in idleness. The great demand for new producing territory cannot be met within the old prescribed producing areas and the outlook in any other quarter is not sufficiently bright to encourage a rush to new and untried localities. At some time in the future those who have pinned their faith to Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Southeastern Ohio may arrive at that consummation, but for a time at least they will continue the search in the old fields rather than take chances on the new. With the beginning of the present month operations in various sections of the lower southwest show more than the usual amount of experimental work under way and starting. Large fields in any part of West Virginia or Southeastern Ohio are not expected, but there is still room for small pools and it is the search for these that calls for experimental work.

The present condition of the market is such as to lend encouragement to renewed energy in the fields. More territory classed as light is being operated now than at any other time in the past four years. In some of the shallow sand districts, where nothing better than two and three-barrel wells can be hoped for, developments are active. In the old fields the production of many of the wells is now represented by a certain number of gallons instead of barrels, as was once the case. These old attenuated producers have a monetary value greater than at any time in the history of the industry. Settled prices on oil are more now than ever and unless the unexpected happens, will go higher. In some localities some are talking $2.00 a barrel for production. The Bradford field and shows minor increases in operations. The late completions in this development are not in the gusher list, but the wells, after they have once settled down to their normal production, show good staying qualities, and as the oil is found in either Upper Run or salt sand, makes operating expenses light, as compared with the deeper sands.

Nothing tangible has resulted from the efforts in advance of previously outlined drifts toward the southwest. There is still a small amount of this class of work, but none has brought the desired results. Should some venturesome wildcatter be fortunate enough to make the discovery of some new producing territory in this locality, he will have any amount of assistance to help develop the field. The operator who can find a new field will be the means of precipitating a stampede in that direction. Both energy and capital are waiting for something of that kind and will be forthcoming when needed.

Buckeye operators had little out of the ordinary run to offer during the week. In the shallow sand territory in Washington county, some very good wells were completed in the Wolf Creek district. When operating expenses are taken into account, this is the most profitable territory in the lower southwest.

The Southeastern Ohio district, taken as a whole, offers no new producing territory at this time. Near Colerain, Belmont county, the test well drilled in a month ago is holding up at 15 barrels a day and is the incentive for starting some new work. The Uniontown development in the upper edge of the same county shows some activity, but it is all located inside defined limits.

Beaver county is the most active of any in the local fields. An occasional good producer is found in this county, but each month shows a majority of the wells completed came in duster.

Across the state line, in Hancock county, W. Va., operators are still trying for new pools, but nothing encouraging has been discovered. In the old fields, producing are surfacing. Up Keyser state Sen Hdr. Kenawha. Down, Virginia and Lorena.

Good Stage of Water in the Pittsburgh Pool Makes Towboats Active.

The wickets in the Davis Island dam were raised on Saturday and today will witness busy scenes in the Pittsburgh pool. There will be a good stage of water this morning, facilitating the convenient movements of tows. The packet Keystone State from Cincinnati got only as far as Bewickley on Saturday night, owing to the low water below the dam, and passengers were transported from that point by rail. The Florence Belle was chartered as a lighter. As soon as the cargo of freight was removed from the Keystone State she made her way and was scheduled to arrive last night.

The towboats Tornado and Enterprise got in yesterday with empties. No other important movements in coal will be made until there are signs of a better stage of water.

The stage of water at Davis island dam last night was 4.5 feet and the water was falling.

CHARGED WITH FORGERY.

J. Curtis Harrington, Wanted in Many Cities in West, Arrested at Fon du Lac.

FOND DU LAC, WIS., May 3.—J. Curtis Harrington, alias J. C. Curtis of Schuylerville, N. Y., was arrested today, charged with forging a draft for $1,200 which he is said to have presented at the Commercial National bank. The chief of police has a telegram from Little Rock, Ark., saying that Harrington is wanted at Lincoln, Ill., Springfield, Mo., and Schuylerville, N. Y., on similar charges. Harrington admits that he is wanted in the Indian territory.

PRESENT IS STILL AGE OF BRUTALITY

FINDS LESSON IN CRIME

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

LORAIN, O., April 3.—The Rev. Charles Reichlin, pastor of St. Joseph's church in this city and brother of Agatha Reichlin, who was murdered last Thursday night, today made a sensational denunciation of the authorities for the arrest of the Rev. Ferdinand Walser on the charge of murdering his sister.

The occasion was at the services this morning, in that church, and the place was from the alter steps. The Rev. Father Reichlin was greatly affected over the happenings of the week, and could hardly speak. Several times his voice was husky from emotion, and he paused frequently to overcome his feelings. The Rev. Father Reichlin's statement was as follows:

"Various events have happened during the past week. No doubt they are a lesson to us. The lesson is that we should always be ready for death, for we know not when it will please the Lord to call us to Himself. Avoid sin and do good. The lesson also is how little we can trust the world.

"Brutality is not a thing that is or was confined to the so-called dark ages; it is not exclusively confined to non-civilized countries; it is right here at our home, in this twentieth century. The world sees it every day.

"I am sorry to see that the Rev. Father Walser is connected with the murder of my sister. I am sorry, because I know, I am convinced before God, that he is absolutely innocent, and that no matter how strong public opinion is, how spiteful, how atrocious that public opinion may be, it cannot make him out a murderer, the murderer of my sister.

"The time will come when I will give my version of the bloodhound story upon which the character of public opinion seems to be based. My friends, I believe Father Walser innocent until he is proven guilty. Personally, I must say that I do not know which assault is most brutal, the assault of the murderer upon my sister, or the assault upon the reputation of Father Walser, the assault made by public opinion upon that good priest.

"In your prayers, pray for my poor sister. Pray also for Father Walser. Let us help him carry his cross, and heavy though it be, let us act with fortitude and as becomes Christians."

The scene of the murder was the point of interest for thousands of callers at the Reichlin home today, where the body was on view until it was taken into St. Joseph's church at 3 o'clock, where the vespers for the dead were sung by the Rev. Charles Reichlin and two assisting priests. The congregation was so great that it entirely filled the church.

The funeral services will be held tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock, the interment being at Elyria.

The Rev. Father Walser, who is confined in the county jail at Elyria, was not accessible to visitors today, and he has seen no one since yesterday. He is treated as any other prisoner, except that he has the freedom of the corridors. His preliminary hearing will probably be held on Tuesday. There is no excitement at Elyria.

Theories concerning the crime are as many as there are individuals. The authorities are not disposed to give expression to any views. Support of the belief that a burglar committed the crime was given impetus today by the statements of several neighbors who had seen a stranger hanging around the Reichlin home for several hours on the night of the crime.

HIS FIRST TRIP ENDED IN DEATH

DROWNED AT LOCK 3

Attempted to Dip Up a Bucket While the Boat Was in Motion—Gas Explosion Proves Fatal to Blast Furnace Worker.

The body of a man found drowned at Elizabeth on Saturday was removed to the morgue yesterday. It was at first said his name was Mullen and that he lived at Braddock, but Nathan Lutes, who found the body, told a deputy coroner he believed he was Patrick Murphy, a deck hand on the steamboat Rose Hite, who was drowned on April 22. Lutes is the tender at Lock No. 3, and said on that date two of the crew of the Rose Hite were put off there to hunt for the body of Murphy who had been drowned on his first trip. The men said he attempted to dip up a bucket of water while the boat was in motion and was drawn overboard. The two men searched all day but failed to find the body. On Saturday Lutes saw it floating on the surface, threw a line over it and drew it ashore. He did not know where Murphy lived.

John Sprabska of Braddock, an employe of a blast furnace there, was fatally injured while at work on Saturday night by an explosion of gas which let a lot of hot metal fall on him. He died an hour later.

Andra Palta, an Austrian who had been in this country but one week, was found dead at his boarding house, No. 1111 Frederick street, yesterday morning. He had been attacked by a fit of epilepsy on Saturday night, but recovered before going to bed. He was a single man, 19 years old.

Clyde Campbell, colored, 5 months old, died of spasms at 5 o'clock last evening at his parents' home, No. 6631 Deary street.

TRACTION EMPLOYES POUR INTO PITTSBURGH

Everything Ready for the Opening of Their National Convention This Morning.

Delegates to the street railway employes' convention poured into Pittsburgh yesterday, and the headquarters at the Hotel Victoria were thronged all day and evening with motormen and conductors from as far east as Portland, Me., and as far west as San Francisco. President W. D. Mahon greeted the newcomers cordially. The local committee of arrangements, headed by John Dooley, escorted the delegates from the depots to the hotel.

The convention will be called to order at 10 o'clock this morning. In addition to speeches by Mayor W. B. Hays and President Patrick Dolan of the mine workers, addresses of welcome will be delivered by M. M. Garland and J. A. Keeler, president of the Iron City Trade council.

Among the delegates who arrived yesterday were W. C. Dowing, D. W. Burke, William Quinlan, J. H. Larkins, H. Durr, J. C. Colgan, A. C. Weyer, John Murley, J. J. Byram, N. F. Howe, Jacob Massey, W. B. Aitkin and John Snyder, Chicago; F. B. Sinclair and W. T. Thomas, Toronto, Can.; C. W. Carroll, Burlington, Ia.; A. W. Morrison, St. Louis; B. F. Wood, New Orleans; D. W. Epperson, San Antonio; W. C. West, Houston, Tex.; R. Cornelius, San Francisco; William Jacobs, Louisville.

Organizing Brass Workers.

A new local of brass workers was organized yesterday afternoon in the painters' hall, No. 416 Wood street. George Braddock, district organizer, presided. The new union chose the following temporary officers: President, William Lewis; financial secretary and treasurer, Joseph G. Held; corresponding secretary, David Beechey. A number of members were enrolled and a charter will be applied for.

Gravel Roofers Want More Pay.

Members of the gravel roofers' local union met yesterday afternoon in the painters' hall, No. 416 Wood street. J. C. Miller, the business agent, presided. It was reported that 168 men were on strike. Their former wage rate was $2 50 a day and they want 50 cents more. The matter will be taken up by the Builders' league and it is expected that an early settlement will be reached.

CHANGE OF MANAGERS OF BIG STEEL PLANTS

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

MILWAUKEE, May 3.—George L. Reis, for the last eight years general superintendent of the Bay View plant of the Illinois Steel Company, will on Tuesday assume charge of the mammoth works of the United States Steel Corporation in South Chicago, succeeding C. J. McCullough, Jr., as general superintendent. Mr. Reis has been succeeded at the Bay View plant by Assistant Superintendent Richard B. Charlton.

The appointment is a prelude to the beginning of work upon the $7,000,000 additions to the properties of the Illinois Steel Company, a steel corporation property.

Mr. Charlton was not inclined to discuss the change except to say that Mr. Reis had received a well earned promotion and that the post was one of the most important in the gift of the United States Steel Corporation.

At the time Mr. Reis took charge, the Bay View plant was so run down that it was a question as to whether it would be continued or abandoned. He had been selected for this position by John W. Gates, who was then in control of the Illinois Steel Company, and his coming to the Bay View plant was more or less of an experiment. His first year so thoroughly demonstrated his ability that the plant was made to pay expenses, and a year later he informed a meeting of the board of directors that if they would give him the appropriation he required he could make money for the company. Results bore out this statement. Six months ago Mr. Reis was selected by John W. Gates to take charge of the plant of the Colorado Fuel & Iron Company in Denver. At that time Mr. Gates expected to secure control and to oust the Osgood faction. Mr. Reis left here to take charge, but as a settlement was reached between the contending stockholders he returned to Bay View.

SPALDING HEAVY LOSER BY FIRE

CHICAGO, May 3.—Fire tonight destroyed the five-story building at Nos. 151-153 Wabash avenue, causing a loss of $150,000. The building was occupied by several mercantile firms, whose stock was completely destroyed. The principal losers are the Waterbury Clock Company, Spiegle Bros., tailors, and A. G. Spalding & Co. The latter firm used the two upper stories of the building as a store room, and its loss is heavy as both rooms were full of valuable sporting goods.

SANDERS KILLED IN SELF-DEFENSE

THEY ASSAULTED HIM

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU, Herald Building, Herald Square. NEW YORK, May 3.

Police Sergeant Thomas Gilhooley, who was shot during the Lenox hotel tragedy on Saturday night, in which Policeman Ernest Peters was killed and Policeman Joseph Russo was seriously wounded, died at St. Vincent's hospital tonight. At no time during the day had he been strong enough to withstand an operation for the two bullets, nor had he been able to recognize his family or tell what led to the affray.

Only two versions of the tragedy were told today. One was that of Joseph Sanders, former convict, called by Inspector McClusky the worst negro in New York, the waiter who shot the man and who told his story immediately after he had been committed without bail by Magistrate Pool in Jefferson Market police court. Sanders, sitting on the edge of the prison cot, declared vehemently that he had acted in self-defense.

The other version was that told by Russo, and which in part corroborates some of Sander's statements. For the other part he professes entire ignorance. That they were not in the hotel on business Russo admitted, and this is supplemented by the declaration of Inspector Kane of Queens that none of the trio of officers had any business to be in Manhattan at the time. Sanders, through his counsel, said he wanted to tell his story, and although he talked with an effort through his bandages, spoke freely and coolly.

"All I want is an even chance," he said. "I did what any other man would have done in my place. I have been in prison for nearly 20 years, and most of this time was for assaulting people, but I want it known that since my last sentence, in 1896, I have lived straight. I have been working at the Lenox for six years. Gilhooley commenced the fight by saying: 'We'd better do up these coons before we leave here.' I didn't say anything, and they kept at it. I left the room, and when I came back, someone told me they were going to attack me. I got out on the sidewalk and they followed, punching and kicking me all the time, and at last they backed me into the front entrance of the saloon and against a steam radiator, where they pulled their revolvers. Then I started shooting."

MRS. M'CLOY GETS FREEDOM.

She Has Left Marshalsea to Be Treated in Private Sanitarium.

Mrs. Sarah E. McCloy, who was adjudged insane by a jury appointed to inquire into her mental condition, has been released from the insane ward at Marshalsea and is at a private sanitarium at Aspinwall. Mrs. McCloy has showed marked improvement since her first confinement at Marshalsea six weeks ago and is no longer held under restraint.

She has made several visits to the city and several times recently has called upon her attorney, C. F. McKenna. Her friends look for complete restoration of her mental powers.

DURBIN HORNE SELLS HIS YACHT

BOSTON, May 3.—(Special.)—Durbin Horne of Pittsburgh has sold the schooner yacht Attaguin to R. E. Bonning of Louisville, Ky. The new owner will use her in and around Florida ports, to which she is well adapted, being but 3 feet draft, with 70 foot water line.

ONE MILLION FOR A MODEL SERVANT

IS A DIFFICULT PLACE

John Farson Will Give That Sum of Money at His Death to the Woman Who Completely Answers His Description.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU, Herald Building, Herald Square. NEW YORK, May 3.

Tall and majestic, with a gown which had the Paris stamp, she swept through the Thirty-third street corridor of the Waldorf-Astoria, and presented herself before the room clerk.

"Mr. Farson of Chicago. I wish to see him," she said.

"Went to Chicago last night," rejoined the clerk. "Suppose you came to see him about the servant girl proposition?"

"Precisely. For 30 years I've been hunting for the same servant girl he is offering $1,000,000 for and haven't found her. I suspect that I know something about keeping him—in fact I can do anything about a house except build one, and I would like to talk business with this Chicago multi-millionaire."

Saying which, with a faint blush of embarrassment, she rustled out of the hotel. She was but one of many women, young, aged, modish, quaint, shy and presumptuous, who called at the Waldorf today to see Mr. Farson about his offer to a servant girl who understands her business. Unless he locks himself in a safe deposit vault it is plainly evident that Mr. Farson is going to be kept pretty busy for some time. Half of those who sought him today declared they would start for Chicago at once to see him and find out if he meant all he had said.

Briefly put, John Farson, who is one of Chicago's wealthiest men, offers $1,000,000 to be paid at his death to the servant who will stay in his family till he dies, who loves her vocation, who is good-natured and a diplomat, who knows better than to discuss family affairs with other servants, who is always dignified, who will never make an error in table service, who can know at a glance the likes and dislikes of guests, who is a good nurse, a good cook, a dressmaker and who never sulks.

CONFERENCE CALLED.

Senator Aldrich Summons Fellow Members to Consider New Financial Bill.

WASHINGTON, May 3.—Senator Aldrich, chairman of the senate committee on finance, who is spending a few weeks at Hot Springs, Va., has invited Senators Allison, Platt of Connecticut, and Spooner, all Republican members of the finance committee, to visit him there for the purpose of conferring over the provisions of a financial bill to be introduced early in the next session of congress. They are expected to reach Hot Springs tomorrow. The conference will continue for 10 days or two weeks.

It is expected that the bill formulated will be along the general lines of the bond deposit bill of last session. The meeting at Hot Springs will not be official.

Two Men With Guns.

Robert Jackson paid $25 and costs yesterday for flourishing a gun in Soho street Saturday night, and Charles Merriman $10 and costs for displaying a like weapon at Fifth avenue and Market street.

Spider and Fly Act.

William Bendeli and Fred Jackson tried to entice three men into an alley off Third avenue Saturday night, and the former was fined $50 and costs and the latter $25 and costs as suspicious persons.

WILL PUSH WORK ON FOREIGN ROADS

Railroad Y. M. C. A. Decides to Begin Period of Great Expansion.

CONVENTION CLOSING

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

TOPEKA, KAN., May 3.—The eleventh international convention of Railroad Young Men's Christian association, which has been in session in Topeka since last Thursday, came to a close tonight. Most of the delegates have left the city.

It has not been settled when the next convention of the association will be held. This will be left to the executive committee. No officers were elected, as this convention was held for the purpose of making plans for the further advancement of the work.

It was decided to pay special attention hereafter to the work of the association on foreign railroads.

Five sessions were held today. A "quiet hour" service was conducted by the Rev. J. Wilbur Chapman of New York, early this morning. His subject was "Three looks, up, in, out."

Delegates to the convention occupied principal pulpits of the city at the regular morning services of the city churches. In the afternoon a great mass meeting for men was conducted in the auditorium by Fred B. Smith of New York.

At the same hour in the First Methodist Episcopal church Miss Gertrude Saxe of Chicago led a mass meeting for women, under the direction of the Young Men's Christian association.

At the night session an address was delivered by the Rev. J. Wilbur Chapman of New York on "The Crowning Achievement of the Railroad Association." Other addresses were delivered by Dr. Elmore Harris of Toronto, Ont.; Fred B. Smith of New York and other delegates. This was in the nature of a farewell service and was presided over by the president of the international association, Col. John J. McCook of New York.

Col. McCook said this has been the most successful convention ever held by the international association.

WOULD NOT GO HOME; SKULL WAS FRACTURED

In a dispute with four brothers, in Sixth avenue, William Flaherty, 45 years old, of Second and Penn avenues, was badly injured yesterday morning and was taken to the Homeopathic hospital. His friends, John Connely, J. S. Curley, M. T. Curley, J. H. Curley and A. J. Curley were committed to jail to await the result of his injuries. Flaherty's skull was fractured, but it is not thought he will recover.

Flaherty and the Curleys had been together Saturday night. Flaherty was intoxicated and the brothers wanted him to go home. Flaherty refused, and one of the brothers, it is alleged, struck him. The blow knocked him down and he struck his head against the curb.

Fatally Gored by an Angry Bull.

WILKESBARRE, May 3.—Ephraim Lewis of Towanda was fatally gored by a mad bull early this morning. He was taken to the Robert Packer hospital, where he is at the point of death. When found his heart was laid bare and his body was bathed in blood. On removing him to the hospital the throbbing of the heart could be plainly seen through the pericardium.

A GREAT DISCOVERY

POSSESSED OF MARVELOUS PROPERTIES.

ELECTRO-MAGNETINE is believed to be the only preparation yet devised for curative purposes endowed with such peculiar properties that when applied to any part of the human body, accompanied with brisk rubbing with the naked hands, it causes an active and energetic electro-magnetic action to be set up in the parts to which it is applied.

The wonderful potency of this peculiar form of electro-magnetic force, individual, or animal, magnetism, or whatever it may properly be termed, in curing certain forms of human maladies has been demonstrated beyond the possibility of doubt.

Whether ELECTRO-MAGNETINE is actually charged with electro-magnetic properties infused into it in the process of manufacture, or whether it serves merely as a medium through which electro-magnetic forces are developed by active rubbing and which are, through it, transmitted or applied to the parts operated upon, we are not yet quite prepared to say, but of one thing we are certain, viz: That the combined use of ELECTRO-MAGNETINE with active rubbing is much more efficient in a curative way than either of these agencies employed separately.

The free application of the ELECTRO-MAGNETINE to Swollen Joints, accompanied with vigorous rubbing with the bare hands, sets up in the affected parts such an active electro-magnetic action as to greatly promote the circulation of the blood through the swollen parts and thereby hasten absorption and consequent reduction of swelling, stiffness, soreness and pain.

IMPORTANCE OF THOROUGH RUBBING.

Too much stress cannot be laid upon the importance of thorough and vigorous rubbing of the parts after a free application of ELECTRO-MAGNETINE. In fact, the brisk rubbing should be kept up until the surface which the ELECTRO-MAGNETINE has been applied to becomes dry and wholly free from the lubricated feel and glossy look due to the application of the Cream Liniment.

In all Chronic, or long standing, Swollen, or Enlarged Joints, the thorough course of treatment above directed should be applied two or three times a day.

WEAK BACKS MADE STRONG.

By a somewhat protracted use of ELECTRO-MAGNETINE, accompanied with thorough rubbing, or massage, weak backs are made strong. Sore Muscles and Lame Backs, whether arising from strains, over-exertion or Rheumatic Conditions of the system, are relieved, as if by magic, by the thorough application of this remedy. Foot-ball and base-ball players are amongst those loudest in their praises of it as giving most prompt relief from Muscle pains, Lameness and Soreness caused by over-exertion and strains.

Especially has ELECTRO-MAGNETINE proven its power to cure Obstinate Cases of Swollen or Enlarged and Stiffened Joints, whether arising from Rheumatic, Gouty or other conditions of the system, which cause inflammation, effusion and consequent enlargement of the joints.

IN ALL CHRONIC OR LINGERING AFFECTIONS,

For the cure of which ELECTRO-MAGNETINE is recommended, it should be thoroughly applied two or three times daily, as above directed—not omitting thorough rubbing with the bare hands.

OWNERS OF LIVE STOCK

Should know that ELECTRO-MAGNETINE is quite as effective, in a curative way, when applied to horses and cattle suffering from Sprains, Bruises, Lameness, Swollen or Stiffened Joints and kindred affections, as when applied to human flesh.

Sold by druggists and dealers in medicines, throughout the United States and Canada, at 50 cents, or, sent post-paid by the manufacturers on receipt of this price in postage stamps or postal order.

The Appetite of Human Nature

When Uneeda Biscuit were first introduced, a conservative said:

"They are all right as far as they go, but they won't satisfy the worker. The worker, you see, wants something solid, and substantial, and plain—like potatoes, cabbage, or beef. These delicate and crisp biscuit, packed so daintily, in that In-er-seal Package, will not appeal to him any more than winter strawberries."

Workers everywhere have been great consumers of Uneeda Biscuit The outdoor worker, seated at noon upon the sidewalk, a house wall for his back rest; mill hands in the mill yard, seated on comfortable bales; teamsters and draymen, on their high box seats—all have eaten Uneeda Biscuit, and their wives have eaten them, and their children have eaten them.

"Uneeda Biscuit are all right," he said, "to sell to the workers, but you must not expect to sell them to the more prosperous people. They are too cheap. Five cents a package—that kills Uneeda Biscuit so far as the wealthy are concerned. The price should be higher—they are worth it."

That, too, sounded reasonable, but it also turned out to be only theory.

For the greatest grocers of the city and of the country say Uneeda Biscuit have taken the place of the more expensive biscuit. Over 200,000,000 packages have been consumed.
